Osterlund '37 Named Spoon Man Of Class

Seniors Select Other Honormen After Class Vote

Recipients Will Speak At Class Day Exercises

Frank A. Osterlund was elected Spoon Man of the senior class at a meeting held in Schwab auditorium Wednesday evening.

The Barrel Man elected was Robert E. Morini, this name given to man-about-town of the senior class.

At the Class Day meeting the evening before graduation, speeches by the honor men will be given along with a concert by the Blue Band.

Graduation activities begin June 4 with the annual houseparty dances and alumni reunions.

Baccalaureate services are scheduled in the auditorium Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

The graduation procession will form in front of the library at 10:30 o'clock.

It was announced at the meeting that tomorrow is the last day for taking orders for invitations and caps and gowns.

Library Donated Six 1898 Campus Scenes

Six glassed pictures of the College buildings, as they appeared in 1898 have been donated to the College library by David B. Owens, graduate student in English literature.

The pictures, which include two views of Old Main, one of the Women's building, the old Engineering building, the Physics and Chemistry building, and the old Botanical laboratory and green house, will be placed on exhibition with other Penn State material in one of the library cases.

Gotwals Captures Prize For Best Lion Coat

Bob Cox Takes Froth Honors For Most Salacious

The nicest Lion Coat in college belongs to Russ Gotwals, Judges Galbraith, Hyslop and Bell decided in the finals of the contest sponsored by Froth to reward heretofore unrecognized decorative effort.

Robert Cox was donated with the doubtful honor of possessing the most salacious (dirty) apparel of the entire group.

Large pictures of all the winners and coats will appear in the Junior Prom issue of Froth which will go on sale Thursday night, May 13.

A full page of satirical and revealing commentaries, written and drawn, on collegiate "swinging" completes the Prom number.

Mentzer, Smith Win Book Contest Prize

This is the third year that the contest has been offered. It was created to stimulate student interest in general books and reading.

Hot Days Portend Snow For Prom

It was Junior Prom time just nine years ago. The imports besieged the town as usual. Spring outfits glittered on all sides.

Came the afternoon of the dance. And a blizzard. Snow blanketed the town. Imports went frantic in their evening gowns and spring outfits.

Today students are watching the weather reports carefully. Imports are being told to bring along some extra winter outfits, just in case.

But snow or no snow, Glen Gray and the Casa Loma will be here to provide some hot music for the Junior Prom next Friday night at Rec Hall.

Neusbaum Casts 'Boy Meets Girl'

Roles In Players' Houseparty Show Given To Collins '37, Iola Murray '39

The principal characters of the cast of the Penn State Players' houseparty week-end presentation, "Boy Meets Girl," have been chosen by Director Frank S. Neusbaum.

The part of the boy, Rodney Bevan, will be played by Richard F. Collins '37; the role of the girl, Susie, will be taken by Iola D. Murray '39.

Edward T. Binns '38 and Herbert S. Yanofsky '40 will handle most of the gag lines and provide the practical jokes as Robert Law and J. Carlyle Benson, scenario writers.

The roles of the play's laughing stocks, Mr. Friday, the producer, and Larry Toms, cowboy movie idol, will be portrayed by Harry W. Reed '38 and Randolph M. Graham '40, respectively.

"Boy Meets Girl" is a satire on Hollywood and picture-making, poking fun at the hackneyed plot of boy gets girl, boy loses girl, boy gets girl.

The play was written by Bella and Samuel Spewak, and has been running on Broadway since November, 1935.

The New York show was directed by George Abbott, who also was the director of such recent hits as "Three Men on a Horse" and "Brother Rat."

Woodruff Features Pitt-State Meet Tomorrow

Olympic Champion Will Aim To Upset Champ

Paced by long-striding Johnny Woodruff, Olympic champion extraordinary, Pitt's track team meets State's runners on New Beaver field at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

PETE OLEXY

In all probability Woodruff will compete in the 220-yard dash, the 880-yard run, and the mile run.

State strategy calls for Olexy to shoot the works against the colored star in the first of these three races, the one-mile run.

Pitt has other stars: Ryden and Laskey make up one of the best hurdle teams in the east.

Coach Weaver will send out the same team that beat Juniata and Navy, in an attempt to master the Panthers.

ard Downey, in the 440; Dean Hanley and Mike Brown, in the weight events; and Bob Clark, in the pole vault, are other potential winners for State.
