Nittany Booters To Meet Syracuse; Freshman Gridders Face Pitt

Lion Cubs Favored To Win Over Pittsburgh Yearlings In Contest Here Tomorrow

Bud Kyle To Get First Chance With Freshmen Replacing Bill Denise at Quarterback; Covolus To Start at Tackle.

By ROB GRUBB

Penn State's Little Lions will be seeking to avenge the defeat handed the varsity a week ago when they meet Pittsburgh's Little Panthers on New Beaver Field tomorrow afternoon. The freshman elevens will clash at 2:30 o'clock to furnish one of two home sports attractions this week-end.

While the Lion Cubs face the Pittsburgh yearlings with a slightly bet ter record to date, Coach Nels Walke is looking forward to no easy battle for his charges. The State freshmen have defeated Scranton-Keystone Jun ior College and tied Mercersburg Academy and Wyoming Seminary, while the Pitt freshmen have split their two games, losing the first to Carnegie Tech and winning the second from Kiski.

Intramural football seems to be overshadowing everything else in the intramural sports program with the exception of cross-country. As far as we know, the putting and horses have been relegated into the realm of the forgotten. And an elaborate program has been narrowed down to football and cross-country. We hope something is done about running off the putting and pitching matches before somebody desides to give it all up in favor of ice-hockey.

After trimming the ears of the Army mule to the tune of 6-to-0, Wednesday, the Nittany soccermen will meet a strong Syracuse eleven in the featured home encounter on Beaver Field tomorrow. Syracuse, the only team ever to defeat a Lion soccer team on thir home ground, is out to repeat and will fight the Lions every inch of the way.

Out of six encounters, the Saltine Warriors have chalked up five victories, losing only to Springfield 6-to-1 last Saturday. Springfield has one of the strongest teams in the East, incidentally, and is usually considered the toughest opponent the Lions meet. To date the Orangemen have defeated West Chester Teachers, Colgate, Lehigh, Buffalo Teachers, and American nternational.

Bell was idle most of th time, only being called on three or four times, when his reactions were most satisfactory.

Scoring was quite consistent, show-ing that the Lions had the situation well in hand throughout the encounter. Bill McEwan, high scorer last year, started the ball rolling in the first quarter with a well aimed kick. From the starting whistle it was an was too strong for the Army defense
