14,000 Cases Treated

Over 14,000 cases are treated annually at the College dispensary, which is located in the east basement of Old Main. In addition, the College infirmary on east campus has facilities for approximately twenty-two patients. Part of the cost of maintaining these two establishments is defrayed by the health service fee paid by each student at registration.

Plan Priestley Series

A series of lectures on scientific subjects, called the Priestley Lectures, is offered annually by the School of Chemistry and Physics. The lectures are given in memory of Joseph Priestley, discoverer of the element, oxygen.

function for students enrolled in Floriculture.

Founded at Penn State in 1907, the Forestry society is essentially a professional group which sponsors gatherings and lectures at which men prominent in the profession speak. The Penn State Grange is a student subordinate group of the national organization. Founded here in 1917, it fosters social and fraternal gatherings and has the same ideals and purposes as the national grange.

Other clubs and societies which are open to students in the School of Agriculture are the All Ag Girls' club; the Block and Bridle club, to promote an interest among students in animal husbandry; the Dairy Science association for those interested in the manufacturing or production fields of dairying; the Penn State Poultry club; and the Pre-Veterinary club.

In Home Economics there are two clubs. The Ellen H. Richards club elects members from the junior and senior classes, while the Home Economics society is open to all students enrolled in the home economics curriculum.

Two engineering clubs which functioned actively last year were the Penn State chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Both groups are open to all students enrolled in the respective curricula. The Penn State Aero club, established in 1930, furthers interest in aviation among students who care to join.

In the School of Mineral Industries there are two societies which are open to the Mining society, while the Ceramics society draws its membership from students in that department.

The Discobolus society aims to create closer contact among the physical education students and the instructors in the School of Physical Education and Athletics. Les Sabreurs elects men and women who have demonstrated their ability and interest in fencing.

Freshmen Selected for
P. S. C. A. Council

Working to further Christian attitudes and ideals on the campus, the Penn State Christian association functions as a voluntary student organization which is campus-wide.

Harry W. Seaman, general secretary, and William L. Hammaker, '30, associate secretary and freshman leader, comprise the graduate staff of the association. Two cabinets of men and women students under the direction of presidents elected by them are the principal groups in the student organization.

For the first time last year, the men's cabinet selected a group of freshmen known as the Freshman Commission. Its members are chosen with emphasis on character, leadership ability, and whole-hearted attitude toward life.

2 Army Cannon
Once Led Attack
On 'Fort Shivery'

Two harmless little cannon, now squatting on their concrete beds in front of the Armory, gaze stolidly at developments on the campus and reminisce on the many battle-fields they surveyed in the dim days of the eighties.

Silently, these two veterans of common that review days when, mounted on trunions, they gleamed in the sun and the spokes of their wheels glittered as they were drawn by students sweating to the commands of battalion commanders.

Those members of the "Old Guard" did not, however, limit their experience to the dust of the march and the playing of the national anthem with colors flying. They took an intimate part in conflicts between the "Town Muckers" and the "Old Main Rats," rival bands of students which sprang up as a result of separate rooming quarters half a century ago. One spring day in the eighties, legend runs, the "Town Muckers" felt the urge for excitement at the expense of their rivals. Organizing a parade, they maneuvered about the terrace fronting Old Main and taunted the inmates with cries of "Government Paupers" and "Rats." In those days the dark walls of Old Main housed most of the student body.

After this show of spirit the "Townies" were satisfied and returned to their haunts on Beaver Avenue where they roomed in what was known as "Fort Shivery," in the language of the "Rats." But the residents of Old Main were intent on revenge. Hauling out their heavy artillery they gathered a representative collection of rubbish, tin cans, and garbage, and rammed it all down the muzzles of the cannon.

Aiming the deadly instruments at the lodgings of their enemies, the "Rats" drew a bead in approved military style. After the addition of powder and the application of a match, amid a thunderous roar, the two stalwarts belched forth their questionable contents. Because ammunition supplies had been exhausted the barrage was lifted, but a notable military victory had been gained by the roomers in Old Main.

Plan Lecture Series

The department of journalism, in cooperation with Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, arranges annually for a series of lectures on journalistic topics by prominent newspaper men throughout the state.

Council for the final sanction of that body, and it also has the power to serve as a disciplinary body, making recommendations directly to the College administration.

The Student Tribunal, composed of five members selected by the Student Council, has judicial powers in meting out punishment to freshmen who violate College customs. As reorganized last year, the Tribunal enlists the aid of the campus societies in enforcing freshman customs and punishing offenders.

The Student Union Board, consisting of a representative from each undergraduate activity, stimulates co-operation among the College extracurricular activity groups too large for an individual group to handle.

The women students at Penn State have their own student governing bodies, known as the Senate and the House of Representatives. The Senate formulates all rules and regulations governing women students, penalizing as it sees fit all offenders of these regulations.

The House of Representatives deals with rules of lesser importance governing the women's dormitories, quiet hour, and the signing out for social privileges, and appoints all chairmen of social events. This group has no voice in any of the actions taken by

4 Freshman Managers
Elected Last Spring

Four freshmen team managers for next year were elected at the close of Penn State's Spring sport season. Alexander G. Morris '36 will manage the yearling baseball team and Thurman C. Tejan '36 was elected manager of the first-year track team. Other freshmen managers are Aaron N. Decker '36 golf, and Henry C. Robin '36 lacrosse.

Sixty-four members of the freshmen class class received numerals, distributed as follows: baseball, 25; track, 22; lacrosse, 13; and tennis, 3.

the Senate, merely making suggestions to the higher governing body. Students at Penn State elect their class officers each spring at a time designated by Student Council, and at present the men and women students have separate elections, selecting a different set of class officers. An Elections Code for the men's government before the elections, and an elections committee appointed from Student Council conducts the election. A violation of the adopted code disqualifies any candidate.
