

I.M. Streamlined Football Starts

Trial Runs In X-Country Begin; Horseshoes, Golf Putting Already Under Way

With approximately 300 entries vying for championship honors, the four-sport fall intramural sports program will swing into action on all fronts when streamlined football will be inaugurated this afternoon.

Upwards of 50 teams have entered the football competition, Eugene C. Bischoff, faculty advisor to the intramural board, said yesterday, indicating "some sign of interest in the new type of football."

Meanwhile, horseshoes, golf putting and cross-country are already under way.

Qualifying round in golf competition, enhanced by 119 entries, must be completed by next Tuesday night. The horseshoe tourney, with 50 teams entered, began yesterday afternoon.

First group of the approximately 80 entries for the cross-country run already has begun its trial runs, necessary for eligibility to participate in the championship race. Entries must check in and out with the manager in the varsity locker rooms at Recreation hall.

Dean Visits Center

Dean Charles W. Stoddard, of the School of Liberal Arts, recently returned from a trip to the Uniontown educational center where he spent a day interviewing students and answering their questions concerning the nature of their future occupations.

Cross-Country Hopes Soar As Sophomores Scintillate

Hope, shattered at the beginning of practice by the loss of a major part of the stars of the team, is beginning to rise among Coach Chick Werner's cross-country runners.

Five very promising sophomores from Mont Alto, several up-and-coming members of last year's freshman team, three upperclassmen worth watching, and a possible dark horse or two, are the cause of the optimistic outlook.

The Mont Alto sophomores, Hartcraft, McGlinsey, Bashore, Smith, and Phares, were trained at the forestry school by Coach George Harvey, and are expected to become first rate material. Outstanding sophomores who served their apprenticeship on the Lion freshman team and are competing for varsity berths are Frank Maulie, Norm Gordon, Graham, Miller, and Herb Nipson.

Leading this group of sophomores is Norm Gordon, who dominated the yearling harriers last year. When Gordon came here he had won the Junior National Steeplechase championship of the A. A. U. Last year Gordon won in every dual meet in which he ran except the Syracuse meet, when he lost to Cavalier. He is one of the main reasons for Coach Werner's hopeful outlook.

Another hopeful, Frank Maulie, was captain of last year's freshman team. His lead is contested by Hostettler and Norris, while Hazzard and Pierce, lettermen, are out to maintain their former positions on the team.

Norris, intramural cross-country champ last year, had never run in competition before he came here. His success in the intramural meet encouraged him to turn out for the team. If he follows the example set by other intramural winners who joined the cross-country team, he should end up among the leaders.

Time trials for the varsity will be held Tuesday afternoon while freshman timing will be done on Tuesday of the following week.

3,000 Alumni Return For Homecoming Fete

Some eleven at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

At 1 o'clock the soccer team will meet Bucknell on New Beaver field, and this will be followed by the State-Bison football feud.

There will be a reunion of former two-year Ag students at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Then at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening there will be alumni banquets at the various fraternity houses, and the Penn State Club is sponsoring a non-fraternity alumni dinner in the Old Main Sandwich Shop.

The final event of the homecoming celebration will be the cider party to be held in the Armory tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. All alumni, seniors, and faculty are invited to attend.

Annual Poultry Course Slated For Oct. 25-29

The 17th annual poultry short course will be held from Oct. 25 to 29. The last two days of the course will be occupied by the semi-annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Poultry Association.

Members of the poultry husbandry department, prominent poultrymen and hatcherymen, and representatives of educational and commercial agencies will speak on such subjects as egg production, egg and poultry marketing, nutrition, incubation, and management.

Honor Traffic Student

A. Jesse Swiren '38, has received an invitation to attend the Advanced Traffic Officers' Training School at the Safety Institute of Northwestern University. He will leave Thursday for Chicago.

Taking his basic course at the College, Swiren was the only undergraduate admitted and finished with top honors.

NYA Scoring Balked By Large List

Because of the large number of N. Y. A. applications, College authorities have been unable to complete the scoring during the past week.

Notes of acceptance will continue to be sent out this week, and an announcement concerning the beginning of N. Y. A. work is expected to appear in the next issue of the Collegian.

Hetzel Names 15 To College Staff

Four Men Appointed Assistant Professors; 11 Selected As Instructors

Fifteen additional appointments to the faculty of the College have been approved by the Board of Trustees, President Ralph D. Hetzel announced today.

These are in addition to those announced last week. Four have the rank of assistant professor and 11 hold the title of instructor.

The new faculty members are John F. Humes, assistant professor of psychology in extension; Harvey W. Rankin, assistant professor of plant pathology in extension; Vernon G. Schaefer, assistant professor of psychology in extension; and J. Whitney Shea, assistant professor of economics in arts and science extension.

Others are: Clifford R. Adams, part-time instructor in education and psychology; Philip J. Elving, instructor in chemistry, undergraduate centers; Ernest Gackenbuch, part-time instructor in industrial education; Otis P. Hendershot, instructor in mathematics and physics, undergraduate centers; Lynn S. Hoffman, instructor in English composition; Merwin W. Humphrey, instructor in forestry; Lester Kieft, instructor in chemistry, undergraduate centers; Mrs. Russell B. Rose, instructor in engineering extension.

Opportunities For Coeds? Puh-lenty, Forum Reveals

The college woman has more opportunities than ever to step into boots originally designed for her big brother. Proof of this was evidenced at the New York Herald Tribune Forum this week, where Margaret Kinslow, Amy McClelland, and Shirley Helms, Penn State delegates, heard prominent speakers discuss the problems of youth to a group of 3,000 women representing 150 colleges and clubs at the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

Potential sob sisters, who are discouraged by the masculine monopoly of the newspaper field, would have cheered to hear Dorothy Thompson, political commentator, the verbal knots around the theories of three foreign speakers who discussed the status of a free press in Germany, Italy, and Russia.

Bernice Fitz Gibbon, who coined Wanamaker's slogan, "It's Smart to Be Thrifty," invited young women to enter advertising. She claimed "Success is swift, remuneration is high, and the work is fun." Women tempted with the idea should start scanning the dictionaries, for Miss Fitz Gibbon said that "The number of words in their vocabulary will correspond with the number of dollars in their pocketbooks."

"It's a golden age for girls," according to Mary Lewis, vice president of Bests, who said that women have wonderful opportunities in the retail

Dr. Clausen To Speak Sunday Before Alumni

Dr. Bernard C. Clausen, pastor of the First Baptist church in Pittsburgh, will be the Sunday morning chapel speaker for Alumni week-end. He will speak at the regular chapel service in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock on the subject, "The Claw of the Lobster."

Dr. Clausen received his bachelor's degree from Colgate, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and Delta Sigma Rho. He received his bachelor of divinity degree at the Union Theological Seminary and his Doctor's from Syracuse University.

From 1917 to 1929, Dr. Clausen served as chaplain in the U. S. Navy on board the U.S.S. North Carolina. He has been at the First Baptist church in Pittsburgh since 1933.

25 Candidates Report For Fencing Tryouts

Twenty-five candidates reported to Dr. Harry Krutter, varsity fencing coach, last week to start training for one of the most difficult schedules a Penn State squad has ever faced.

Captain Spence Potter outlined the coming season and stated that there were no set-ups on the schedule, but the material was present to mold a winning team.

Coach Krutter emphasized the fact that all seven of the varsity positions were open. Among the veterans present were: Captain Potter, Kirk and Poltz, last year's sophomore epee team, and Scotty Rankin.

The varsity schedule includes: Jan. 22, Pennsylvania away; Feb. 19, Lehigh, home; Feb. 26, Rutgers, home; March 5, quadrangular meet, Cornell, Syracuse, and Colgate, at Ithaca, N. Y.; and March 12, Temple, away.
