marker. Dick Ewalt sliced through left guard for the second tally. Pollock again failed to convert on his drop-kick.

In the last quarter with Buchan and Toti alternating at ball carrying, the frosh were again in scoring position. Alex Toti hit the left side of the visitors' to run from the 6-yard line for the third score. The line blocked well and not one Scranton player was near the runner. For the extra point Buchan circled right end.

State attempted five passes, three of which were incomplete and two were intercepted. The Lions were penalized 15 yards to none for the visitors. Scranton attempted 13 passes, completing seven, having three incomplete and three intercepted. The freshmen gained nine first downs to six for the losers.

Women in Sports

By CAROLINE TYSON
Emerging victorious for the fourth time this season, the sophomores swept to a 3-to-0 triumph over the freshman hockeyists Thursday. Although this showing appears more decisive than a previous 2-to-1 win by the sophomores, the freshman defensive was decidedly stronger in this game.

Molly Pugh, sophomore inner, set a sensational pace by scoring all three of the goals. Completing a pass from Dot McAuliffe, sophomore wing, Molly caged the first ball after three minutes of the first half.

The second goal, scored after an advancing penalty included the freshman goalie, Peggy Miller. Climaxing a second tally within the striking circle, Molly made her third successful attack during the second half of the game.

Supporting a vigorous forward line was Nita Cambers, ace center of the freshman team. Iron defense was evident in Jane Rumig's stop lay when she intercepted a sophomore pass from her opposing right inner, Rachel Bechdel, during the early second half.

passes missed their mark time and time again. Cornell completed seven out of twelve, but the Lions could do no better than five out of seventeen attempts.

In the second half State's lighter forward wall pushed Cornell's sophomores around considerably. Economos in his first game since Muhlenberg played the entire sixty minutes, giving a good account of himself. Other Lions who did exceptionally well beside Cherundolo and Harrison, were DeMarino and Donato, who intercepted
