

BETWEEN THE LIONS

By BOB GRUBB

Is Penn State definitely on the trail back to the subsidization policy under which this college developed football teams of Rose Bowl variety back in the early twenties?

Coupled with the scheduling of more formidable opponents year by year is the program for expansion of New Beaver Field, which will reach its peak when accommodations have been made to care for 16,000 spectators, almost twice the capacity of the stadium at the present time.

While we are speaking of future schedules, we must consider that with the good there must come the bad, and by the latter we mean the probable termination of our series with Penn in 1939.

Getting back to the subject of subsidization trend, the powerful alumni groups have given every indication that they are in back of such a move to put their alma mater back on the football pedestal.

It will be interesting to watch the inner chamber politics of the next two years.

Despite the fact that the Department of Public Information goes to great pains to convince metropolitan sports editors that we really have something up here—champion-

Varsity Swim Team Meets Carnegie Tech Here Tomorrow

Nittany Five Faces Orange On Syracuse Floor; Corbin Ill., Confined To Infirmary

Battle With Syracuse Marks 26th Tilt Of Series

Editor's Note: The results of the Penn State-Carnegie Tech game at Pittsburgh last night were not available when the COLLEGIAN went to press.

By WOODROW W. BIERLY

After meeting Carnegie Tech last night, the Lion swimmers will leave Pittsburgh today for Syracuse where they face the Orange five in Archbold gymnasium tomorrow night.

Forced to leave one of his best players, Max Corbin, behind, Coach John Lawther, with a squad of nine, left here for Pittsburgh yesterday. Corbin was admitted to the College infirmary Wednesday, suffering with an attack of influenza.

26th Game with Orange

Tomorrow night's battle will be the 26th of a series between the Lions and Syracuse. The first game was played in 1917 and since that time the Orange have garnered fifteen victories to ten for the Nittany cagers.

Syracuse is expected to give the Lions a good chase on the court tomorrow night. The team has won ten games and lost but four this season. Due to the presence of so many sophomores, the team has been inconsistent in its performances, but its 39-to-25 victory over the Penn quintet last Saturday indicates that the Orange are again hitting their stride.

Orange Captain Injured

The starting line-up against the Nittany five will probably consist of Bob Stewart and Bill Thompson at forward, Ed Sonderman at center, and John Balinsky and John Schroeder at the guard positions. Johnny Simonaitis, guard and captain, was injured in the Penn game and will probably be out for the remainder of the season.

Sonderman is probably the outstanding man that will play against the Lions. Standing six feet, six inches, he is probably one of the tallest college centers in the country. Balinsky, the other senior who will start, is one of the squad's best set shots. Schroeder, Stewart, and Thompson are sophomores.

Following are the records of the Lions' six highest scorers for this season. The list includes points scored in both Conference and non-Conference games as well as the total.

	C.	NC.	T.
Miehoff	54	47	101
Prosser	27	27	54
Corbin	23	30	53

Foilers To Meet Lehigh, Rutgers

Fencers Complete Four Months Of Practice; First Home Match March 13

Whipped into shape by four months of practice, an unpredictable Lion fencing team is preparing to journey to Lehigh and Rutgers next week with three and possibly four new men filling in the gaps left by last year's graduation and two men slightly injured.

Those who are slated to make the trip include Co-captains "Lefty" Bowen and Dick Lewis. Spence Potter, all veterans, and Dean Foltz, Ed Kirk, John Lipecky and Scotty Rankin, all sophomores.

Bowen in Falls Bowen, who starred last year, will lead the foilsmen into action handicapped by a damaged wrist. Fighting foil, the lightest and trickiest weapon in this ancient art of self-defense, will be Potter, Foltz, and Rankin.

The complete epee line-up is still tentative. Possibilities for the three-man epee team are Foltz, Kirk, Lipecky, and Rankin. Lipecky has been out for a week with a sprained elbow which makes it difficult for him to wield the weapon.

Lewis in Sabre Dick Lewis and Spence Potter will fill the sabre line-up. Both fought last year. Lipecky, a third possibility for this bracket, may also compete.

After meeting Lehigh and Rutgers next week-end, the swordsmen will await Temple on the home ground March 13. There may be an additional match with Syracuse March 20, if tentative arrangements with the Orange team are completed, Coach Kruttar, announced.

had won, Lehigh would have taken the championship by topping the Lions, 32-16-31.

Topped Indiana

The Lehigh wrestlers were victorious in meets with Syracuse, Lafayette, Michigan, Indiana, Yale, and Cornell. The Engineers broke the Indiana Hoosiers' string of 34 consecutive victories when they won by a 25-15 score at Bethlehem. Indiana has championed the Big Ten conference for the past six years and their list of unbroken victories had extended for five continuous seasons.

Coach Charlie Speidel has no predictions to make; he knows that it will be a neck to neck tussle, with the winner being the team that will have the most upsets to its credit. The style of wrestling that will take place is hard to predict. Both teams may be cautious and use only orthodox holds, or they may battle "with caution to the winds" and set out for upsets, or what have you?

Freddy Stegmaier, 118, out of action during the past two meets because of opponents' forfeits, will face Walt Allen who has won three and lost two. Johnny Craighead, 125, meets an intercollegiate champion and Lehigh captain when he wrestles Rudolph Ashman who has had an undefeated season. Johnny has held his own in past competition and will be facing "one tough man."

Zazzi Favored

Aldo Zazzi, 135, goes against Mark Wolcott, who has won three and lost two. Wolcott drew with Zazzi's opponent of last week, Demo, in the Syracuse-Lehigh meet. Al seems to have a slight edge.

Jack Light, 145, intercollegiate champ, will carry on against Tom Reider who has four victories and one loss to his credit. Jack has won two and drew once since swinging into the schedule. Johnny Galvin, 155, draws a strong wrestler and clever opponent when he tackles Dick Bishop, intercollegiate champ. Dick wrestled for the first time this season in the Indiana meet two weeks ago and has won three bouts.

Joseph Krupa, 165, runner-up in the eastern intercollegiate last year, will face Jimmy Ford, who has two victories and three losses to date. Joe seems to be hitting his old stride in preparation for this bout. Ross Sharfey, 175, undefeated so far this season, is scheduled against Walter Wells, Lehigh's "dark horse," whom Engineer followers rate highly. Ross is meeting a severe test.

Captain Joe O'Dowd will match brain and brawn with Myron Sterngold, Lehigh footballer, when these two big boys step out in the unlimited class. Sterngold has three victories and two losses.

Froth Calls Meeting

Freshman and sophomore business candidates for the Froth have been called for a meeting in 309 Old Main at 4 o'clock today by Raymond H. Schimmel '38, business manager. Particulars of the work and qualifications for advancement will be discussed, it was announced.

Only 2 Players Retain Original Positions as Coach Thiel Bolsters Offense

Penn State's freshman basketball forces will attempt to break their losing spell and gain their third victory in five starts when they tangle with Wyoming Seminary's court brigade in the lone event billed for Recreation hall tomorrow afternoon. The contest will get under way at 2 o'clock.

A member of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Basketball Conference, the Seminary five is expected to supply tough opposition for the Nittany Lion cubs.

Shocked by the double dose of defeats handed the yearlings last weekend by Carnegie Tech and Pitt, Coach Nick Thiel has bolstered the offense which went to pieces in the latter stages of both games.

Only two men will hold their usual positions in the starting line-up tomorrow. They are "Sonny" Hoffman, forward, and Franklin Dumm, guard. Milan Buchan has been shifted from forward to guard, while Joe Hetra, made Hoffman's running mate. Meanwhile, Willard Doehmert has supplanted both "Sandy" Kranich and Howard McWilliams in a spirited, three-corner fight for the pivot post.

man on the Wisconsin team, Harman accomplished little last season due to a broken jaw.

To Izzy Richter will go the task of redeeming himself against the Wisconsin heavyweight, Vern Woodward, who outpointed Izzy last year. Woodward is the only man to defeat Richter whom Richter has not beaten in a return bout.

Opposing Frankie Goodman will be the Badger captain, George Stupar, at 135 pounds. Goodman and Stupar fought to a draw last year, but later the Wisconsin leader lost to Syracusean Mastrella, whom Goodman twice defeated.

Experience vs. Cleverness Undeclared Alex Sopchak will meet his sternest test in Art Walsh in the 115-pound opening bout. Walsh defeated Captain Russ Criswell, Eastern champion for three years, as well as the Pacific Coast and Northwest-ern champions. Walsh, a left-hander, will have experience against the clever Lion sophomore.

Another Walsh, Jim, who is Art's twin, will oppose Allan Tapman at 125 pounds. Jim, a steady, brilliant fighter, has also had much experience, but will meet a much improved opponent in Tapman.

A slam-bang, free-for-all slugfest is promised in the light-heavyweight battle between State's sophomore Nestor Kociubinsky and Wisconsin's Truman Torgerson. Both are newcomers to varsity competition.

Ritzie Favored

Although a much improved fighter, Vito Schiro should not be too much of a problem for Captain Lou Ritzie at 165 pounds. Ritzie defeated Schiro last year, after which the Badger won over Maryland's Nadomatsky, Southern conference champion.

Sammy Donato will be pitted against Sid Hurwitz in the welter-weight bout. Both are short and aggressive, and a close, hard fight is predicted.

Mermen Seek First Victory Of Campaign

Telegraphic Meet With Oberlin on Program For Tanksters

Penn State's swimming team will meet Carnegie Tech in the Glennland Pool at 2 o'clock tomorrow. The Lions, anxious to score their initial victory, will present their strongest line-up against the Tartans. Three shifts in the mermen's positions because of the results of the freshman meet last week feature the move to add strength to the team.

An interesting addition to the meet will be the introduction of a telegraphic contest with Oberlin College of Ohio. In this meet, the first of its kind ever attempted at Penn State, the times of the Lion mermen will be sent by telegraph to the other school, and there compared with the times of the distant team's swimmers. This means that State will be competing with two teams tomorrow.

Bob Dewalt, who showed up remarkably well as a sprinter in the freshman meet, will probably swim the 100-yard free style cent with Bill Heiriged. Dewalt before this concentrated his attention on the distance events and his abilities as a sprint man are recent discoveries.

Another shift in the positions of the mermen will see Charlie Welsh, sophomore speed ace, entered in the 220-yard free style event. Welsh's change is also due to an extremely fine showing in the freshman meet.

The third alteration in the line-up brings Ken Bunk, another sophomore speedster, to the 440-yard free style event.

Dick Geiger and Captain Jim Cumming, who have been called the finest dorsal team in the East, should uphold their unbroken records in the back stroke. Gil Burleigh, another winner of numerous victories, will team with Warren Oliver in the breast-stroke.
