

Lion Swim Team Will Face Penn Tomorrow For Final Contest Of Initial Season

11 Mermen Leave Today For Philadelphia; Coach Galbraith To Hold 2 Week Practice Session For Freshmen.

Eleven members of the swimming team will leave today for Philadelphia where they will meet the Penn mermen at Hutchinson pool tomorrow at 3 o'clock. The contest marks the final test for both teams.

After a season that will go down in history as the first in intercollegiate swimming for Penn State, Coach Galbraith will be able to present his strongest line-up as competition for an extremely strong Penn team.

In the first event on the program, the 220-yard free-style, the State swimmers will be represented by Jim Cumming and Bobby Brown. Cumming, one of the high point scorers of the team has had marked success in the three home meets, scoring over nine points in the Cornell encounter. Bobby Brown, one of the few regulars who was a member of last season's Glennland pool team, returns after a two-week illness.

Swimming in the 50-yard freestyle will be Jerry Weinstein and John Walker. Ray Parks, after exhibiting fine form at the home meets, will be the lone State entry in the fancy-dive. In the 440-yard freestyle, Bob Dewalt and Marshall Brown will be used. Dewalt has been stepping it up lately while Brown has shown perhaps the greatest improvement this season.

To Appear in Home Waters
For the first time since high school days, three of them will be competing in their home pool. Captain Dick Geiger who excelled in his specialty all year and Cumming will swim the 150-yard back-stroke. Another Philadelphian, Gil Burleigh, will start for the Lions in the 200-yard breast-stroke. Gene Lesko will also be entered in the breast-stroke event. Competing in the century freestyle sprint will be Weinstein and Walker, with the 200-yard relay being composed of Bill Helriegel, Geiger, Dewalt and Cumming.

With the season about to end for the Lions, the attempt at intercollegiate swimming as a sport indicates a success in every way. With this fact behind him and another meet added to the schedule, Coach Galbraith will take steps to prepare the squad for the future and to increase the team's strength.

Freshman Candidates Wanted

For the next two weeks, all freshmen who would like to try out for any of the eight events on the varsity program should report at the Glennland pool for practice and instruction. Practices will be held on Monday, Thursday and Friday at 4 o'clock and on Tuesday and Wednesday at 5:15 o'clock. A large squad will be chosen from those showing the most promise, and beginning next fall, a period of intensive training will begin. Following the lead of several leading coaches of the country, Coach Galbraith will institute the practice of body building exercises for a two-month period. After that, the team will go indoors and into the pool for regular training.

Driving on the campus has been forbidden to Purdue students.

Toughest Opponents of Lion Wrestlers at Princeton

Pre-Fight Predictions Favor Lion Boxers To Retain Title

Here are the opinions of local fight fans on the probable outcome of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing tournament:

Hugh R. Riley, jr., sports editor, department of public information: "I pick Sammy Donato to beat McGovern and Criswell is sure to win. Any one of these three can win: Richter, Goodman, Ritzie."

Louis H. Bell, of the department of journalism, former sports editor of the Chester Times:

"Penn State's winning the championship depends on Ritzie and I think he will come through. Criswell and Richter are the other Penn State bets. Mastrella will probably take the 135 and Jefferis the 165. I look for a heated third place fight between Army, Harvard, and Western Maryland."

Sergeant Jack Ryan, U. S. A.: "My selections are Criswell, 115; Crampton (Harvard), 125; Goodman, 135; S. Donato, 145; Fink (Syracuse), 155; Jefferis (Syracuse), 165; Sala (Villanova), 175; Brown (Syracuse), heavyweight."

Prof. Harry H. Geist: "I've got my fingers crossed." George A. Scott, city editor, Centre Daily Times:

"It is difficult to predict any winners because of the comparatively unknown quantity of Harvard's team. Best bets for individual champions are Criswell, 115; Crampton (Harvard), 125; Goodman, 135; Sammy Donato, 145; York (Army), 155; Jefferis (Syracuse), 165; Sala (Villanova), 175; Richter, heavyweight." Johnny Napoleon, 115-pound champion in 1933:

"Criswell, Sammy Donato and Richter are my choices for championship honors. If Izzy maintains his aggressiveness throughout the fight, he will beat Pontecorvo."

Coach Leslie Chooses All-Conference Team

Coach Spike Leslie made his selection for the all-conference team in Eastern Intercollegiate basketball competition and members of the Lion basketball team picked their all-opponent setup after the final game of the season against Pitt last week. Frank Smith, Mike Kornick, Sol Miehoff and Captain Bar Riley were named to honorable mention by Coach Leslie.

The all-conference teams picked by Coach Leslie included: first team, forwards, Gocke, West Virginia, and Bassin, Georgetown; center, Noon, Pitt; guards, Messikomer, Temple, and Pat, Carnegie Tech. Those picked for the second team were: forwards, Shields, Temple, and Roderick, Pitt; center, Bloom, Temple; guards, Spotovich, Pitt, and Felsler, Carnegie Tech.

About $193,000 came to Notre Dame recently from the estate of John F. Cushing, to be used in the construction of an engineering school, and $52,600 was received last week to establish a fund for chemical research.

Between The Lions

By WALT FREUNSCHE

No one is saying much about the mat and mat intercollegiate which begins so inauspiciously on a Friday the thirteenth, and all concerned are crossing their fingers. Both teams have tough jobs to gain or retain their titles and it will take the breaks if the Lions are to come through.

Walt Freunsch

Richter. If Goodman and Richter come through tonight, titles for them are certainties.

The matmen may not crash through with as many individual titles but the team is so well-balanced, that the team title is not so remote a possibility as one would think. Second and third places may conceivably turn the tide in favor of the proteges of "Cheerful Charlie."

What we believe to be the height of something or other is contained in an unsavory rumor that is flitting about the Bulling these days. A local student is reputedly tipping off one of State's toughest mat foes as to the condition, style

Track Win No Upset; Just A Surprise To Dopesters

By JOHN BRENNEMAN

While the victory of State's relay team at the Intercollegiate Saturday came as a "stunning upset" to those who are accustomed to think of this college as the home of wrestlers, boxers and Penn State Jessie, to those of us who have watched the development of track here under "Chick" Werner it was nothing more than a pleasant surprise.

Not since Cox, Bates, and Ide won the mile, broad jump, and hammer throw at the Intercollegiate in Philadelphia in 1927 has Penn State had either an individual or team championship in either indoor or outdoor track competition. The last major relay championship was that won by the distance medley team at the Penn Relays in 1928.

of wrestling, and weaknesses of logical wrestlers. That student is a heel, and I hope he has the grace to blush if he reads this.

The cage season just concluded was one of the most distressing ever witnessed by Penn State fans. Entry into a tough conference, material at a new low ebb, and the lack of any cohesive force made it an impossibility for State to go anywhere. Where the fault lies is not in this writer's province to judge; sufficient to say that another such season will necessitate drastic measures—and that doesn't necessarily imply abandonment of our place in the conference.
