

Conger Awarded National Office

Physical Education Group Also Honors E. C. Davis; State's I. M. Program Praised

At the annual National Physical Education Association conference, Ray Conger was elected national secretary of recreation for that group. Dr. Elwood C. Davis was elected to the executive board for a period of five years.

Intramural activities at Penn State were commented upon favorably by the Association. The elective system of physical education was given much publicity by that group, as the one in use here is vastly different than those employed by other colleges.

Many of the colleges having elective activities allowed students who had need of physical education to be excused from them entirely. Other schools went to the opposite extreme, excusing none. The system here is a compromise of the two.

Reorganized by Executive Council A reorganization of the whole Association was accomplished by the executive council, of which Dr. Davis was a member, during the last convention. The purpose of the shake-up was to make the association more efficient and of greater service to the members as a whole.

Realizing that with 8,300 members, close contact with the executive heads was impossible, the executive council devised and formulated a plan to divide the organization into many sub-committees. These committees would represent the many districts, states, and institutions. In this way the individual would be able to present his theories and ideas to a district committee which in turn would pass it up the line.

Take Orders Monday

Senior invitations and announcements will be on sale at the Student Union desk starting Monday, according to an announcement made today by the chairman of the committee.

Attendance at Stock Contest Sets Record

The Little International Exposition, the largest in 20 years, drew spectators from all over the state and neighboring states to the stock judging pavilion here Saturday.

John E. Pascoe '39 and Robert K. Shearer '38 were awarded the judging contest cups. The cup, given for the member of the team who has the best record, went to Morris S. Huntzinger '37. Edward H. Danks '38 was named Grand Champion Showman and Joseph W. Beckenstrater '40 was named Grand Champion fitter.

The judges were Kenneth Clark, of Frederick, Md., and Fred McDowell of Fredonia, Pa. Following the judging, a dinner was held at the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity at which the cups and medals were awarded.

Alpha Chi Sigma Leads In Penn-Allen League

The race is already under way for the championship cup in the Penn-Allen fraternity mushball league. With only five games played to date, Alpha Chi Sigma, last year's champion, is leading the group with two victories to their credit.

The league was organized last year by six fraternities in the vicinity of Allen street and Fairmount avenue. Alpha Chi Sigma, Delta Theta Sigma, Phi Lambda Theta, Phi Sigma Delta, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Theta Chi banded together and purchased a cup to be awarded to the winning team. The fraternity winning it three times gets permanent possession of it.

Iota Sigma Phi, women's chemical honorary recently initiated Myra E. Cohn '37 and three graduate students, Ruth Everett, Mary S. Clements, and Stella Zoyas. Helen E. Borton '38 will be initiated at the May meeting of the fraternity. The requirements for membership are 20 credits in chemistry and a "2" average.

Literary Society Names Bell Head

Newly-Formed Group Convenes At Princeton To Organize Two-Point Service

At a meeting of forty college literary societies at Princeton last week, the Bell was named chairman of the newly-formed Intercollegiate Literary Association.

Assisting Penn State's literary magazine to fill the offices of the organization are Princeton, elected to the position of secretary, and Albertus Magnus, treasurer. The publicity secretary will be the magazine from New Jersey College.

The Intercollegiate Literary Association has been organized to bring into closer contact the various literary magazines and clubs on campuses throughout the country. The group of forty colleges which met last week and formed the Association has the distinction of forming the first such organization in the country.

A two-point service decided upon at the meeting last week is included in the organization. An agency will be organized to handle and attempt to market manuscript submitted by college writers. Another service planned is the operation of a critical service bureau, composed of prominent New York writers and critics, to criticize constructively student manuscripts submitted for that purpose.

Speakers at the meeting included Joe Freeman, author of "American Testament," Leane Zugsmith, author of "Time to Remember," Curtis Hitchcock, publisher, and Arthur Krock, New York Times Washington correspondent. The next meeting of the Association may be held here.

Ag. Students To Hold Frolic Saturday Night

The Ag Frolic, all-college festivity sponsored by the Agricultural Student Council, will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday night in Recreation hall. George Rohde and his Pennsylvanians will play for the dance.

As in previous years, fake currency will be the medium of exchange with which frolicers can gamble and barter at the booths of various student clubs of the School of Agriculture.

Dean Ralph L. Watts will present keys to the members of the livestock, dairy cattle, dairy products, poultry, and apple judging teams. Tickets may be secured at Student Union or from any Ag Student Council member.

198 Graduates Take Alumni Council Posts

Representing alumni districts over the entire world, 198 Penn State graduates have been elected to the alumni council.

Those elected from the Centre county district are Dean of Agriculture Ralph L. Watts '30, Thomas Beaver '38, J. W. Decker '25, K. J. Haines '28, W. S. Jeffries '24, R. P. Campbell '30, and W. K. Ulerich '31.

Group Will Show Films of Horses

Recreational Poll Indicates 60% Student Body Interested In Horsemanship

The recent recreational poll conducted by Ray M. Conger, Physical Education and Athletics, showed that 60 per cent of the student body is interested in horsemanship.

In accordance with this preference, a showing of films on steeplechasing, fox hunting, and a horse show will be given in room 206, Agriculture building at 8 o'clock tonight.

The pictures have been loaned by Marlin W. Nicely, a two-year student in animal husbandry, who owns a string of horses at Ligonier, where the films were taken.

The organizations which co-operated in making the pictures are the Sewickley Horse Show, the Rolling Rock Fox Hunt, and a branch of the National Steeplechase Association.

Besides Conger and Nicely, the committee in charge also includes Dr. James F. Shigley, professor of veterinary science.

Dairy Show Planned

Members of the Penn State chapter of the American Dairy Science Association are completing arrangements for a dairy show.

On either side of the Great Divide . . . men like 'em . . . women like 'em

In the Big Town, you see lots of empty packages. That means that pack after pack of refreshingly mild, good tasting Chesterfields have satisfied hundreds . . . maybe thousands.

Way out in Goose Creek Junction, you meet up with men who tell you that Chesterfields are milder . . . you see ladies who tell you how good they taste and what a pleasing aroma they have.

Going East . . . or going West . . . Chesterfield satisfies 'em.
