

Seniors Get Graduation Instructions

Baccalaureate Service To Start Sunday At 11 O'clock. Monday, June 8, Set For Commencement

During the past week, instruction sheets were distributed to seniors for the Commencement and Baccalaureate services.

Prof. Frizzell Speaks In Chapel on Today's Worship, Magic Word

"Worship and the Magic Word for Today" was the topic of the address given by Prof. John H. Frizzell, college chaplain, at the regular chapel service in Schwab auditorium Sunday.

"What we need is something to give life unity as a whole to keep us from flying-off at random. This need offers an appeal for worship," Professor Frizzell said.

The magic words of former generations have been liberty and progress and the word of our day is security, the speaker said.

"Love is life, and God is love," Professor Frizzell said. "Therefore of the simple needs of life, worship is necessary for work, love, and play because we seek with worship to find true understanding of love and God.

Bair Accepts Position With Mellon Institute

Prof. George F. Bair, of the department of Ceramics in the School of Mineral Industries, has resigned his position here to take a post in the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh.

Professor Bair was graduated from Penn State in 1927 in Ceramics Engineering and later received his Masters Degree. During 1934-35, he was granted a leave of absence to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and will be granted his Doctor of Science degree from there this June.

Spring Varsity Athletes Attain Highest of All-College Averages

Scholastic averages of spring varsity athletic teams are above that of the all-college averages of men students, a survey reveals.

Leading the teams scholastically is Bob Rutherford's golf aggregation. The golfers average 1.48. The lacrosse team is second with 1.43, and the track squad third with 1.23.

Bennett Leads Linksmen John R. Bennett '37 has the highest average on the leading golf team with a record of 2.24.

'Froth' Selects Dugan as Editor

Schott Made Business Manager; New Board Will Supervise Work on Last Issue.

James T. Dugan '37 was chosen editor-in-chief of Froth, campus humor magazine, at elections Sunday night.

Members of the senior editorial board are Homer K. Luttringer '37, assistant editor; William Gookin '37, exchange editor; Betty F. Sanders '37, women's editor; Anne M. Bowers '37, recording secretary; Betty M. Raughley '37, correspondence secretary; and Silom S. Horwitz '39, staff photographer.

Business Staff Selections The business staff selections included Raymond H. Schimmel '37, circulation manager; George M. Chamberlain '37 and Sidney Jaffe '37, advertising managers.

Better Year Predicted Froth is preparing for a better year, according to Joseph Intorre, circulation manager, who predicts an increase of twenty-five per cent in local advertising and circulation.

Wiggins Named Head Cheerleader for '37

Walter S. Wiggins '37 was named head cheerleader for next year, it was announced today.

He Holds 20,000 Car Drivers' Destinies

Neyhart's Life-saving Method Via Auto-Driving Lauded.

"I can show you how to save 20,000 lives each year." This statement was startling enough when it was said before the National Safety Congress at Louisville, Ky., last October, but when in the Reader's Digest for May your reporter found it was made by a young engineering professor from this campus, he was more than startled.

The professor is Amos E. Neyhart. His method of saving lives involves the technique of automobile driving. This last year he has been conducting courses in the State College high school. He teaches children how to operate motor vehicles safely.

Coletti '36, 1.86. The lacrosse team is paced by Elwood M. Douthett '36 with an all-college mark of 2.22.

Track Athlete Highest The distinction of being the athlete with the highest scholastic standing goes to Hillard W. Himes '38 of the track team.

Herbert F. Peterson '38 has the highest all-college average on the baseball team with 2.20.

Paul G. Perry '37 heads the tennis players with 1.89. Paul R. Massey '37 attained a mark of 1.50, while Captain James L. Smith '36 has an average of 1.22.

Commenting on the survey, which was made by Hugh R. Riley Jr., sports editor in the department of Public Information, William S. Hoffman, College Registrar, said that he has found soccer teams in the fall and wrestling teams in winter to have the best scholastic standing among the athletes.

Phi Eta Sigma To Hold Banquet

Scholastic Honorary to Initiate 53 Tonight; Will Announce Award Winners.

Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman scholastic honorary fraternity, will hold its annual banquet in the Old Main Sandwich Shop at 7 o'clock tonight.

The sophomores to be initiated are Robert J. Baxter, Ronald G. Forbes, Morton Fromm, Hillard W. Himes, Frank A. Itken, George W. Jarden, Melvin L. Smith, Charles H. Teller, and John T. Tuch.

James L. Keller, Thomas S. Kelly, Robert E. Kirby, Edwin R. Kirk, Victor H. Kremens, Joseph P. Kriss, Albert P. Leonzi, Sidney H. Lepovetsky, Vito J. Lettieri, George K. LeVan, Lawrence Limbert, Arthur M. Longacre, Harold N. Meyer, Robert W. Miller, George J. Morris, Frank M. Peters, Russell D. Rotham, George F. Umer, Ellis Schein, Jerome Shaffer, Francis J. Sitek, Sidney S. Sklaroff, Charles N. Smith, Walter A. Snow, Louis Stein, Edwin K. Taylor, William R. Wilson, and Robert M. Yahres.

Asserts 65 Per Cent Of Mishaps Result From Mistakes.

ly before they had developed bad habits, these deaths would be eliminated. His idea was heralded with acclaim at the convention, as well as in the Digest article and in the Rotarian magazine.

His first move last year to motivate his campaign to teach proper driving was to get permission to ask for volunteers from the local high school. He found many. With no financial aid he undertook to teach them how to drive cars. He illustrated on the road behind the wheel. It was an open road laboratory — the first of its kind.

Using his own car and his own gasoline, Professor Neyhart conducted his classes on his own time. Two were held each morning at 4 and 5 o'clock. Training was intensive and thorough. The youngsters were eager to learn. So far, 83 have been taught and 23 are still being instructed. To date, none has so much as scratched a fender.

Political Heads Will Start New Campus Society

Committee Draws Up Plans To Present For Approval.

Group Expects Little Trouble With Senate

The COLLEGIAN learned today that a new campus honorary society for politicians is regarded as an almost certainty in political circles.

Secret meetings of political leaders for over a month have been instrumental in drawing up a purpose and a constitution to submit to Student Board for approval.

May Be Hat Society When interviewed, Clements and Thomas H. Moore '38, junior Locust Lane chairman, to whom Clements went with his plan, did not know whether the society would have a hat or a key. It was thought that a hat would be preferred.

The constitution, modeled after that of Penn State student government, is not yet completed. As soon as it is finished and complete plans are drawn, the plan will be submitted to Student Board for approval.

Lewis Selected Editor of 'Bell'

Kann Made Business Manager; Subscription Campaign Will Start in Fall.

Richard Lewis '37 was elected editor of the Old Main Bell, campus literary and opinion magazine, and William L. Kann jr. '37 was selected business manager at a meeting of the board Sunday night.

Editorial Associates Chosen Editorial associates are Betty F. Sanders '37, E. Townsend Swalm '37, Donald B. Livingston '37, Robert Wisstrand '38, Stephen J. Campbell '38, and John D. Cledinien '38.

Eight New Members Selected by Forensic Group for Next Year

Eight students, including three juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen, were appointed to Forensic Council for next year at a meeting held recently.

Amelia Brooks Honored

Amelia Brooks '36, a student in the department of architecture, has been awarded a fellowship in architecture by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Asserts 65 Per Cent Of Mishaps Result From Mistakes.

ly before they had developed bad habits, these deaths would be eliminated. His idea was heralded with acclaim at the convention, as well as in the Digest article and in the Rotarian magazine.

His first move last year to motivate his campaign to teach proper driving was to get permission to ask for volunteers from the local high school. He found many. With no financial aid he undertook to teach them how to drive cars. He illustrated on the road behind the wheel. It was an open road laboratory — the first of its kind.

Using his own car and his own gasoline, Professor Neyhart conducted his classes on his own time. Two were held each morning at 4 and 5 o'clock. Training was intensive and thorough. The youngsters were eager to learn. So far, 83 have been taught and 23 are still being instructed. To date, none has so much as scratched a fender.

Marty McAndrews May Fill Vacancy On Coaching Staff As Lion Freshman Football Mentor in Place of Walke

Players To Present Famous Old 'Meller-drammer,' Topsy 'n Eva

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," once the North to rise in righteous indignation over the inhumane treatment of Southern slaves, but which has since become a hilarious slap-stick comedy, will be presented by the Penn State Players in Schwab auditorium June 5.

Originally a serious piece of work, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is now a production to which our moderns go to hiss the villain and weep for the heroine with mock emotion.

Lucas Brightman '36, and Marie (Cecile G. Metz '39), along with Aunt Ophelia (Teresa C. Mruvintz '36), weep bitterly.

Brutal realism a la Harriet Beecher Stowe is introduced as Simon Legree (Wickliffe W. Crider '36), epitome of the vicious villain, beats Uncle Tom (Harry W. Reed '38), to death.

Originally a serious piece of work, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is now a production to which our moderns go to hiss the villain and weep for the heroine with mock emotion.

When interviewed, Clements and Thomas H. Moore '38, junior Locust Lane chairman, to whom Clements went with his plan, did not know whether the society would have a hat or a key. It was thought that a hat would be preferred.

The purpose of the organization, yet unnamed, is cited in the constitution as follows:

"1. To foster cooperative relationship between campus political cliques. 2. To aid in making campus politics a recognized activity on the Penn State campus. 3. To encourage and promote high standards in the conduct of campus political affairs. 4. To aid in determining the rules and regulations of class elections. 5. To exert influence in enforcing College rules, customs, and traditions."

The purpose intimates that although Lions Paw, senior honorary, will conduct the elections in Old Main in former years, that they will not be bothered with the formulation of the rules and the setting of the election dates. Leaders in the movement believe that this can best be accomplished by the contestants themselves, and that the drawn rules can be given to Lions Paw for approval.

The committee hopes to have definite action made on the society before the conclusion of the academic year.

Business staff selections were William E. Hothan '37, advertising manager; Julius Marymor '38, circulation manager; and David McFarland jr. '38, sales manager. Associates include Henry B. Braunstein '39 and George Wetherstein '38.

Editorial associates are Betty F. Sanders '37, E. Townsend Swalm '37, Donald B. Livingston '37, Robert Wisstrand '38, Stephen J. Campbell '38, and John D. Cledinien '38.

The next issue of the Old Main Bell will appear at the end of the month. It is the last number of the present college term. An intensive subscription campaign will start during Freshman Week next fall.

Eight students, including three juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen, were appointed to Forensic Council for next year at a meeting held recently.

Amelia Brooks '36, a student in the department of architecture, has been awarded a fellowship in architecture by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

ly before they had developed bad habits, these deaths would be eliminated. His idea was heralded with acclaim at the convention, as well as in the Digest article and in the Rotarian magazine.

His first move last year to motivate his campaign to teach proper driving was to get permission to ask for volunteers from the local high school. He found many. With no financial aid he undertook to teach them how to drive cars. He illustrated on the road behind the wheel. It was an open road laboratory — the first of its kind.

Using his own car and his own gasoline, Professor Neyhart conducted his classes on his own time. Two were held each morning at 4 and 5 o'clock. Training was intensive and thorough. The youngsters were eager to learn. So far, 83 have been taught and 23 are still being instructed. To date, none has so much as scratched a fender.

ly before they had developed bad habits, these deaths would be eliminated. His idea was heralded with acclaim at the convention, as well as in the Digest article and in the Rotarian magazine.

Meanwell Out as Choice For Basketball Post For Next Year.

Grid Coaching Staff Slowly Takes Shape

By BOB GRUBB Sports Editor

With the selection of a new basketball coach still pending upon an agreement between Director Hugo Beadek and the personnel committee of the Athletic Board of Control, it became apparent today that at least one of the vacancies existing on the Lion coaching staff is about to be filled.

It was learned on reliable authority that Marty McAndrews, former Lion varsity center and boxing captain in 1930, is to be recommended for the post of freshman football coach which will be vacated by Nels Walke, who is applying for a year's leave of absence.

Appointment of McAndrews to the freshman coaching position would be the first link in the new coaching staff.

Head Coach Bob Higgins is expected to recommend to Director Beadek a new man to take a position on the varsity coaching staff. Then, with Joe Bedenk remaining as line coach, the varsity football staff would be completed by the naming of a successor to Earl S. (Spike) Leslie, who, in addition to his duties as basketball coach, held a position on the football staff.

McAndrews Now at Bucknell The name of McAndrews is something of an institution in Penn State athletic circles. His prowess in the boxing ring and on the gridiron won Marty the 1930 award of Outstanding Athlete. During his senior year he was varsity center on the football team and captained the ringmen, winning the light-heavyweight crown in the Eastern Association.

After completing work for his master's degree here in 1931, McAndrews went to Lebanon Valley where he served as assistant to Edward E. "Hooks" Mylin. When Mylin went to Bucknell as head football coach the next year, Marty accompanied him and has been on the Bison coaching staff ever since.

Appointment Not Definite While McAndrews' selection awaits final action of the Board of Trustees, his recommendation by the personnel committee and Director Beadek is tantamount to appointment to the position. While McAndrews would fill the coaching position left vacant by Walke, it is not probable that he will take over entirely the instructional duties which Walke held because he lacks certain academic qualifications.

A current rumor in local athletic circles concerning the selection of Dr. James G. Meanwell, now director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, as basketball coach seems to be without foundation. While it is known that Meanwell was one of the applicants for the position, it appears unlikely that he meets with the favor of the personnel committee. From a list of candidates for the position, the personnel committee will make a selection when it meets June 6 and a recommendation will be made to the Board of Trustees at that time.

Extensive Tour Planned According to John Martindale, extension director at Brookwood College: "Our students are not Broadway actors or dramatists, yet their performances have won the acclaim of critics and audiences in all parts of the country. Their lack of finish is more than compensated for by the spirit in which they act these plays."

This, the fifth year of the Brookwood players' tours, marks the most extensive tour that the players have made. More than 150 performances will be given in towns in a wide spread area including Boston, in the northeast; Minneapolis, in the west; and Birmingham, in the south. For the purpose of the tour the Brookwood student body is divided into three groups, each covering a section of the country.

P. S. Club's Activities For Year To Conclude With Spring Banquet

The annual spring banquet of the Penn State club will be held in the Old Main Sandwich Shop Saturday at 6 o'clock. This will be the last official meeting of the club and plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, and Prof. Robert E. Galbraith, of the department of English composition, will speak. Prof. Hummel Fishburn, of the department of music, will play several of his own arrangements of old-time pieces on the piano.

The new officers will be in charge of the banquet, with the outgoing officers as guests of the club. Wesley C. Mohrken '36, outgoing president, will give a farewell address. Tickets are being sold by the present officers at the price of 25 cents for club members and 50 cents for non-members.

Fifty-four persons attended the spring outing hike of the club to Shingletown Gap Sunday. A treasure hunt was held. Prizes of a camera, an Eversharp pencil, and a can of cigarettes were given to the men while boxes of candy were awarded to the three women winners.

Gown Deadline Today

Caps and gowns may be obtained by seniors for the last time today from 1 to 5 o'clock at the Athletic store, Albert C. Herbert '36, chairman of the caps and gowns committee, announced today.

Grid Coaching Staff Slowly Takes Shape

By BOB GRUBB Sports Editor

With the selection of a new basketball coach still pending upon an agreement between Director Hugo Beadek and the personnel committee of the Athletic Board of Control, it became apparent today that at least one of the vacancies existing on the Lion coaching staff is about to be filled.

It was learned on reliable authority that Marty McAndrews, former Lion varsity center and boxing captain in 1930, is to be recommended for the post of freshman football coach which will be vacated by Nels Walke, who is applying for a year's leave of absence.

Appointment of McAndrews to the freshman coaching position would be the first link in the new coaching staff.

Head Coach Bob Higgins is expected to recommend to Director Beadek a new man to take a position on the varsity coaching staff. Then, with Joe Bedenk remaining as line coach, the varsity football staff would be completed by the naming of a successor to Earl S. (Spike) Leslie, who, in addition to his duties as basketball coach, held a position on the football staff.

McAndrews Now at Bucknell The name of McAndrews is something of an institution in Penn State athletic circles. His prowess in the boxing ring and on the gridiron won Marty the 1930 award of Outstanding Athlete. During his senior year he was varsity center on the football team and captained the ringmen, winning the light-heavyweight crown in the Eastern Association.

After completing work for his master's degree here in 1931, McAndrews went to Lebanon Valley where he served as assistant to Edward E. "Hooks" Mylin. When Mylin went to Bucknell as head football coach the next year, Marty accompanied him and has been on the Bison coaching staff ever since.

Appointment Not Definite While McAndrews' selection awaits final action of the Board of Trustees, his recommendation by the personnel committee and Director Beadek is tantamount to appointment to the position. While McAndrews would fill the coaching position left vacant by Walke, it is not probable that he will take over entirely the instructional duties which Walke held because he lacks certain academic qualifications.

A current rumor in local athletic circles concerning the selection of Dr. James G. Meanwell, now director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, as basketball coach seems to be without foundation. While it is known that Meanwell was one of the applicants for the position, it appears unlikely that he meets with the favor of the personnel committee. From a list of candidates for the position, the personnel committee will make a selection when it meets June 6 and a recommendation will be made to the Board of Trustees at that time.

Extensive Tour Planned According to John Martindale, extension director at Brookwood College: "Our students are not Broadway actors or dramatists, yet their performances have won the acclaim of critics and audiences in all parts of the country. Their lack of finish is more than compensated for by the spirit in which they act these plays."

This, the fifth year of the Brookwood players' tours, marks the most extensive tour that the players have made. More than 150 performances will be given in towns in a wide spread area including Boston, in the northeast; Minneapolis, in the west; and Birmingham, in the south. For the purpose of the tour the Brookwood student body is divided into three groups, each covering a section of the country.

P. S. Club's Activities For Year To Conclude With Spring Banquet

The annual spring banquet of the Penn State club will be held in the Old Main Sandwich Shop Saturday at 6 o'clock. This will be the last official meeting of the club and plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, and Prof. Robert E. Galbraith, of the department of English composition, will speak. Prof. Hummel Fishburn, of the department of music, will play several of his own arrangements of old-time pieces on the piano.

The new officers will be in charge of the banquet, with the outgoing officers as guests of the club. Wesley C. Mohrken '36, outgoing president, will give a farewell address. Tickets are being sold by the present officers at the price of 25 cents for club members and 50 cents for non-members.

Fifty-four persons attended the spring outing hike of the club to Shingletown Gap Sunday. A treasure hunt was held. Prizes of a camera, an Eversharp pencil, and a can of cigarettes were given to the men while boxes of candy were awarded to the three women winners.

Gown Deadline Today

Caps and gowns may be obtained by seniors for the last time today from 1 to 5 o'clock at the Athletic store, Albert C. Herbert '36, chairman of the caps and gowns committee, announced today.