Between The Lions

By BOB GRUBB If you were to ask the country's leading sports writers to cite the amateur who has provided the most sensational copy during the past year, probably nine-tenths of them would tell you Eddie O'Brien, Syracuse's track star. The Orange streak's rise to fame in the sphere of sports during the pat year has been nothing short of meteoric and his record-breaking activities have provided newspapers with endless columns of copy.

Again the age-old need of more tennis courts is brought to the fore as accomodations on the local clay are at a premium. Recently, it has been charged that high school students and townspeople are making use of the college courts, thus depriving students use of the corts. The lack of seating accomodations around the varsity courts discour-

When the Penn State lacrosse team meets Syracuse tomorrow, Coach Nick Thiel's charges will have to watch one of the Orange hith scorers, Fran Thiel, who is a brother of the Lion mentor. Fran is a junior, playing out-home and is the third of his family to play for Syracuse. The Orange's coach, Roy Simmons, who also coaches boxing, tutored Nick in the rudiments of the "Indian game" only it few years ago, and under Roy's tutclage, Nick developed into an All-American.

Varsity Baseball and Lacrosse Teams Meet Syracuse, Colgate In Games Away This Week-end

Bedenk Plans To Shift Pero Miller to Third, Fisher to Outfield for Colgate Tilt; Simoncelli Will Pitch Today

Penn State's baseball and lacrosse teams left yesterday for upper New York State to meet teams from Colgate and Syracuse over the week-end. Colgate will provide the opposition today and Syracuse tomorrow in both Coach Joe Bedenk, in leading his nine into two of the toughest gan of the season, may make a radical change in the line-up. Today's game may see Captain Pero Miller helding down the third base post, with Carl Fisher being shifted to the outfield. The reason for the possible change would be to increase the batting power without perceptibly weakening the fielding defense. Miller played short stop two years ago when Red O'Hora was out for a few games with an injury.

The mound choice for the Colgate encounter will be the lone southpaw on the squad, Ben Simoncelli. Against yracuse tomorrow, Frank Smith will attempt to preserve the fine record he has established in the five games in which he has appeared this year.

The Red Raiders from Hamilton have won six of their eight games this season. Syracuse has been even more impressive, having taken seven games in eight starts. The records of the two teams indicate a hard task for the Lion nine on their third long oad jaunt of the season.

One of the Colgate defeats came at the hands of Syracuse, in a loosely played game. The score was 17 to 6. Colgate's chief hope against the Liens will be 1806 "Lefty" Wright, pitcher, who has won three games against no defeats.

St. Lawrence, the small college that produced Hal Schumacher, star pitcher of the New York Giants, was the only team that beat Syracuse this year. In this game, Howie Anderson, leading batter of the team, suffered a broken leg.

Tennis Team Meets Navy, Bullets Away

Nittany Lions Favored Over Gettysburg; Navy Strong.

By STEVE CAMPBELL he Nittany Lion tennis team will to stretch their winning streak to four straight victories this week-end when they meet the Gettysburg Bullets at Gettysburg and Navy at Annapolis, Md.

Annapolis, Md.

A team of seven men left State College early this morning. They expect to arrive at Getty-burg at noon and after resting a few hours will engage Getty-burg at 2 o'clock. The team plans to leave Getty-burg mediately after the match and will travel to Annapolis, where they will stay exemplest. stay overnight.

Gettysburg is not expected to offer too much of a threat to the Lions, de-spite a few impressive victories. Last week, the Bullets defeated both Drexel and a strong Western Maryland team, but dropped a 5-4 contest to Haverford.

Navy Match a Toss-up Berkowitz, of Gettysburg, who has been undefeated in the last three contests, should offer more opposition to Paul Massey than any of his past opponents. Massey probably has too much experincee and technique, however, and should win his match.

Pann State has a batter shape of Penn State has a better chance of defeating Navy than any time in the past coon's age or so. Navy has a considerably weaker team this year and has dropped a couple of contests, one by an overwhelming score. The Gobs are not to be underestimated, however, for they should play better tennis than any team met so far this year. Even though Navy is as relatively weak as they are reported to be, the match is still something of a 1st Stiff Match

Line-up Shifted

The line-up will remain the same in only one respect: Massey will continue to play in No. 1 singles position. Campman, playing in third position last week, will probably be boosted into No. 2 place, with Capt. Jimmy Smith falling back into third the line-up remains indefinite. Four men, Miller, Patt, Perry, and John-Th.
