Runners Lose To Manhattan In Close Meet

1940 Harriers Trample Cornell with 15-40 Perfect Score

By WOODROW BIERLY
 Pete Olexy maintained his undefeated record in three years of dual competition when he took first place in the meet at Van Cortlandt Park Saturday, despite the fact that the Lion varsity harriers bowed to the strong Manhattan runners with a score of 26-to-29. It was State's first defeat since the Syracuse encounter of 1933, but it was also their toughest meet in the past five or six years.
 While the varsity were running in New York City, the freshmen opened their season at Cornell where Galer, Gordon, Maule, Miller, and Nipson, attempting to duplicate the varsity's stunt at Lehigh, finished the 2 1/2-mile course in a tie with a time of 14:57. Olexy finished in the varsity competition with a 40-yard lead on Gene Malley, the Jaspers' first man. A blazing homestretch brought Bob Conkling an extremely close decision over Captain Howard Downey for third place while Herb Hazzard followed on Downey's heels. Ray Vacca, Joe McClain, and Joe Murphy took the next three positions for the Manhattan team, while Bert Aikman, Charles Pierce, Charles Clark, and Len Henderson finished 11th, 13th, 14th, and 15th respectively.

BETWEEN THE LIONS

By BOB GRUBB
Mr. Tunis Speaks:

When John R. Tunis comes forth to speak on sports, most people give him a ready audience. What Mr. Tunis has to say this time certainly should command attention for it strikes home.
 First, let's take a look at some of our opponents as they line up in Mr. Tunis' classification. We can see no fault in putting Penn State in the semi-pro class—between the simon pures in the "shamateur" class and the decidedly subsidized teams of the professional class. Speaking of the semi-pro class, "They are all serious institutions of learning . . . they seldom go into the market and buy stars openly—as a rule these Group B athletes are bona fide students," says Mr. Tunis.
 Only two of our opponents are in the same semi-pro class—Penn and Cornell. Lehigh is in the amateur class, and, as far as we know, the latter rating is just about correct. But, at the majority of the teams on the Lion schedule are classed as professionals—a fact that has always been taken for granted, but now confirmed by the Tunis rating. In the professional class fall Bucknell, Pitt, Syracuse and Villanova.
 The rating given Bucknell, Pitt, Syracuse and Villanova—out and out professionals—only confirms the contention held by many on this campus for some time—the fact that Penn State is playing teams out of her class. This fact must be faced when the 1937 schedule is presented for approval. It is a fact which will become more and more clear as this season goes on.
 Mr. Tunis' main point of attack centers about the professional class. He does not condemn subsidization. He condemns the disguises and subterfuges of the professional colleges be paid, openly and above board. "Let's have a minimum wage for athletes," he says.
 Mr. Tunis does not have much to say about the semi-pros. As for ourselves, the condition of the "in-betweens" is not alarming. Here, at State, we have a long way to go to even reach the borderline of professionalism as it exists at Pitt or Syracuse.

'40 Gridmen Trim Giants For 19-7 Win

Entire Yearling Squad Plays; Dick Ewalt Scores Twice

By FRANCIS SZYMCAK
 The entire squad of the freshman grid outfit participated in Saturday's game against Scranton-Keystone's Little Giants, which the Lions won 19-to-7.
 After a scoreless first half the yearlings came back strong with Dick Ewalt scoring on a reverse three minutes after the opening of the second half.
 Ickes fed the ball to Ewalt who smashed the right side of his line and raced 11 yards for the initial score. Pollock, left guard, failed on the drop kick for the extra point. Toward the end of the third frame Rollins on the reverse which worked well, ran from his 20 to the 5-yard (Continued on Page Four)

That the current football season is destined to go down in the books as the worst in several years now seems inevitable. Next year and the year after, the score of the Penn State-Cornell game will be remembered simply as 13-7. How well the Lions played, how much superior the Ithacans were means nothing. It is well to note, however, that a decided improvement in the Penn State team over the last two weeks was shown in Saturday's game.
 Monday morning quarterbacking never does any good, true, but the performance of the team against Cornell has given the players themselves and the coaches some satisfaction in that a great many difficulties seemed to have been ironed out since a week ago. The spirit and the will to win was lacking at Lehigh was there on Saturday; of that there is no doubt.
 Good old dependable soccer team in defeating Lafayette, 2-0, they overcame one of the greatest obstacles to an undefeated season . . . Pete Olexy's time of 25:35 for the five-mile Van Cortlandt park course in the cross-country meet with Manhattan is a good indication of what he should do in the I. C. 4-A's over the same course three weeks hence.
