Kappa Sigma Trims PiKA's, 5-0, To Capture Inframural Streamlined Football Crown

Winners Display Dazzling Passing Attack But Nimble Pi Kappa Alpha Defense Balks Five Touchdown Thrusts

Repulsed five times within sight of pay dirt when its passing pyrotech nies suddenly petered out, Kappa Sigma's dazzling gridiron machine crushed Pi Kappa Alpha, five first downs to none, to snare the 1937, intramural streamlined football championship. Sigma Nu, the defending titleholder was eliminated in the opening round of the tournament.

Spearheaded by the brilliant passing of Bill Neal, the Kappa Sigs swept down to the four, three, eight, ten and nineteen yard lines with lightninglike thrusts, dominating the game from the opening whistle. Only a nimble

Pika defense, whipped suddenly into a frenzy with its backs presed against Between its own goal, stemmed actual touch down scoring.

The names of Harry Harrison and Windy Wear have been in the spot light all season. The amazing way in which they win hall some is been which they win ball cames is becom ing an expected performance.

For all of his 135 pounds. Wear is obviously, the headiest football player to wear the Blue and White for many years. Although such standout players as Sammy Donato, Johnny Economos. Dan DeMarino, and Paul Enders will be lost by graduation, the Nittany Lions will miss Wear most of all in * * *

With the senson already a success, what with major victories turned in over Bucknell, Penn and Maryland, the feeling toward the coming Pitt game takes the attitude that "it's too bad it must be played."

Looking at it from a sensible standpoint, based on the reports of Lion scouts, the brillant performances of the Panther squad, and the general opinion voiced in newspapers through out the country, the Lions have little out the country, the Lions nave fittle chance to win. However, Coach Bob Higgins is to be commended for his feeling toward the Pitt game. He has said, "We're going out there to try to win."

It all comes down to one thing: Pitt . It all comes down to one thing: Pitt has too much man-power for any team-in the nation, least of all Penn State. Henry McLemore, who covers the mid-west for the United Press, insists that Pitt, because of its performance in trimming Notre Dame, is better than the best professional teams he has seen.

As a matter of custom, Coach Jock Sutherland has a first team. That is, he has a team which starts. Then he he sends in 11 other players, and the expert gridieron spectator can see little difference in the playing of either combination.

Pitt's team is composed of the top of high school athletes, and not of professionals or tramp athletes. All the men are experienced, aldhough their correct ages are little over those of any other college team.

As an example of the value of Pan-As an example of the value of Pan-ther experience, Earl Edwards, Penn State end coach, has cited the follow-ng example: When Pitt bunnss into a varied defense against which they, a varied defense against which they, and map out a new system. All this may give the reader the idea that Penn State will battle Pitt with no chance of victory. This is not true. Pitt, great as it is, has suffered letdowns this season. The Lions have letdowns this season. The Lions have a great scoring machine, with the seven points tallied against Penn rep-resenting the smallest State touch-down effort. It's highly possible, foot-ball being the game that it is, that State can stun the gridiron world by predime Bitt upsetting Pitt.
