

More Than 125 Aspirants Report To Coach McAndrews for Berths On Lion Freshman Football Team

Plebe-Kiski Encounter To Open Schedule Of 5 Games

Selecting a team of eleven men from the 125 freshman football candidates that reported for berths on the team yesterday afternoon is the task that Coach Marty McAndrews, new Lion plebe gridiron mentor, faces. With a group of this size, among which are included a number of high school stars, the outlook for the yearling eleven should be very encouraging.

The five-game schedule lists the first game of the season as the encounter with Kiski Prep School. This will be played the Saturday morning of the Alumni Homecoming weekend and will precede the varsity contest with Villanova. The remainder of the schedule calls for the plebes to meet Scranton-Keystone College on October 24, Pitt freshmen on October 31 at Pittsburgh, Bucknell freshmen the week-end of November 7, and the Syracuse freshmen at Syracuse on November 14.

McAndrews Famed Athlete
The name of McAndrews is something of an institution at this college. His prowess in the boxing ring and skilled piloting on the gridiron won him the "outstanding athlete" award in 1929-30. During his senior year, he was varsity center of the Nittany eleven, and captained the intercollegiate championship Lion ringmen.

He also won the Eastern light heavy-weight title at Philadelphia that year. Following his graduation here in 1930, he returned to school to receive his master's degree the following year. While doing the graduate work he held the position of boxing instructor at the Pennsylvania State Police training school at Hershey, as well as acted as line coach at three colleges. He maintained the position with the training school at Hershey until the past year.

In 1930 McAndrews was line mentor at Dickinson College under head coach "Red" Griffith. Three years later he joined the coaching staff of Lebanon Valley under "Hooks" Mylin, and followed Mylin to Bucknell as line coach in 1934 and 1935. He held that position until he was elected to the faculty of this college to fulfill the vacancy of Nels S. Walke, former freshman football mentor, who was granted a leave of absence last spring.

Al Lewis '32, Boxer Supreme, Returns for Talkative Day

A fellow that is just about the cream of State's boxing crop, Al Lewis '32, by name, was in town over the week-end. Al was 145-pound Eastern Intercollegiate champion for three years and National champion for one. That qualifies him for something.

And while he was here he divulged that he never turned pro after graduation because he didn't consider himself that much of a sucker. Which is quite a statement, when one stops to consider the State flashes that have done so. We mention no names and we throweth no stones.

Al figures that by the time managers, trainers, advisors, and chiselers (as well as publicity men) are paid off that a pro has a darn tough time making a part-time job pay. And if it isn't part-time, the pro just doesn't last very long.

Right now Al Lewis is down in Washington, Pa., promoting amateur fights and doing resettlement work for the government. He started out by promoting some novice tournaments and picking the most likely boys and developing them. He claims he has some of them ready for important fights.

"I have some boys you'll hear from later on," said Al.

Al was in town with a freshman footballer by the name of Toth from Canonsburg. He brought him up.

Lewis was in quite a talkative mood, a natural one, says he. He told lots of interesting stories about yesterday, notable of which was the trip he and Doggy Alexander made to Springfield.

Rods Prevent Damage

Lightning rods correctly installed will prevent serious damage by fire from electrical storms, says John R. Haswell, extension agricultural engineer at Penn State. Further information on the subject can be found in Haswell's article, "Protection from Lightning," which appears in Farmer's Bulletin 1512.

accuse after his last boxing season. Both Al and Dave Sloop were invited. Al went.

The party was composed of Al, Doggy, and Hunky Joe Miller, a footballer. An interesting event was the fine that Doggy had to pay for running a stop sign and for which he is still trying to collect.

Al has a brother who is to decide between Duke and Indiana this month and who is also a fighter. "I'd like him to come here," he said, "but you know how it goes."

With the Pen That Students Rate Highest
BY ACTUAL VOTE
Invented by a College Professor to Bring You Higher Grades
A college professor noticed that poor grades are often due not to brains running low but to pens running dry!
So he worked out an utterly different and basically better pen principle—and Geo. S. Parker engineered it to perfection.
Thus came the revolutionary Parker Vacumatic that has superseded every old-style pen—both scribe and ballpoint.
Recently the student editors of 30 college papers asked 4,999 of their readers, "Which make of pen do you own? Which pen do you prefer?"
To both questions more students answered "Parker" than any other two makes of pens COMBINED!
One reason is that the Vacumatic ink supply is EVER-VISIBLE—the ENTIRE length of the barrel. It isn't merely last-drop visibility—doesn't merely show when your pen is empty. It shows days ahead WHEN IT'S RUNNING LOW, so it can't run dry against your will.
The Vacumatic's working parts are sealed in the top. VISIBLE INK CAN NEVER TOUCH THEM—can never decompose them. That's why this miracle pen is GUARANTEED mechanically perfect.
And the Parker Vacumatic has no rubber ink sac or lever filler—hence has room for 102% more ink without increase in size!
Its luminous, laminated Pearl style has won every pen Beauty Contest by 2 to 1. Go and see it today at any good store selling pens. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wis.
