

Soccer Team Wins 4-0; Harriers Take Lehigh by Perfect Score

Bielicki, Corbett, Wacker, Osterlund, Divide Scoring Honors in Gettysburg Tilt

Game Reveals Inaccurate Passing as Principal Failing of Nittany Booters; Bullets Show Fighting Spirit.

By TOWNSEND SWALM

Extending its record of two undefeated seasons into the third year, the State soccer team defeated Gettysburg by a score of 4-0, before a first-half crowd of approximately 2500, on New Beaver Field, Saturday.

Captain Joe Bielicki, George Corbett, Frank Osterlund, and Carl Wacker divided the scoring honors, each accounting for one goal. Although the Nittany booters won the game by a safe margin, nevertheless State's play was decidedly not up to last year's championship caliber.

Play as a whole was characterized by a definite lack of passing accuracy on the part of the Nittanymen and a tendency to "play" the ball before passing it on. This last fault can be credited with the loss of several goals which failed to materialize because passes were not redirected quickly enough.

Fittingly enough, Captain Joe Bielicki, exercising his prerogative as leader of the Lions, scored the first point of the 1935 season early in the second quarter with a fast kick from directly in front of the goal. Bielicki was also partly responsible for the second score, which came late in the same quarter, when he intercepted a Bullet pass with his head, redirecting it toward the Gettysburg goal to Corbett who headed it into the cage.

Frank Osterlund, lanky forward, accounted for the third tally when he kicked the ball past the Gettysburg goalie from a mixup in front of the goal. The fourth and last score came late in the closing minutes of the game when Carl Wacker, a sophomore playing his first varsity game, took a pass from a teammate and kicked it high over the heads of the Gettysburg team members, from a position well down towards the center of the field. The ball arching over the heads of the Gettysburg players, fooled the Bullet goalie into thinking it would be wide, but instead it entered the goal directly beneath the crossbar and close to the upright, for a perfect goal.

Gettysburg Shows Fight
Although decidedly lighter than the Lions, the Bulletmen showed plenty of fight and not a little skill, particularly in the first quarter when the Lions were unable to score. What was lacking in finesse and passing accuracy the G-burg boys partially made up in dogged determination and sheer grit, pursuing the more skillful Lionmen relentlessly and taking advantage of every opening the Lions made. However, all-American Ray Bell, consistently outstanding, played an airtight game and was personally responsible for thwarting numerous G-burg goal threats.

It seemed obvious that the local boys rather missed the aid of Bill McEwan's accurate foot and splendid teamwork. However, Bill should be back in the lineup against Temple Saturday and that, combined with a few stiff practices between now and then, should put a much smoother and more accurate team on the field against the Owls.

Dean Sackett Honored

Dean Robert L. Sackett, head of the School of Engineering, has been selected vice president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Prior to his election, Dean Sackett had served as a member of the board of managers for three years.

Between The Lions

The Lions came through and made suckers of those who sold Penn State short over the week-end. Perhaps the statistics do not show it, but the Lions outplayed the Terrorers in more than one way, especially in the first and last quarters. Now for the compliments. First of all, credit Captain Weber with some inspiring leadership. Then lots of praise for the right side of the line who repeatedly smashed through the Terrorers' left side in clearing the way for the Lion backs, "fleet of foot." In fact, thirty-five yards right through big Tom Pontecarvo.

Then take the sophomore backs, Wear, Owens, and Kominic. They give us ample assurance that next year's prospects are undoubtedly brighter, not to mention this year's. Not the least of the shining lights of the day was the way in which Coach Higgins handled his substitutions. Tommy Silvano, slow in starting this year, showed that Cooper will need to look to his laurels, despite Bill's amassing of the second highest yardage total of the day.

Defensively, Bill Miller and Art Fry, alternating at right end, were about the hardest men to get by, our statistics showing that only seventeen yards were made around their position. Center proved the toughest spot of all for the Terrorers to get through, Chuck Cherundolo, Chick Enders and Jim O'Hora permitting an aggregate of only ten yards through the center. Nor are we forgetting that the guards had something to do with this, because Lou Barth and Johnny Economos played great defensive ball. In fact, throughout the game it must have been most discouraging for Coach Havens to discover that the Lion substitutions made it no easier for his Terrorers to get anywhere, the replacements playing every whit as hard as the starters.

The biggest disappointment of the day was in the way that State's aerial attack proved to be nothing but duds. You can look for intensive practice this week in that department. The punting with the exception of one or two kicks, was poor enough, although the line did give the kicker much more protection than last week.

With Our Opponents
Lehigh had no trouble with Dickinson, winning 26-0, but even this doesn't put them in a class which would indicate that State will have any trouble taking them.

Pitt was fairly impressive in their 24-6 triumph over West Virginia, but we're counting on Notre Dame to soften them up considerably the Saturday before we play them.

Syracuse looked so bad in her game with Cornell that even the local order of Gloomy Gusses is conceding State a chance to take the Orangemen. Barring injuries, State should be almost in its top form for that game.

Villanova now assumes the proportions of a major headache as one surveys the wreckage that the Wildcats have left in their wake thus far this year. Bending Bucknell, 25-0, the Main Line team has yet to be scored upon. Bucknell, on the other hand, is steadily decreasing as a source of worry in the scheme of things.

Penn can't be under-estimated despite her defeat at the hands of Yale. Still, the old tradition that State teams fight harder on Franklin Field than anywhere else isn't just a catch-line thought up by some prejudiced observer; it's a truism that Penn will have cause to regret.

All-College Golf Tourney Enters Semi-final Round

Hollman Bests Siegler As Quarter-Finals Matches Close.

By BOB GRUBB

Eight golfers entered the semi-final round of the all-College tournament this week following match play which decided the quarter-finalists in each flight.

In the biggest upset of the quarter finals, Hollman again overcame what were considered superior odds when he defeated Siegler, winning easily, 6 and 5.

Machmer Defeats Bennett
Freddy Machmer, medalist, continued his winning streak, defeating Johnny Bennett, 2 up. Machmer will be unable to play his semi-final match with Albert for several days because of a sprained wrist suffered last week.

In the second flight, Powell, who was four down at the end of the first nine, won seven holes in a row to defeat Snyder, 3 and 2.

The semi-final round should be completed by the end of the week, according to C. K. Lucas, Brightman '36, tourney manager, and the finals will begin during the week-end or early next week.

First Sixteen
Machmer defeated Bennett, 2 up. Albert defeated Wollman, 3 and 2. Coletti defeated Spurling, 2 and 1. Hollman defeated Siegler, 6 and 5.

Second Sixteen
Berkett defeated Buck, 7 and 6. Powell defeated Snyder, 3 and 2. Klingensmith defeated Markley, 1 up.

Gross and Caughey were expected to play their match by this afternoon.

Safety Gives Nittany Gridmen 2-to-0 Victory

marched down the field for sixty-one yards with four straight first downs. They were stopped by the closing closing whistle on the seven yard line.

Coach Bob Higgins used substitutions frequently, and to the best advantage. The entire first string, with the exception of Captain Bob Weber, was replaced in the second quarter. With the opponents tiring, the varsity wall re-entered the game and outchanged them.

A total of twenty-four players entered the fray for the Lions and at no one time did the team seem weaker than with the other combinations. The fact that there is reserve stamina on the Lion squad has been definitely established.

The statistics prove the strength of the Lion's forward wall since they gained 187 yards through rushing and to make any actual yardage gain by any other means.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

By DICK LEWIS

With first round scrimmages well under way, we can chalk up a few scores. We talked to Corner Room management last week about plastering intramural results on their windows, but it seems that some other scores got up there first and our exterior decorating scheme had to be abandoned. Corner Room exhibitionists, who squat behind the State College H. S. and other football scores and think the crowd outside is watching them eat their soup, may continue to be ogled through the week if our plan goes through.

THE SCOREBOARD:
Phi Kappa, 13; Alpha Kappa Pi, 0. Delta Sigma Phi, 12; Phi Sigma Delta, 6. Watts Hall, 18; Phi Kappa Sigma, 0. Psi Kappa Tau, 20; Alpha Sigma Chi, 0.

That's all for the games played at the end of the week.

We also would like to include ourselves in the ignoble category of those who make mistakes. Last week we stated that the K. D. R.'s fast to Sigma Pi by a 12-to-0 score. The fact was noised around and the K. D. R.'s were a little chagrined because they couldn't remember having played the Sigma Pi aggregation, much less having been taken over in such a fashion. It was the A. G. R.'s who took the rap. The score should have read: Sigma Pi, 12; Alpha Gamma Rho, 0.

The business, however, makes us feel pretty good. At least one guy must read this column. We welcome any other corrections.

By the end of this week, most of the first round will have been played off. Here's the schedule for the week, subject to addition later:

TODAY
4:15 Phi Kappa Psi vs. Frear Hall on field no. 1 by the golf course.
Kappa Delta Rho vs. Unit 6 on field no. 2 by the golf course.

7:15 Colonial vs. Theta Kappa Phi under the lights.
8:15 Delta Upsilon vs. Alpha Phi Delta.

TOMORROW
4:15 Sigma Nu vs. Triangle on field 1.

Olexy Leads Cross-Country Team in 15-to-40 Victory; Captain Book Places Second

Winner's Time Is 27:42; 11 State Men Finish Ahead of Healy, First Engineer To Complete Course.

By JOHN BRENNEMAN

Headed by Pete Olexy, who negotiated the 5-mile cross-country course in the fine time of 27 minutes, 42 seconds, Penn State's harriers defeated Lehigh Saturday by a perfect score of 15-to-40 for the second year in a row and continued their undefeated record of last season.

Although Coach Werner named only seven men whose places were to be counted, the entire squad competed. The fact that eleven State men finished ahead of the first Lehigh runner, Healy, is evidence of the overwhelming victory that the Lions scored.

Book Takes Second
Olexy was followed by Captain Book whose time was 28 minutes, 27 seconds. Bill Trimble took third, while Howard Downey and Don Daugherty finished in a tie for fourth place. Only 45 seconds separated the first five State runners.

The other six Lions to finish ahead of the Lehigh runners were Surmatis, Clark, Hutchinson, Wear, Brizel, and Titlow. Six of the eleven State harriers are sophomores and should show continued improvement as the season progresses.

Since none of the State runners were pushed, they should all be able to turn in better times. Olexy finished "under wraps" and is likely to do some record breaking before the season ends. Downey, who has been having trouble with his teeth, should also do much better.

Beaver House vs. Tau Phi Delta on field 2.
7:15 Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Theta Xi under the lights.
8:15 Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Sigma Phi Alpha.

THURSDAY
4:15 Alpha Tau Omega vs. Phi Kappa Phi, field 1.
Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Sigma Kappa, field 2.
7:15 Unit 1 vs. Sigma Chi.
8:15 Phi Gamma Delta vs. Phi Kappa Tau.
