Tabscott Will Leave For Hawaiian Service

Captain Ernest E. Tabscott, of the department of military science and tactics, has received word from the War Department of his transfer to Hawaii for the next two years. This order is part of the Army foreign service plan, which transfers staff officers into foreign fields approximately every ten years.

Captain Tabscott will sail on the army transport, "Republic," July 30 from New York, going through the Panama Canal. It is probable that he will be stationed at Schofield barracks.

Captain Tabscott came here from Fort Benning, Ga., in 1930. His first year he served as Adjutant to Colonel McCasky, then was given charge of the freshman R.O.T.C. drill. Last year he was given sophomore units to command. He coached the R.O.T.C. varsity rifle team the past four years.

College May Organize Religious Department

In connection with the plans for installation here of the Hillel Foundation, national Jewish student organization, which were approved by the college recently, a department of religious instruction may be organized here pending state appropriations, according to Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the president.

The Hillel Foundation will work in cooperation with the P.S.C.A. Its objective will be to promote group activity and social contacts among Jewish students, as well as closer feeling among religious groups. Although plans for the establishment of a department of religious instruction are purely tentative as yet, the department would be included in the School of Liberal Arts.

$1,708.95 in Lost Articles Found By Campus Patrol in 5 Months

Articles ranging from dog collars to saxophones and bicycles, valuing approximately $1,708.95, have been found on the campus and turned over to the Campus Patrol since January 1, 1935. Less than fifty per cent of these articles have been claimed.

Records show that the greatest number of coats, hats, and rain coats are found in South Liberal Arts building, while the most text books are found in Main Engineering and Home Economics buildings. If the unpopularity of subjects can be judged by the number of books left lying in the buildings, physics and history 21 are the prize winners.

Still among the unclaimed articles are over seventy-five pairs of gloves, thirty-two note books, many containing lecture notes, forty hats, twenty-four ladies' umbrellas, pipes, kiddie-cars, napkin rings, and over eighty fountain pens.

Dugan '37 Issues Call For Staff Candidates

Editorial candidates and staff members of the Old Main Bell, campus literary publication, will meet in Room 315, Old Main, tonight at 4:00 o'clock.

Seniors Appoint Fund Committee

Group To Study 6 Suggestions For Disposal of $4,400- Treasury Surplus.

A committee of six was appointed by senior class president Paul C. Hirsch, at a meeting Wednesday night to decide the disposal of the $4,400 surplus in the class treasury. Hirsch stated that "only a very few turned out for the meeting, showing an apparent lack of interest. It is impossible to put the matter off, so that if any senior has any suggestions to make as to methods of using this money I wish they would see that I get them immediately."

Six suggestions were made at the meeting: buy an organ for the auditorium; get ivy for festivals on the campus; buy clocks for the various buildings; get a planetarium; buy apparatus for the infirmary; and buy books for the library. Unless any new and more interesting suggestions should come up or unless something unexpected turns, Hirsch claimed, the latter, books for the library will be bought.

The committee met yesterday to talk over the matter with Willard P. Lewis, College librarian, and decide just how the money was to be spent and what books were to be bought. The method which would be adopted, according to the expectations of Hirsch, would make provisions for the immediate purchase of around $900 worth of books; the remainder of the money to be set aside as a trust fund to purchase books from interest.

The committee appointed was made up of: Cecil C. Spadafora, chairman; John P. West; Harry J. Hofsfield; Theodore R. Scholl; William J. Simpson, and Joseph E. Dentice.

Botany Book Written By Mrs. Haber, Wilson

"An Introduction to Plant Life," a botanical treatise, written by Mrs. F. W. Haber, of the zoology department, in collaboration with Dr. L. G. Wilson, of Dartmouth College, was recently released by Henry Holt and Co.

"The text is designed to teach botany as one of the many cultural courses, not as a technical course. We have tried to present the plant world with its concrete and abstract values for humanity as a part of the environment of mankind, the understanding of which is implied in our conception of modern education," said Mrs. Haber in commenting upon the work.

"Wherever practicable, without sacrificing the scientific aspect of the subject, we have avoided technical terminology," she added.

Mrs. Haber took both her master's and her doctor's degrees in botany at Cornell University. She is a member of Sigma Xi and Iota Sigma Pi, honorary research societies, Phi Kappa Phi, educational honorary, Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social society, and Sigma Delta Epsilon, graduate women's scientific fraternity. She is also a fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Botanical Society.

600 H. S. Track Stars To Attend P. I. A. A. Meet

Contest Here To Have Schools From Both A, B Classes.

Records Likely To Fall In Tomorrow's Events

More than 600 high school athletes, representing the cream of scholastic trackmen throughout the State, will be guests of the College today and tomorrow as they compete here in the seventh Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association track meet.

Over half of the State interscholastic track records and at least one national record are likely to be broken if the marks made in district meets last week are equalled or bettered. Probably the outstanding runner will be Johnny Wodruff, negro speedster from Connellsville in the Pittsburgh district, who last week ran a 4:23.4 mile, easily breaking the national scholastic record for that event.

Ward Ties Record

Another negro performer, "Rabbit" Ward of Altoona, did a 9.8 in the 100, thereby equalling the State record set in 1932 by Ben Johnson, now of Columbia. Ward also won the 220 in 21.8, the best mark throughout the State Saturday.

Harold A. Osborne, former holder of the world record for the high jump, will be at the meet tomorrow and will give exhibitions in the standing and running high jump. When Osborne was here last year he bettered the world record in the former event.

For the first time in its history, the meet tomorrow will be divided into two classes of competition, A and B. Class B high schools are those with less than 200 enrollment in the upper three grades. Class A schools are those with more than this number. Medals will be awarded to winners of the first three places in each class; in addition to a trophy to the school in each class with the highest point total.

To Stay in Fraternities

Contestants will start coming into town today. Lodging will be provided for them by the fraternities here. Registration will start this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Recreation hall and will continue until 9 o'clock tonight. There will also be registration tomorrow morning from 8:30 to 10 o'clock.

Trials will be held tomorrow morning in four track events, the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the 110 and 220 low hurdles. There will also be trials in the shot, javelin, discus, and broad jump. The finals will start at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The events for each class will be the same, except that there will be no Class B 100-meter relay and 120-yard low hurdles will be run in place of the mile relay and 220-yard low hurdles of Class A.

Measles Fails To Stop Children's Production

Despite the local epidemic of measles which has reduced the cast of "Little Blue Boy," initial production of Penn State's first Children's Theatre, and has placed understudies in prominent roles, this fantastic music-comedy will be presented in Schwab auditorium Saturday, to a children's matinee at 3 o'clock, and to an adult audience at 8 o'clock that night.

Following the children's matinee, the marionette class will present "Ali Baba," a romantic puppet-show which features a bevy of colored chorus girls. The puppet show, climaxing the evening performance of "Little Blue Boy" is "My Man Friday," a sophisticated take-off on Robinson Crusoe, which provides Crusoe's valet, Friday, with several native laity friends, one of whom tells the other, "He may be your man Friday, but he's my man the rest of the week!"

"Little Blue Boy" is a fantastic tale of a young girl who dreams that her story-book friends and her hero, Little Boy Blue, have come to life. A Commander Gale spirits her away to his North Pole hide-out to cool the hatred which she has for him. While Little Boy Blue and his animal friends are preparing for the rescue, a chorus of Penguins "go into their dance." The heroine has been lamenting and reiterating that she hates Commander Gale's windiness when the rescue party arrives.

This play is the first attempt to organize a Children's Theatre on this campus, and marks the movement to extend the courses in dramatics now offered under the new division of dramatics to training for students potentially engaged in working with children.

Hammers, Culp To Leave P.S.C.A.

Resignations Accepted by Board Of Directors; 3 To Take Graduate Work.

Carson W. Culp '34 and Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hammaker, associate secretaries of the P.S.C.A., have tendered their resignations to the P.S.C.A. to become effective July 1st. Harry W. Seaman, executive secretary, announced. All resignations have been accepted by the Board of Directors of the Christian Association.

Culp plans to continue further study next year. He received his B.S. degree here last year, and will be awarded his B.A. degree next month. His term of contract was temporary, ending July 1st.

Will Continue Study

Mr. and Mrs. Hammaker will leave to continue study at Teachers' College, Columbia University, and at the Union Theological Seminary, New York, for the next two years. While carrying part-time work at either a social service agency or some Christian Association, they will continue their work in religious study.

Mr. Hammaker graduated here in 1930, and became P.S.C.A. associate secretary in 1931. Mrs. Hammaker received her M.A. degree at Wilson College, and became associate secretary here in 1934. Both were married in July, 1934.

To Employ Full-time Secretary

"We have learned to like Penn State very much, and certainly hate to leave. The students here have a fine campus, and you may rest assured we will always remember State," Mrs. Hammaker replied to an interview.

Several secretaries are under consideration to fill the vacancies, Seaman announced. One man will be employed as a full-time secretary, in place of several part-time workers.

Yougel Holds Clothes Salesman Fraudulent

All students holding receipts bearing the name of John W. Hazelett, who solicited students here in April and collected deposits on suits which he said would be delivered from a Pittsburgh clothing concern, should present their receipts to Chief Albert E. Yougel, head of the borough police, as soon as possible. Chief Yougel has issued a warrant for Hazelett's arrest on a charge of false pretense.

Hazelett came here early last April as a representative of the Pittsburgh clothing company. He took orders and collected deposits from several students for suits of clothes which he represented as being valued at standard prices quoted by the Pittsburgh concern. A few days later, the salesman left town with the orders and the students' money. The suits were never delivered.

The local police traced Hazelett and found him in Flint, Mich. He then said that the suits would be delivered from a clothing concern in Chicago. The value of the suits, which were to be delivered from Chicago, was found to be less than the price which the salesman quoted to students here. Both the Pittsburgh and Chicago concerns disclaim responsibility for the enterprise.

The Tuesday morning session, beginning at 9:30 o'clock, will feature addresses by newspaper men and a general discussion led by William Rice, city editor of the Philadelphia Ledger, and Paul Walker, of the Harrisburg Telegraph. The winner of the "Mystery Marathon" will be announced at this session and the cup offered by the Centre Daily Times will be presented.
