WE ARE PLEASED to hear that Mr. Ebert, of the grounds and buildings department, is going to remove the weird-looking wire fences he had erected to keep students off the grass. It makes us feel sort of proud to think that even Mr. Ebert is convinced that students are intelligent enough to walk around the campus without having to be fenced in like a herd of cattle. The only thing that we're sorry about is that he didn't have them taken down before "Penn State Day.'

ANOTHER "PENN STATE DAY" has come and gone and it will leave the several hundreds of visiting high school seniors who may never visit this campus

Tyron, director of ad-missions and secretary of the gradu-ate school at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, visited here on last Thursday for the purpose of ac-quainting seniors with the facilities of graduate work offered at Massa-chusetts Institute of Technology, and the various scholarships and fellow-ships and callable to students who have completed one se-rest of ormedute work

THURSDAY

From Rome, the opera "The Ab-duction from the Seraglio"—dial WJZ at 3:30... Vallee's show on WEAF at 7 would be worth listening to, were it minus such zanies as How-ard and Shelton... Waring at 8:30 on WABC is worth hearing if only for the song "Way Back Home," a ditty that might be classed as the rustic "You're the Top"...

again with a very definite and sharp impression of Penn State. That impression will be brought to the minds of those students every time they hear the name "Penn State."

And it is pleasing to know that that impression is undoubtedly a favorable one. The campus has seldom looked as inviting, and on the whole, the day's program was run off smoothly.

The only criticism of the night's athletic exhibited in Recreation hall was that the program lacked coordination, probably because no one seemed to know who was running the affair, and that the fraternity men seemed to think it above their dignity to attend.

RECENT ELECTIONS TO Student Union Board show that campus and fraternity politics have not yet thoroughly cleansed themselves of the rotten stench which surrounded them for years. If the positions in question were of importance, there might be some reason for these slippy methods-but for a consolation job . . . My, my, what are we coming to, Mr. Platt?

TAILORS mester of graduate work.
