Goodman Gets 135-lb. Crown In NCAA Meet

Criswell, Donato Lose Close Final Bouts By Decisions.

Richter, Ritzie Beaten In Unexpected Upsets

By BOB GRUBB

Repeating his performance of two weeks ago, when he won the lightweight title in the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament here, Frankie Goodman fought his way to a national championship in the second N. C. A. A. boxing tourney at Charlottesville, Va., Saturday.

The Nittany 135-pounder successively defeated three of the best entries in the lightweight division to gain his title, which helped to place Penn State in second position for the mythical national team championship. Syracuse, with two titlists, and Duke with two also, took first and third honors, respectively.

While three Penn State boxers survived the preliminary and semi-final rounds of the tourney, Goodman alone was able to overcome the opposition in the final round Saturday night. Facing Johnny Mastrella, of Syracuse, whom he defeated on his way to the Eastern championship, Goodman boxed through an almost even three rounds, slightly shading the Orange fighter to win the judge's decision.

Goodman Aggressive
Both fighters maintained extreme caution throughout the entire fight, each equally aware of the other's prowess. While few punches were thrown, Goodman maintained an aggressiveness that won him favor in the eyes of the judges and was the deciding factor in the decision. Frankie outclassed Ketcham, of Louisiana State University, to win the semi-final engagement Saturday afternoon, having previously defeated Naddath, of Western Reserve, in the preliminary round Friday afternoon. After meeting Naddath, Goodman was scheduled to fight Konick, of Pitt, Friday night, but the latter withdrew because of illness.

Captain Russ Criswell, three times Eastern champion in the 115-pound class, had to forego the honor of a national title when he lost a three-round decision to Mickey Brutto, hard-punching West Virginia bantamweight, in the final round of the tourney. But Russ did have the honor of appearing in the ring with Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world. Tunney, a guest at the tourney Saturday, refereed the initial bout of the finals.

Criswell Stages Rally
While Brutto barely outpointed Criswell, the Penn Stater lost his fight in the first round when he dropped to the canvas after Brutto sent a hard right to the jaw just a few seconds before the round ended. The bell clanged just as Referee Tunney began the count. Criswell rallied in the second and third rounds, even staggering Brutto once in the second. The Mountaineer clearly showed signs of wear in the third as Russ took the aggressive, falling, however, to offset the first-round knockdown.

Chapel Speaker Rates Justice As 1st Virtue

"We cannot have men treating men kindly until we have them treating one another justly," said Dr. Frank Kingdon, president of the University of Newark, in his chapel address on "The Primary Virtue of Human Adjustment" in Schwab auditorium Sunday.

Men are likely to think of justice as a cold, impersonal virtue, Dr. Kingdon explained, but it is one of the most personal because we take it into account through our own interests.

The lack of justice as an element of adjustment may bruise personality or even ruin the life of the person who does not receive a just chance, Dr. Kingdon pointed out. Such dealing in terms of fractional knowledge is more than often harmful rather than helpful, he continued. Dr. Kingdon applied this principle to our international relationships, in stating that if we could know the whole situation in Japan we would find implications that made the Japanese as much in the right as we now consider them in the wrong.

We need to temper our spirits with appreciation and consider that other people are as good and as important as we are as a nation, Dr. Kingdon added.

ASU To Discuss Strike Plans at Open Meeting

An open meeting to discuss plans and answer questions relative to the local Peace Strike, planned for April 22, will be held in Room 321, Old Main, Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

The strike is being sponsored by the Penn State chapter of the American Student Union. The Union is endeavoring to secure support of the strike from all college groups. Those interested are urged to attend.

500 Cast Ballots In Political Race

3 Questions Added to Ballot; Voting Will Continue Today, Tomorrow.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, 500 students had cast votes on the voting machines in Old Main lobby as the first day's voting in the campus political race drew to a close.

In addition to voting for the candidates for office, there are three questions to be voted on. These questions are listed on the vote machines and require the same procedure in registration of votes as the balloting for nominees.

1. Are you in favor of two and a half holidays for the Pitt and Penn games with no Thanksgiving vacation?

2. Are you in favor of one optional half-holiday for the Pitt and Penn game with a Thanksgiving vacation?

3. Are you in favor of a blanket fee sufficient to provide free hospitalization for students for a limited length of time?

Inclusion of a fourth question on the ballot on compulsory military training was denied yesterday afternoon. In referring to the request made by the local chapter of the American Student Union, which had secured the cooperation of the clique chairmen and J. Briggs Pruitt, 336, chairman of elections, Dean Arthur R. Warnock stated that the military question would only confuse issues.

In order to aid in overcoming the difficulty in manipulation of the machines, new voters are asked to observe the following rules of operation:

1. Move the red handle of the curtain lever to the right as far as it will go and leave it there. This will lock the machine for voting.
2. Turn down a pointer of the name of each candidate in the clique for whom you wish to vote.
3. After arranging your ticket, move the red handle to the left as far as it will go and leave it there. This will automatically register a vote for each of the candidates for whom you have voted and at the same time will turn back the voting pointers and open the curtain. No votes are registered until the red handle is moved to the left to open the curtain.

Balloting continues all day today and ends at noon tomorrow.

Dugan Unanimously Chosen Head Of V. F. W. Post Established Here

James T. Dugan '37 was unanimously elected Commander of the Pennsylvania State College Post No. 1 of the Veterans of Future Wars at an organization meeting of future ex-service men last Sunday night. The landslide of votes which rode Dugan into office was said to have been due to his probable outstanding future war record, although this could not be verified.

The charter for the local post was received from National Headquarters last week and every effort is being made to organize fully in time for the anti-war demonstration on April 22, Commander Dugan stated. An intensive membership drive among undergraduates and townspersons is now under way here, he said.

"Membership in the organization is limited to a very select group—all male citizens between the ages of 18 and 36—they being the ones who will see service next," Dugan stated. "Although our brother veteran's organizations charge dues to their members, we have done away with this—unless some emergency arises; however, in order not to destroy all precedents set up by veterans' groups, a fee of twenty-five cents is being charged each new member in order to support our huge lobby group in Washington," the bespectacled Commandant explained apologetically.

"That this laudable movement should be taken as a joke, is unthinkable," Dugan declared. "We are intensely serious, and posts are being

'Stocks and Blondes' Will Open 50th Year of Thespian Shows

With several real engagements pending, "Stocks and Blondes," Thespian spring musical show, will open here before an Interfraternity Ball week-end audience Saturday night, marking the fiftieth anniversary of the club's activities on this campus.

Costuming for the show, which centers about the riotous life of the "Robber Barons" of the Reconstruction Period, is on the largest scale ever attempted by the Thespians. Over 100 costumes have been designed and executed for the show by the Van Horn costume house of Philadelphia, one of the leading theatrical costumers in the country.

Just as authors Dick Allen and Johnny Binns wrote the book for the show in order to make the historical events as authentic as possible, so did the costumers endeavor to carry out every detail of costume for the production which involves the curious combination of big business and theatrical activity.

The story centers about the activities of the three financial "barons" of the post-Civil War period—Jim Fiske, Jay Gould, and Daniel Drew. Their efforts to issue 20,000 shares of watered stock and subsequently to gain a corner on the world's gold, are recounted in the story.

The secondary plot concerns the "love triangle" in which Jim Fiske, his wife, and his secretary are involved. Charles C. Walters '38 plays the part of Fiske, while Virginia Swart '38 has the role of Lucy, his wife. Additional love interest is furnished by the relations of Fiske's secretary, Charles W. Tilden '37, and Iola D. Murray '39.

Efforts are being made to secure bookings for the show in Pittsburgh and in the Wilkes-Barre—Scranton sections. Binns interviewed Robert Cochran, president of the Pittsburgh Alumni Club Saturday and it seems probable that a booking may be secured following the Easter vacation.

The return of Hummel Fishburn to direct the music for the show has speeded production considerably. Fishburn was forced to suspend direction of the music temporarily due to illness and has cut short his convalescent period in order to supervise this important phase.

In addition to the realistic scenic effects, many "props" have been devised which will tend to lend authenticity to the show. One of these is a reproduction of a stock ticket, the work of C. Lamar Hollar '36, president of Thespians. Hollar has also devised some ingenious window displays which will be used to advertise the show this week.

Reyburn '39 Wins Speech Contest

Woman Given Award For First Time; Cartmell '36 Takes 2nd Prize of $25.

Betty M. Reyburn '39 and John A. Cartmell '36 won the two prizes in the annual extemporaneous speaking contest, the finals of which were held in the Home Economics auditorium Saturday night. Miss Reyburn is the first girl who has ever won the event.

Speaking on the subject, "Woman's Progress in the Twentieth Century," Miss Reyburn won the Pennsylvania State College prize of fifty dollars. Cartmell's topic was "The College Student Becomes of Age" and he was awarded the Forensic Council prize of twenty-five dollars.

The winners were decided by the votes of the three judges, Prof. Harold F. Graves, of the department of English composition; Prof. Ray W. Watkins, of the department of English composition; and Clayton H. Schug, instructor in public speaking. In announcing the decision, the presiding officer, Prof. John H. Frizzell, said that the contest had been unusually close, each judge having selected a different winner.

The preliminary competition was held last Wednesday, at which time the contestants were divided into six groups, the winner in each group to qualify for the finals Saturday. These six speakers were allowed to talk for ten minutes on any subject of their own choosing.

Gantlet Episode Here Investigated by Dern

Repercussions from the "gantlet running" episode in local R. O. T. C. classes last winter were heard in the metropolitan press last week when leading papers carried stories on an investigation of the Department of Military Science and Tactics here on orders of Secretary of War Dern at Washington.

The investigation was ordered as a result of a protest lodged against officers of the Department by Edwin C. Johnson, of New York City, secretary of the Committee on Militarism in Education. Charging "outrageous conduct" on the part of officers here, Johnson demanded that if the charges were true Major Arthur F. Bowen, in whose class the incident occurred, be charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

The order issued by Secretary Dern, it is understood, will be carried out through the commanding general of the Third Army Corps and until it is completed, the War Department will make no comment.

College Offers Free Typhoid Inoculations

Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, director of the health service, has announced that all students who wish to be inoculated against typhoid fever can receive this service, free of charge, by applying at the College dispensary during office hours. Three inoculations are necessary for immunity.

The typhoid vaccine, donated annually by the federal government, will also be used to immunize advanced R. O. T. C. students who expect to spend the summer in camps or where the purity of the water supply is doubtful.

Orators Will Use Statehood Topic For Debate Here

Young, Matz To Meet Hawaiian Orators Tonight at 8.

First Contest in East For Visiting Collegians

Debaters from the University of Hawaii, the farthest west land grant college, will meet John E. Matz and Fred L. Young jr., representing the Penn State debate team, in the Home Economics auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The proposition for debate will be: Resolved, that the Territory of Hawaii should be admitted to the Union as the forty-ninth State. Matz and Young will take the negative side of the question while the Hawaiians will take the affirmative.

The Hawaiian debate team includes Robert G. North, John A. Casstevens, Clarence Chang, Robert Taira, Frank Husted, and Homer Huapla Hayes. Tonight's debate will be the twenty-third in which the Hawaiians have engaged since they landed on the continent in February.

They have travelled more than 10,000 miles in their tour of the United States and have debated seven different questions. This is the first time the University of Hawaii has sent a forensic team to the East. Formerly, the University met only Pacific coast colleges and schools in Australia.

The question of Hawaiian statehood has been pending in Congress for some time. It has been raised since the United States gained possession of the Territory. The Hawaiian team will present the viewpoint of native collegiate Hawaiians on this question. Students, faculty, and townspeople are invited to attend.

Baker '36 Named To Town Position

Student Engineer Will Assume Duties Tomorrow; Council Plans City Manager.

Michael Baker jr. '36 has been appointed to the position of borough engineer of State College, it was announced last week. He will assume his duties tomorrow and will work part-time until June. After graduation, he will begin regular work.

In commenting on the appointment, Prof. Robert E. Minshall, of the department of civil engineering, president of the council, said: "The principal reason for our awarding him the position was that at least three members of the council knew him and were familiar with the quality of his work. He has shown considerable ability at organization, and is old enough and has had sufficient experience to be successful at the work we believe."

Professor Baker confirmed the report that one of the reasons for picking Baker was that council members had favorably considered selection of a comparatively young man with the thought in mind of training him so that a city manager system could be established later on, if the citizens so desired.

Importance of Civil Fingerprinting Outlined by Dennis, Patrol Captain

The great loss of life during recent floods led Captain William V. Dennis, chief of the campus patrol, to emphasize again the importance of civil fingerprinting.

"Fingerprinting is rapidly becoming the chief means of identification," Captain Dennis stated in an interview last week. "The grief that is caused by disappearances, the money spent in attempts to trace amnesia victims, and the general trouble that prevails can be eliminated by making it a necessity for persons to be fingerprinted."

Captain Dennis recently established a fingerprinting bureau here in cooperation with the Department of Justice, the Criminal Investigation Service, and State Police officials. This is no indication, however, that this process will put a person in the police records.

"Civilian fingerprinting has no bearing on the possibility of future criminal activities," Captain Dennis said. "A civilian is in no danger of being arrested unless he is suspected. It is impossible for the authorities to

I. F. Ball Maestro

"BUDDY" ROGERS
"California Cavaliers"
Of Screen—Radio—Stage

Rogers To Treat I.F. Ball Dancers

Maestro Will Play 8 Instruments Besides Leading California Cavaliers at Ball.

"Buddy" Rogers, who brings his California Cavaliers here for Interfraternity Ball Friday night, will give local jazz addicts and dancers a treat in virtuosity because in addition to leading the orchestra, he will play eight instruments during the evening.

Beginning his musical education while in high school in Kansas, Rogers soon became so proficient on the trombone that at the State university he organized his own dance orchestra. At that time he began to practice on other instruments and now he performs on the piano, trumpet, saxophone, clarinet, accordion, guitar, and drums.

Appeared in Movies
In one of the orchestra's favorite numbers, "Twelfth Street Rag," Rogers performs on each of his instruments, in addition to doing the vocal. Other vocalists with the group are Jack "Screwy" Douglas, who specializes on novelty tunes, and Joannie Lang, featured woman singer.

Rogers is probably as well known for his screen work as in the dance field. Because of the inactivity between pictures he decided to organize an orchestra and take it to New York. While there he convinced the late Florenz Ziegfeld that the latter needed his hand in "Hot Cha," Ziegfeld's new show. He was an immediate success and at the termination of the show, he moved into the Pennsylvania Hotel. During the World's Fair, Rogers played at the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman and also at a spot on the Fair grounds. Since then he has played at the Westwood Garden in Detroit as well as appearing on the stage and radio.

Hospital Gives Record

The College hospital reports a new low record for this season in the number of patients, only three having been listed on March 27. They were: Ralph S. Leighty '39, Virginia A. Weaver '37, and Carl A. Korn '39.

Siegler Named New Manager Of Wrestling

Wagner Will Head Gym Team; 9 Awarded Mat Letters.

Set Boxing, Swimming Elections This Week

Robert J. Siegler '37 was named manager of next year's Lion wrestling team at a meeting held last week. Ridgway V. Sharpless '37 was named freshman manager, while Dudley T. Himoff was elected associate.

Three sophomores were selected as first assistants, Thomas W. Brown, George L. Harwick, and George W. Jarden. Alternates are Clifford L. Cramer and John S. Hudnut.

Lettermen in wrestling include the eight regular men who brought the Intercollegiate crown here. Those awarded letters were Captain John H. Light '37, Samuel F. Wolfson '36, Ray O. Brooks '38, Richard C. Waite '36, John H. Calvin '37, Joseph H. Krupa '37, Ross P. Shaffer '38, Joseph S. O'Dowd '37, and manager N. Randolph Cressman '36.

Wagner Gym Manager
Henry H. Wagner '37 was elected manager of the 1936-37 gym team last week. Associate manager is Donald B. Livingston '37. Sophomores named to first assistant managers were John G. Sabela Jr., George K. Stroupe, and Avern W. Taylor.

Lettermen of the gym team were selected at the same time. Winners of the "S" are Captain Peter Lektrick '36, Samuel E. Beck '38, Ray A. Matern '37, Irvin M. Rorabaugh '37, George T. Terwilliger '38, and manager Cyrus Courd '36.

Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, announced that swimming team elections will be held Thursday. Boxing elections are expected to take place later in the week.

Funeral of Parkinson Planned for Thursday

Funeral services for the late Prof. Harry G. Parkinson, of the department of agricultural education, will be held at Prosperity, Washington county, Thursday. It was revealed Sunday in a radiogram to a brother of the deceased.

Members of the Parkinson family, who left Puerto Rico on the S. S. Ponce with the body of the late professor on Thursday night, are expected to arrive in Philadelphia tomorrow morning. The family, according to a cablegram received Saturday by Dean Ralph L. Watts, of the School of Agriculture, expects to make his home in Washington county.

Professor Parkinson died suddenly last Monday of a cerebral hemorrhage, while serving as acting dean of the college of agriculture and mechanical arts at the University of Puerto Rico. He held the position since 1924, when he was granted a leave of absence from the college here. Elaborate funeral services were held for him at Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Wednesday afternoon, according to word received from Prof. John E. McCord, who is also a member of the University of Puerto Rico staff.

'Midsummer Dream' Showing at Altoona

Of particular interest to Penn State is the roadshowing of Max Reinhardt's screen production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Strand Theatre in Altoona for five performances beginning tomorrow night. The premiere will be followed by two performances on Thursday and two on Friday.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" on the screen is a vivid portrayal of spectacle, drama, and fantasy. The play, now spread on the canvas of the screen, is rich in beauty and imagination, brilliant with ballet and music, and faithful to the original in rendition.

Included in the group of sixty-four business, civic, and educational leaders in Blair, Centre, and Huntingdon counties who are serving on a sponsoring committee for "The Dream's" Central Pennsylvania premiere are Paul Sproule, Jr., and J. D. Dye, Jr., of the department of English literature.

Hetzels Return Home

President and Mrs. Ralph D. Hetzel returned to State College Sunday afternoon from Florida where they had been vacationing for the past month. The Hetzels started their return trip from Florida last Sunday.
