Page Two

PENN STATE COLLEGIAN Successor to The Free Lance, established 1887 THE MANAGING BOARD JOHNSON BRENNEMAN '37 ALAN NG BOARD ALAN L. SMITH '37 Business Manager KENNETI' W. ENGEL '37 Advertising Manager PHILIR A. SCHWARKZ '37 Greek SCHWARKZ '37 Circelation Manager HWIN ROTH '37 Foreign Advertising Manager JEAN Sector Manager JEAN Sector Manager BEGINAG', RYAN '37 Women's News Editor JOHNSON HRENNEMAN '37 E. TOWNSEND SWALM '37 Managine Editor PHILIP S. HEISLER '37 W. News Editor W. NOBERT GIUBB '37 RICHARD LEWIS '37 Feature Editor MARION A. RINGER '37 Women's Editor Women's Sasaging Editor Seein' Things: about those fellows who are apparently surveying the campus . . . wondering what they were doing, what they saw, and just wondering in general. Well, the enigma has been solved. for as I was walking down the front campus the other day one of the tripods was set up near the walk and I saw one fellow looking through the instrument, another fellow taking down ASSOCIATE EDITORS Woodrow W. Rierly '33 Francis H. Szymczak Jerome Weinstein '33 Charles M. Wheeler jr. '38 notes, and a few others crowded around. After hesi-tatingly deciding that I would brave the stares of the engineers. I walked over to the group and heard the ASSOCIATE BUSINESS MANAGERS tellow who was doing the looking call out to the fel-Jay H. Daniels '38 Carl W. Diehl '38 Robert E. Elliott jr. '38 Kathryn M. Jennizgs '38 Robert S. Makelvey '38 John G. Sabella '38 low who was doing the scribbling: WOMEN'S ASSOCIATE EDITORS Shirley R. Helms '38 Geotgin H. Powers '38 Caroline Tyson '38 Managing Editor This Issue_____Woodrow W. Bierly '33 News Editor This Issue_____Charles M. Wheeler, jr. '37 Friday, October 9, 1936 In the mad scramble I finally did get a peek and sure enough, there was Iola Murray strutting across

GENTLEMEN AND SCHOLARS

(Continued from page one)

Earle was the guest of the town and of President Hetzel. That alone should have been assurance of every possible courtesy. But as the Governor of Pennsylvania even more regard was due him.

It also seems unnecessary to mention the effect it is likely to have upon this College's appropriation at the next session of the Legislature. George H. Earle is a gentleman. It is not likely that he will allow his personal feelings-whatever they may be-to color his attitude as Governor toward Penn State. While he cannot help but feel hurt at his reception, we are certain that it will not influence any decision that he may make regarding this College.

On Monday night Penn State's students disgraced themselves. They perhaps placed in jeopardy the State's appropriation to their College. But they did something more serious than either of these.

IN HIS term as Governor, George H. Earle has proved that he is a champion of freedom and liberty. Any open-minded citizen or student, regardless of his political beliefs, will admit that fact.

He has denounced teachers' oaths and has opposed all legislation that seemed likely to stifle academic free-

He has announced that the state militia will no longer be used-as it was in the past-as a strike-breaking tool.

He has fought attempts of the administration of the Mellon-controlled University of Pittsburgh to curb and limit academic freedom there.

He has exerted all the powers of his office to provide food, clothing, and shelter for the jobless in the State.

He is a representative of the first political party to attempt to do anything for the youth of this nation. And for the man who has done and who stands for these things Penn State students had nothing but boos and insults.

College students are representative of the higher social and intellectual level. If a speaker can expect a fair and unprejudiced hearing anywhere it should be in a college town before an audience of "gentlemen and scholars."

Yet on Monday night, a fair-sized proportion of these "gentlemen and scholars" demonstrated conclusively that they were neither. They refused to listen to a man for no other reason than that he "belonged to the wrong side." They would not allow others to hear him. They interrupted his speech with irrelevant questions and when he attempted to answer them would not listen.

It is axiomatic that we are living in a period of social and economic change. If that change is to be for the better it will be necessary for those who are the leaders to study the problems which they face carefully and critically. Our educational system is supposed to train them to do this.

Does anyone who was on Co-op Corner Monday night believe that it does?

While it is perhaps true that it was only a minority of the students who were active in the booing, it is equally true that it is the active minority that leads any movement-no matter how important.

The important thing about Monday night is not that a few students insulted Governor Earle while those about them did nothing to stop it.

The important thing to note is that these students proved by their actions that the educational system of - THE PENN STATE COLLEGIAN

Letter Box CINEMANIA

The letter in Tuesday's Collecian was written by R. Edward Dimmich

To the Editor:

CAMPUSEER

For the past four years now I've been wondering

Height-5'3"

Neck-12.2

Bust-36

Waist-24

the walk in front of Old Main. Surveying is a great Quips of the week honors go to Drs. Werner and Alderfer. Werner was droning on in his dry monotone in which so many of his dry cracks are buried when he pulled, "London's most famous work was 'The Call of the Wild.' It was put on the stage and on the screen. In the silent version Rin Tin Tin was starred and the talkie version had Clark Gable.' Dr. Alderfer, back from an extended trip, vented this odorous epigram, "In Boston they live on baked beans and in Long Island they live on the sound."

But before you go forming any high opinion about our faculty there's another story you should hear. It seems that an attorney from Hahvahd, don't you know, was visiting the campus this week, and having some time to kill he ambled (all hahvahd men amble) into the Registrar's office and inquired, "Could you tell me, dear lady, whether or not there is a class being conducted this hour by any nationally known professor that I could visit?" The clerk thought a moment and then confessed that there was

Our own Sports Editor just back from the Slate Belt thought he would glim the gridiron greensward when up jumps Jack McLaughlin, first assistant manager and clamorously cries that no common peo-ple are allowed on the field when the team is pracestablish his identity as not one of the common herd and everything was fine until he challenged us.

ning at Saturday's game was done by the Blue Band that that picture which you had taken Wednesday evening was for a application for a position as a Liq-uor Lounge hostess . . . When the history depart-ment congratulated the COLLEGIAN in class for not printing anything about the Earle speech Kathleen

+ + +

Noerr laughed and laughed because she knew the CoL

And then there is the old, old saying "the Bez is none too good" . . . Marion Ringer's portrait graces the most prominent part of Walt Peterson's desk... the Chi O's got their plaque back ... the thief was a kappa sig . . . Then there was the Pi K. A. who, when he was losing too much money in a poker game the other night and äidn't want to be a piker and quit, called up the president of the house and im-personating the Dean of Men demanded that the poker game be cancelled . . . Aside to the Daily Half Colyumist—stop it, you have us all erazy reading the ads looking for something funny . . . The Mug and Jester saily laments the innocence of the students since there are so few hellraisers to supply column items . . . we too . . . Hugh Ralston predicts the score

Penn State 33, Villanova 6, with the Wildcats get-ting their only goal in the third quarter . . . The main reason for playing Muhlenberg this year was to get revenge at their coach who rubbed it in when they defeated the Lions three years ago and now when the Lions did wallon them they were under a new coach . . See you at the COLLEGIAN dance . . .

Make it a point some-

Alumni

LEGIAN was printed before the speech was made .

I still maintain that the best broken field run-

Nancy Fletcher: Please deny or affirm the rumor

Ye ed immediately implores his friends to

The Hahvahd man spent the afternoon visit-

Faculty Minds:

ing the cow barns.

ticing.

Addenda:

Gridiron Groans:

Ankle-5.

Enlightened educators and psychol college student of today have been telling the non-collegian world that the average college student of today has become more intellectually alive and alert to local, national and international problems. He is no longer the rah-problems. He is no longer the rah-rah boy of F. Scott Fitgerald days, living a life of gin and gyrations. In short, our college boys is now serious ninded.

Perhaps this newly enlightened group of young hopefuls was not present on Monday evening when Governor Earle spoke at Penn State. Governor Earle spoke at Penn State. At least they were very much in the minority. Gathered instead was a mob, dominated by a group of unbe-lievably crude and stupid morons, who proceeded to insult the Govern-or, embarrass the College and insult their own, intelligence and breeding by a demonstration of the most des-pleable kind. Grant that many peo-ple do not like the Governor either politically or personally-grant furhe do not not not the document cities politically or personally—grant fur-her that we as citizens have a right ther that we as chosens and a range of the operation of the excuse such a scene of booing and hissing and thoroughly disgusting conduct as to make Penn State Jessie blush in her grave?

The facts are:

1. Earle was elected by a majority in 1934 and will continue his four year term as given by the people of this state. Under those circumstances, this state. Under those dreamstatters, he is due all respect and honor natur-ally forthicoming to that high office. It is therefore this disrespect of the lowest type to act as the Penn State students did Monday night. 2. Although the Governor may not

2. Although the Governor may not veto bills for further appropriation to Penn State, after that demonstra-tion of stupidity, he will certainly not go out of his way to work for the College's best interests. Yet even so

Mr. Earle shouting out thtrough boos and other animalistic noises pledged in self to work for the College's best nterests.

ing to have to recognize such ele

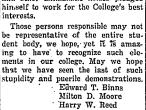

To the Editor: Penn State Spirit! To the Governor of the Common-wealth this is bound to mean a gross-ly unsporting attitude,—the same at-titude which at athletic meets in re-cent years has lead to the booing of referees when they have been forced

R. F. STEIN

MOTOR CO.

STORAGE

121 S. Burrowes, Phone 252

Cataaum theater tonight. The story deals with two people who find torn halves of a thousand dollar bill and turn out to be Joel McCrea and Joan Bennett. Neither of them can get very far without the other in this case. The complications resulting ause comedy. "Dodsworth," the Sinclair Lewis novel that has been adapted both to the stare and screen, plays at the nobody gets hurt and a lot happens the stage and screen, plays at the Nittany tonight. The cinemania ver-sion was adapted by Sidney Howard, who also prepared the stage play. Walter Fluston recreates Sam Dodsworth for the screen as he did for the play. Ruth Chatterton is Fran Dodsworth. The cast also includes Paul Lukas, Mary Astor and a not-

Faul Lukas, Mary Astor and a not-able supporting group. Tomorrow at the Cathaum, Joan Blondell, Warren William, Frank McHugh and the Yacht Club boys have fun in "Stage Struck." It's about a complex situation that de-velopes backstage when the angel be-bind a broadway chow inside on in. velopes backstage when the angel be-hind a broadway show insists on in-cluding in the cast a female blue-beard who has killed enough husbands: to give her publicity rating. The dame breaks up the show. It all ends when the police run in and take ev-crybody away, or does it? Another of Somerset Maugham's obscure works has been turned into a screen thriller and appears at the Nitiany theater tomorrow night, "Isle a screen thriller and appears at the Nittany theater tomorrow night, "Isle of Fury," which is the picturization of Maugham's South Sca novel, "Three in Eden." It is similar in ro-mantic structure to his "Ashenden," a spy story which was retitled in the movie version of "Sceret Agent." or something of the sort. Anywny, it was thrilling enough to keep the lo to call decisions against State players. The spirit of fair play, of toler ance was sadly lacking on Co-op Cor-ner Monday evening. J. P. Kelly

ALSO CIGARETYE AND CIGAR NOLDE THE ONLY PATENTED "CELLOPHANE"- SEALED FILTER-IT REALLY FILTERS

Granberry & Co. Members of New York Stock Exchange and Other Leading

Exchanges Williamsport Telephone 2-4651 PAUL O. BROSIUS

Manager WM. L. SCHREYER GULF GAS & OIL CHARLES E. LEWIS

Distributors for

LINK-BELT STOKERS

East Beaver Avenue

PLUMBING AND IN MEN'S SHOES HEATING Heating Systems Installed

FILTER-COOLED

Frank

MEDICO

This simple appear ing yet amazing absorbent filter in-vention with Cellovention with Cello-phane exterior and cooling mesh screen interior keeps juices and flakes in Filter and out of mouth.

Prevents tongue bite, raw mouth, wet heel, bad odor, frequent

No breaking in.Improve

At Your Dealer

n. Improved he taste and fany

Europe.

Friday, October 9, 1936 England is building ferries to carry trains across the English Channel so that one can board a train in London and get off somewhere in

Bostonian

NORWAY

CALF

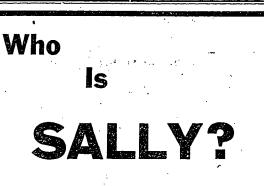

Ideally suit edinweight, texture, and comfort, to match rough weaves in men's clothing

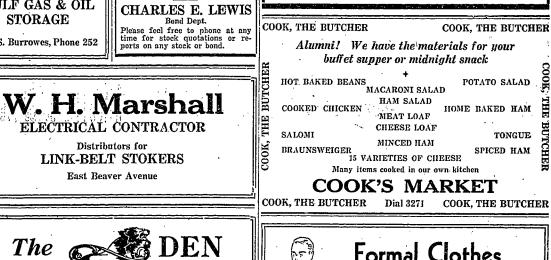

SEVEN TO TEN DOLLARS BOSTONIAN FLEXMORE

PROCESS Requires No Breaking In Builds flexibility over your foot shape ... Pro-tects style line : : : Pre-serves life of leather ... Adds comfort to you, the wearer. LEG. U. B. PAT. CPP.

BOTTORF BROS. Entrances on Beaver and Allen

"HOW'S THE TEAM?" "How's the team look?" will again be the most frequently heard question as returning alumni get into town.

Impressing them most, however, will not be the football team itself but the general student attitude toward it. In other years it's been, "Yeah, they look pretty good in practice, but wait until they hit a team that amounts to something. It's just going to be too bad."

Students this year are willing to admit that we'll probably drep the Pitt game. They know that we'll go against Penn and Syracuse as the underdogs. But they are confident that this year's football team is good enough that no opponent will be able to look at it as a breather.

Nor is this attitude due to wishful thinking. The long lean years since 1929 have conditioned the stulent body here to have no illusions about their football teams. Their usual errors are on the side of pessimism.

If John J. Student '37 admits that Penn State has a good football team this year, there is a good possibility that he is right.

time this week - end to	The DEN	Formal Clothes visit the new room at The Corner. On its walls are pictures of Penn State "greats," many of	Special Breakfast25c Special Luncheon30c Fruit or Fruit Juices Meat Vegetables Bacon and Eggs Roll Beverage Toast Coffee Home-made Pie	CUSTOM TAILORED TO YOUR INDIVIDUAL MEASUREMENTS whom you know. You	الا	From $29.50 will be interested in see-	GEO. L. SMITH'S POWDER PUFF	+
ing them.	BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOPPE	TAILORED_READY TO WEAR
	+ + +	From $25 /
—The Corner	TWELVE SPECIALISTS BEAUTY CRAFT IN ALL BRANCHES	STARK BROS. HARPER
unusual	Pioncer Shop Est. 1920	Hatters Haberdashers Tailors
	Dial 2201 107 Allen St. State College, Pa.	We regret to say that the prices quoted in our ad in Tuesday's Collegian were incorrect