athletes-especially football play-ers-whom they send to State need

THE PENN STATE COLLEGIAN

Page Three

State Friday 9-3

ers—whom they send to State need more of an indicement than a training table, this progressive group is attempting to provide a more attractive offer to material from not only that section, but from every part of the state. Basehits, errors, strikeouts, argu-ments—and when it was all over, Penn State's baseball team had sound-by trounced Penn 16 to 6.

A survey of fraternity house costs is being made at the present time to ascertain the cost of operating Varsity Hall for both rooming and eating accomodations at least during football season. If enough support-and support will probab-ly have to come entirely from al-umni-can be gained for the pro-posal, it might even be operated during the entire school year.

. * Meanwhile, Bob Higgins is look ing ahead several months, with some tropidation after watching the Panther varsity alumni practice game that marked the end of Pitt's spring training at Pittsburgh Saturday. "It gave me a headache," Bob remarked upon his return. "They have a great team with great possibilities and they know they're good."

* * * From Pero Miller's performance in the Penn game on Saturday it looks as though the Lion fielder has broken the jins that has been following him all season. Hitting a shade under .200 during the first part of the season Pero pulled him. part of the season, Pero pulled him-self out of the slump with his cir-cuit clout over the center field stands in Franklin Field. After Coach Joe Bedenk had moved him down from fourth in the batting order to seventh for Saturday's game, Pero successively grounded out, singled, then hit a homer, and a long fly to left field which was miraculously picked out of the air by Penn's Warwick.

They're already looking over the ion lacrosse team with a view to All-American selections. Sam Parks, who handled Saturday's game here, is one of the five dis-trict chief referees in the American Lacrosse Association, supervis-ing the officiating in this state. Incidentally, the Cornell game was one of the roughest played on New Beaver field in some time, the stickmen spending a total of forty-four minutes in the penalty box.

14

For 4th Win. By JERRY WEINSTEIN

Saturday's victory over Penn was ignificant for many reasons. First, broke the Nittany Lion losing dicate that a strong team is ready + for next year. Only Captain Coletti will be missing next fall if every-thing goes right. streak at three games. Second, it marked the fourth triumph since 1894 in Lion-Quaker rivalry. Third, it was a clean-cut victory over a class A college team. And fourth, it marked the point where Captain Pero Miller pulled out of his batting slump and started to hit once again. Lose To West Chester The Penn win was, slightly shad-owed by the Lions' performance in Fiday's encounter with West Ches-ter. John. Boho, who went the route on the mound against the Teachers. In the first foursome against Cor-nell, Jay Albere lost to Wilcox, 3 and 2, and Johnny Bennett beat Camon the mound against the Teachers, was off to a bad start as four runs were chalked up on two triples, a single, and a base on balls. Boho set-tled down then, and shut out the Teachers with two hits until the sevand 2, and Johnny Bennett beat Cam-eron, 3 and 2. The best ball was halved. Joe Stevenson lost to Bill Smith in the second foursome, 2 and 1, but Coletti defented Roundley, 4 and 3, to also grab the best ball, 1 enth inning. Meanwhile, Penn State collected up. The combination of Siegler and Burkett kept its record unblemished by taking Rodgers and Morton. Both of Siegler's matches ended on the 18th green, with Bob coming through both five hits and one run in seven innings. Singles by Red O'Hora and Boho ac-counted for the score. Otherwise, West Chester's southpaw, Barnes, had little trouble in keeping the Lions away from scoring. West Chester picked up two more runs in the sev-enth, and Penn State scored two in the eighth on singles by Waters, Boho, and Bielicki. The score at that point was 6 to 3 and it looked as if the Lions still had a chance for vic-tory. five hits and one run in seven innings ively.

Pitt Resists in Vain Pitt Resists in Vain The 7-to-2 store against. Pitt was not indicative of the real closeness of the meet. But the Panthers were no match for the hot folgers that State had on the Ithaca Country Club that afternoon. Despite the slow, rough greens, low scores were in vogue.

West Chester's batting attack that order to the set of the solution of the soluti Albere started the Panthers red

Penn Proves To Be Easy Penn Proves To Be Easy With Frank Smith again putting on a near-perfect pitching perform-ance, with every man hitting the ball hard, Penn-State had little trouble with the Quakers. The fact that eight errors were chalked up against Penn takes no credit away from the victory. As a matter of furt at least Coletti divopped to Musico, 2 and 1. From then on, it was all State. Ste-venson took Wasco, 1 up, Siegler best-ed Mease on the 18th, 1 up, and Burk-ett ate dessert over Bachman, 3 and Friday the Cornells took the Pitts

Friday the Cornells took the Pitts, 5-to4. The Panthers fared none too well for the season, dropping all five matches. Princeton won the section with 5 victories and 0 defeats, and State, Georgetown, and Cornell split second place with 3 wins against 2 losses. Penn won 1 and lost 4, while Pitt ended with no victories at all.

Indication of State's superiority over Bucknell. Few of the matches went more than two sets and few sets went into extra games. In only two match-es, the sixth singles and the second doubles, was State extended to three sets. Even taking into consideration the fact that Bucknell was weak and in-effective in both doubles and singles, Intercollegiate Golf association. The scores were 6-to-3 and 7-to-2, respect criterive in both doubles and singles, the match was fairly indicative of State's development since losing the initial match to Cornell. The singles players are now in a state known as nid-season form, but it is in the doubles that the most marked advance ment is seen.

Massey Wins Again

To Overwhelm Bisons S.0;

Dickinson Cancels.

By STEVE CAMPBELL

In the first singles, Massey re-mained undefeated, downing the Bucknell captain, Dunham, 6-3, 6-4. Massey continued his faultless brand Albere started the Fahners reei-ing when he bore his way to a 6 and 5 win over Symonds, Johnny Bennett lost to Pitt's great Souchak, more generally known as the 5th man in enemy backfields, but 'the best ball was salvaged, 1 up. of tennis which has characterized his olay all season.

Jay all season. A capture of the second set of the second second

Çampman Wins 1st Match

Dick Campman, dogged all year by bad luck, won his first match of the season over McDonough of the Bisons by a score of 6-0, 6-3. In the fourth Robeson Tally 4 Goals Apiece.

By FRANCIS SZYMCZAK

Playing their best golf of the year, the Lions out-did their coach's pro-The Penn State lacrosse team regneet predictions by exactly 100 per cent. Rutherford had predicted a split. Tieing Cornell and Georgetown for second place in the conference does no send the team to Connecticut this week-end for the play-offs, but it does in-

Bucknell Match

while Himon, Hasek, Conley, and Lotz scored singles. Both team made the game interest-ing for spectators by an unusual amount of roughness, body blocking and "slashing." State had 21 min-Netters Capture Every Match and Susanny. State and 21 mills of the penalty box while Cornell received 24. Most of the fouls were called because of unnecessary clipping and using the crosses or sticks in a helligerent manner.

Cornell Leads in 3rd Period

The Lion net team made a clean State led the scoring in the first, econd and fourth quarters, while the sweep of the matches on the new varsweep of the matches on the new var-second and fourth quarters, while the sity courts Saturday afternoon, de-Big Red had a one-goal advantage in feating the Bisons of Bucknell 9 to 0. Even the overwhelming score is no indication of State's superiority over ment for score three times to the Lions' men to score three times to the Lions men to score three times to the Lions' two goals in the third. Close shooting was poor with the Blue and White missing 15 tries. Cor-nell's goalie stopped 10 State drives. Captain Gerber had the highest number of goals scored on him so far this season when six tough ones zipped past past him into the net. He stopped 15 attempts and ran the ball to the center of the field many times to give the attackmen time to get into position.

Robeson Scores Twice Robeson Scores I wice Robeson scores the first goal six minutes after the quarter began on a pass from Hoft. Chewning scored a minute later for the visitors. Rum-baugh scored the final tally during the first stanza when he scopped up a ground ball to score from the left side

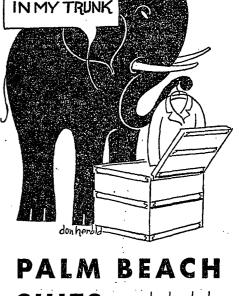

Beats Kiski, 12-4 Harrison, Barantovich Slam Out

Circuit Clouts To Begin Scoring for Cubs.

ha tal.	RumbaughI H Chewning
uto of	Robeson Monial
nhanah	Himoff1 ASorre
ceistad	Hasek2 AMeyrowitz
conrod	ConleyCStofer
m trand	Hoft1 DVan Flee
to the	Kilfoil2 DHolochwost
to the	FosterPNunr
apiece.	Proksa C P Wilson
e State	ProksäC PWilsor GerberGKeelei
iensive	Cista and stitutions Cimera Ti
pree of	State substitutions: Simpson, Eis-

The Penn State lacrosse team reg-istered its third straight victory in overpowering Cornell's ten, 12-to-6, on New Beaver Field before 1500 Mothers' Day visitors, Saturday. Vet-erans Robeson and Runbaugh led the Lions' scoring with four goals each, the fund quarter running the ball state of quarters, 15 min-two minutes after running the ball

I HARDLY

NOTICE

THEM

SUITS pack lightly

They pack lightly in your trunk or suitcase...but, more important still, they pack lightly on your person.

