Soccer Team Defeats Lafayette Squad, 1-0

same defensive technique, Temple held the Lions to a 1-0 score.
Although throughout the game the Lions passed, kicked, and battered at the Lafayette goal, which with six men continuously grouped about the 48-yard stripe was practically impregnable, the ball was continually in the possession of the State men. Lafayette had it only three or four times during the entire contest, and never was in a position to score effectively.
Tension increased as the game grew older. Playing consistently good ball State could not score. Four times Lafayette's goalie, Wodehouse, more through luck than good judgment, stopped shots which under ordinary circumstances were sure goals. Giving credit where credit is due, Wodehouse outdid himself Saturday.
Finally, during the extra period, using fire to fight fire, Coach Jeffrey did a little rearranging himself when he caused Joe Bielicki, center half, and Frank Osterlund, inside right, to exchange places, thereby strengthening the State offensive and enabling Bill McEwan to score his first goal this season. Incidentally, taking the ball on a pass from Bielicki, McEwan kicked the goal with his left leg—the one which was operated on this summer.
At ten o'clock this morning the Lion booters leave for Lewistown, where they will entrain for West Point to try the mettle of a statistically mediocre Army eleven. Bill Jeffrey will employ the same lineup which he has used to date, tomorrow, with one exception. George Corbett will be given the call over Conny Welsh at the outside left spot. This move, not altogether unforeseen, should strengthen the team considerably.
To date, Army's record is not awe-inspiring, having defeated Lafayette by five goals, stopped Gettysburg by 3-0-2, and tied Harvard 2-0-2. However, the mule is an historically stubborn critter and will be kicking in his own back yard—whether that makes any difference or not is highly problematical, however, and remains to be seen. Personally, we don't think it does.

although in the past period they advanced the ball well within Wyoming territory twice.
Yearlings Score in 3rd.
The freshman's touchdown came late in the first period when the shifty yearling quarterback plunged across from the one-yard line. The try for the extra point was blocked.
The Seminary team scored in the third period when Jack Connel tore around right end for ten yards. The kick for the extra point was blocked.
While Denise and Johnny Patrick starred in the backfield, the work of Dean Hanley and Tom Gregory on the line was commendable. Holding, which brought heavy penalties in the Cubs' previous games was lacking and only two penalties, both for off-sides, were called in Saturday's game.

By WALT FREUNSCH
Our prediction was wrong; yet we are prouder of the Lions than we have been in many moons. Out-classed, they put up the gamest struggle against a Football Institute seen by State rooters in years. Offensively, the locals couldn't get going; defensively, they looked like a million dollars. Whether Pitt would have scored without the two breaks afforded by a fumble and an interception is an interesting point.
Pitt papers were lavish in their praise of Johnny Economos and well they might have been. He broke up play after play, and was easily the hero of the game. Captain Weber played a harder-driving game than even his most critical fan would have asked of him.
In the backfield, Walt Kominie and Tommy Silvano backed up the line and plunged it respectively to the queen's taste. Kominie in particular gave every promise of being a star before this year is out. Chuck Cherniolo lived up to his advance notice as the top-notch center of the cast, and even the great Kliskey paled into insignificance beside Chuck's showing.
Offensively, the Lions looked wobbly in all departments. The punting would have been a disgrace to a high school team, the passing attack brought forth one sizeable gain and no more, the line plays met a cagey defense that refused to be fooled on delays and spinners, and the end runs were smothered by a secondary that moved in like a bunch of State students crashing the dance at the William Penn—fast, we mean. The better team won, but they had a hot time of it. Hail to the Lion! Isn't just a polite phrase; this department and every other student in school all join in paying homage to a great bunch.
The freshman harriers became, by a few hours, the first Penn State team to suffer a defeat this fall. As the score now stands, only two contests have been lost and two ties have been recorded. The soccer team has the best record to date, being undefeated and unscorced on. Not to be pessimistic, but a sixth sense tells us that Ray Bell's three game streak of not being scored on is in danger when State plays the Cadets at West Point tomorrow.
Having successfully carried out the "two-squares-a-day" campaign, the COLLEGIAN now wants to correct another evil of great magnitude. Why not, say we, have some manner of stands erected on the soccer field so that the faithful supporters of the sport won't need to stand all around the field in order to see what's going on. The boys eighty-eight minutes of ball, and that's a long time to stand up. Last fall there were some stands after a fashion; why can't something be done this year for the remaining home games?

F. Machmer Wins College Golf Title

Freddy Machmer '39 defeated John Coletti '36 in the finals of the all-College golf tournament after a close 36-hole contest on the College links Saturday afternoon. Machmer won 2 up, in a match marked by good golf. The match threatened to break up on the thirteenth hole when Coletti called Machmer's caddy for stepping across the line of putt. Coach Bob Rutherford ruled no penalty and the match continued.
The deciding match in the second flight remains to be played. The winner of the Caughy-Klingensmith match is to meet Burkett in the final of the second sixteen.
