

Between The Lions

By WALT FREUNSCHE
Evidently the Wisconsin boxers are just as tough as the advance reports made them out to be, although their own publicity man sang the blues about injuries before the meet. A much better idea of where Penn State stands in the ring world will be had after the Nationals this week-end.

Oklahoma a main dominion of the wrestling Nationals, and would undoubtedly have done so even had State managed to get there. Nevertheless it is always good fun to speculate on what might have been. The fact that Scobey crashed through, is both consolation for Eastern fans, and an indication that perhaps State might also have had at least one champ.

Spring is here and with it comes a problem that has perplexed this writer from the spring of his freshman year. Why is it that a sport like lacrosse gets such an indifferent response and support from the student body? It can't be that the students are surfeited with it because of familiarity with the sport in high school, because it is a safe bet that not more than five or ten per cent of the students ever saw a game before they came to college.

The complaint that the game isn't scientific can't be made seriously, for as random as the moves may appear, everything is done in accordance to set plays for the various situations, just as in soccer. Not that the game is mechanical or stifles initiative; far from it. But it is a fact that the team that slams the pill into the cage the most number of times is the one that knows the score as to the plays and maneuvers that are best able to deceive the opponents.

5 Penn State Boxers To Fight In Nationals

ready to meet the sternest test in national competition. Frankie Goodman and Sammy Donato showed that they were prepared to bid for new ring laurels by the snappy workout they staged Wednesday afternoon. Displaying bits of the form which won them titles in the Eastern Intercollegiate several weeks ago, the two Lion mittmen mixed it up in a fast three-round practice session. Izzy Richter went three rounds with Nestor Kociubinsky, while Lou Ritzke sparred with Heber Lessig for two rounds and then took Kociubinsky on for a third.

After making his weight with difficulty, Criswell had to face a flailing left-hander in Art Walsh, Wisconsin's 115-pounder, in Monday night's meet. Weakened by the hasty dieting process, Criswell was unable to carry the battle and lost a close decision. Penn State defaulted to Wisconsin in the 125-pound class, having no representative in this division.

Frankie Goodman earned Penn State's first half-point in the meet when he fought three rounds to a draw with George Stupar, while Sammy Donato won an easy decision over Wisconsin's Eugene Dille, in the 145-pound class. Another Penn State point was added when Lou Ritzke got back in the win column by defeating Vito Schiro, Wisconsin 125-pound fighter.

Lion Grid Squad Begins Practice

Higgins To Give Most Attention To Freshman Candidates Eligible Next Year.

With holes to be filled, new players to be tried, and the general shaping up of football prospects that is necessary after a winter's lay off, the Lion football squad took to the gridiron Wednesday afternoon for their first outdoor workout.

Attention will be focused on the freshman candidates who will be eligible for the varsity next year and from whom players must be chosen to fill the gaps that were left by graduating seniors.

Coach Bob Higgins will have his eyes open for end material since the regular wingmen, Art Fry and Bill Miller will be graduated this spring and Frank Smith remains the only experienced end on the squad.

Spring practice will be continued every night from 4 until 5:30 o'clock as long as weather permits. The fundamentals of the game will be re-taught and group line practice, backfield running, kicking, and passing will take most of the time.

"We are planning a very intensive spring campaign," Higgins said, "due to the fact that much new material must be uncovered and many new plays will be instituted next year."

Light practices will continue for a period of two weeks, at which time it is planned to divide the squad into the traditional Whites and Blues for practice scrimmages on New Beaver field.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

By PHIL HEISLER

The Locust Lane Mashball has again been reorganized with Alpha Chi Rho, Beta Sigma Rho, Delta Sigma Phi, Chi Phi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Kappa Phi, and Phi Kappa, listed as entries.

Officials of the league who were elected are: Charley Glennon, president; Emmett Brown, vice president; Jack Weiss, secretary; and Wally Alexander, publicity manager.

The league will start April Fools Day and is expected to be finished by Memorial Day. Last year's champion was Delta Sigma Phi. The schedule will be announced later this week.

The basketball tournament has been narrowed down to eight teams, each of which has an even chance of winning the championship. Among those still in the race are Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Theta, Watts Hall, and Triangle.

Finals for the tournament will be held sometime next week the manager announced.

Handball
The first round of the handball tournament got under way with the favorites all coming out with victories. Those winning their first round matches were: J. O'Hara, Ochsner, Hoover, Robitzer, Buczkowski, Drugotch, and Weinstein.

Novelty Track Meet Scheduled Here By Werner

With over a hundred candidates answering the call for outdoor track, Coach "Chick" Werner has planned a novelty meet for the first competition of the season on the cinder track at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The idea of the meet is for all the varsity men to compete in some event other than their regular one. For example, Captain Bill Miller, hammer-thrower, will try his hand at broad-jumping. "Lute" Luttringer, midjet sprinter, denied the rumor that he would compete in the hammer-throw, although he admitted that he might try the shot-put. The freshmen, most of whom have been practicing for only a week, will compete in their regular events.

Most of the veterans from last year have been working out for some time, either indoors or on the wooden track, but there are also a number of new men out. Neither they nor the freshmen have been practicing long enough for Werner to have any sort of a line on their abilities, but it still seems apparent that the team lacks broad jumpers, sprinters, and pole vaulters.

All work-out from now on will be conducted on the cinder track, unless unfavorable weather forces the team to return to the boards. With the Penn Relays only a month away Werner is hoping to get several relay teams, as well as individuals, into shape in order to repeat the success of the 2-mile championship team this winter in the Intercollegiate.

4 Freshmen, Installed In Women's Honorary College Builds Wooden Partition In Glennland

Violet M. Bailoni, Dorothy A. McAniff, Madeline J. Purnell and Bertha L. Wright were the four freshman women initiated into Lakonedes, women's physical education honorary, at MacAllister Hall reading room on Wednesday afternoon. Following the initiation dinner was served for the members at the Old Main Sandwich Shop.

Dorothy McGuire '36, is president of this organization and is also a charter member of the fraternity was founded here in the fall of 1933. Rose R. Nudo and M. Betty Springer are the other senior charter members, the juniors being Dorothy A. Hennicke, Jean B. Northrup, Lois M. Schreck, Doris R. Smith and Irene H. Stark. The total membership of the fraternity at present is twenty.

Lakonedes, a local fraternity, is the only women's physical education honorary on the campus, and serves as an incentive for the women students enrolled in the physical education school. To be eligible for membership it is necessary to have attained the necessary scholastic standing and to have shown a keen interest in women's sports. The active members of the organization are also interested in promoting sportsmanship and friendliness among the students and sponsoring numerous social events. The "Night of Fun" held recently at Recreation Hall for physical education students and members of the faculty was sponsored by Lakonedes.

P. S. Club To Sponsor Get-together Session

A "get-together" meeting to which all non-fraternity men are invited will be held by the Penn State Club in the Sandwich Shop in Old Main Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock. Arrangements for the nomination and election of officers will be made at the meeting. Plans for an all-College dance on April 18 and a banquet in May will also be discussed.

All new men will have an opportunity to become acquainted. There will be a card party and refreshments and John G. Ronaldo '36 will play several acedean numbers.

Swimming, Volleyball, Gymnastic PIAA Titles at Stake Tomorrow

Continuing the practice of making Penn State the leading center for high school athletics, the College will play host tomorrow to over thirty high schools in the annual Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association championships. Titles in swimming, volley ball, and gymnastics will be determined.

With the trial heats starting at 10 o'clock, swimming will get under way at the Glennland pool. Twenty-one schools, eight from the eastern part of the State and thirteen from the west, will enter over seventy-five contestants in the eight-event program.

The leading eastern teams include the defending champions, Allentown and Upper Darby. Strong entries from the west are Erie Technical, Butler, Duquesne, and Fifth Avenue, South, and Westinghouse from Pittsburgh. For the first time champions in gymnastics will be determined at Rec Hall at 2 o'clock. Six eastern high schools and eight western schools have entered contestants in the six events. There will be six men in each, which include side-horse, parallel bars, tumbling, rings, Indian clubs, and high bar. Bloomsburg, Lower Merion, Bristol, Pottsville, Upper Darby, and Williamsport have entries for the east, while Westinghouse, Latrobe, Alderdice, Johnsonburg, Strong Vincent, Wilkesburg, Sewickley, and Grove City will represent the west.

At least four teams have entered the first volley ball tournament, which will take place immediately after the gymnastics. Williamsport, York, Titusville, and some Pittsburgh high schools have entered. Members of the School of Physical Education and Athletics will act as officials in all three meets. Coach Galbraith of the varsity swimming team will be the referee of the aquatic championships. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded individual winners in the three sports, while plaques will be given to the championship teams. Admission to events is free.
