Rutherford Announces Opening Of College Golf Course April 15

Bob Rutherford, superintendent of the golf course and coach of the Lion links team, announced in an interview today that the course would be open for play April 15—the day students return from the Easter vacation.

Over the sixteen-year period that Mr. Rutherford has been in charge of the course here, perhaps the most outstanding thing has been the rapid and steady increase in the number of players. Each year more and more students take up the game. According to the genial golf expert, nearly every athlete sooner or later turns to golf.

"In recent years," Mr. Rutherford declared, "people are more and more learning to take up games that they will be able to play when they get old. It's all right for people to play games like baseball and football when they are young, but it is impossible for them to do so when they are out of college. For this reason, golf is becoming more popular every day." Last year saw the heaviest traffic on the course. The daily average was from 200 to 250 players, with more coming on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. At one time Mr. Rutherford used to register each player. He found that the weekly average was from 1000 to 1200.

In stating that the turf this year was in the best condition he has ever seen, Mr. Rutherford pointed out that last winter's unusual weather benefited the course. The heavy snows provided a fine protective blanket and the recent rains settled the turf. With a few more windy days and some sunshine, the course will be ready for what Mr. Rutherford expects to be his greatest season. He has been around golf courses for thirty-six seasons.

Over sixty golfers were out on the course last week. Mr. Rutherford mentioned that with student co-operation, he and his staff of seven men could have the course in top shape soon. He said it would be perfectly all right for students to use the fairways, but that it was essential for them to keep off the greens and tees.

Anti-War Strike Plans Discussed At Meeting

meeting featuring a prominent outside speaker has been planned to climax the day's activities.

The American Student Union was organized at Columbus, O., during the Christmas holidays, when more than 362 delegates from seventy colleges and universities convened to form a national organization of college students. The platform of the American Student Union was drafted at that time as follows:

1. Peace: Endorsement of the Oxford pledge and support of an annual strike against war; opposition to compulsory R. O. T. C.
2. Freedom: Defense of the right of students and teachers to speak or act on major social issues.
3. Security: For passage of comprehensive relief legislation for students, with special reference to the American Youth Act.
4. Education: Sweeping extension of educational facilities.
5. Equality: Opposition to racial discrimination in the schools and colleges, whether in the form of "segregated" education in the South or social discrimination in school activities.
