

Six Pitt Gridders Named On Nittany Lion All-Opponent Eleven

Cornell Takes Three Places

Meade, Matisi Garner Individual Honors

The impression made by Jack Sutherland's Golden Panthers in their 28-7 victory over the Nittany Lions is shown by the presence of six Pitt gridders on the Collegian's 1937 Penn State All-Opponent team picked by 35 Lion players and coaches.

Jarring Jim Meade, Maryland's great triple-threat ace, tied with Tony Matisi, Pitt's All-American tackle, in polling the highest number of votes with Mad Marshall Goldberg running a close third. Lion gridders claim that Meade was the best back they faced all season.

Three Cornell Men Chosen

Three players from Cornell's Big Red eleven and another Terrapin make up the rest of the first team selections. Frank Souchak, who plays golf for Pitt in the spring, and Bud Holland, Cornell's great Negro ace, are paired at the flanks. Tubby McKeever, Holland's teammate, is teamed with Matisi.

Lezowski, Pitt guard, is found at that position with Maryland's Wolfe, who gave the Penn State forwards so much trouble in the Lions' thrilling 21-14 Houseparty victory. Wolfe just edged out Pitt's Petro for the first team position. Don Hensley fills another position for Pitt at center.

Patrick Edges Out Cassiano

Memory of George Peck's part in Cornell's early season victory over the Lions apparently lingered, for he and Frank Patrick, Panther fullback, were chosen for the remaining back-field positions. The latter managed

BETWEEN THE LIONS

Besides being the year of the Golden anniversary of Penn State's student newspaper, the year 1937 marks the passing of 50 years of Nittany Lion intercollegiate athletic history.

Although a group of students banded together to play a baseball game with Milesburg in 1875, losing 28-20, and a pick-up pigskin group met and defeated a Bucknell gridiron club in 1881 by a 9-0 score, intercollegiate athletics did not become firmly established until 1887 when a college-sponsored football team defeated Bucknell twice, 54-0, and 24-0.

Thus began 50 years of unbroken to beat out his teammate, Dick Cassiano, who toted the leather on a 79-yard touchdown romp against the Lions.

Pitt players appear four times on the second team selections, with Penn and Syracuse represented twice each. Cornell, Lehigh, and Maryland have single representatives. Shinn of Penn at tackle, Sterngold of Lehigh at end, and Hooper of Cornell at guard, missed gaining the second team by very slim margins.

IM Boxing To Start On Monday Afternoon

Intramural boxing will get under way Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, according to an announcement yesterday by Eugene Bischoff, in charge of intramurals.

Weighting in has begun already, and contestants will repeat the procedure directly before their individual bouts. The weight allowance will be four pounds.

Winter intramurals will include boxing, wrestling, volleyball, swimming, basketball, and handball. All fraternities and organizations wishing to compete may sign up any time before the sport begins.

Although boxing starts Monday, none of the other sports will begin until after the Christmas vacation. All boxing contestants must present physical education cards before they will be permitted to enter the ring.

'All Positions Are Open,' Leo Declares, Losing Five Boxers

By TOM BOAL

"All positions are open," declared Coach Leo Houck when questioned about this year's edition of the famed Nittany mitemen.

And well may they be, for five of last year's regulars will be missing from the line-up when Penn State opens its 1938 boxing season with Western Maryland on January 15. In addition to the expected loss of two of his best boxers, Billy Soose and Nestor Kociubinsky, who were declared ineligible early this fall.

Soose and Kociubinsky will not be allowed to fight. For the Committee on Eligibility charges that they violated the spirit of the regulations of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association by fighting during the summer.

Three Regulars Remaining

Remaining from last year's undefeated team, and eligible to participate are: Captain Sammy Donato, Al Tapman, and Soapy Sopehak. The graduating members of the undefeated 1937 squad are: Captain Lou Ritzie, Frankie Goodman, and Izzy Richter.

Newcomers, who "Doctor" Houck hopes will fill the vacancies are: Frank Silvestri, 135 pounds; Bernie Sanderson 145-pounder; Karl Sweitzer, 155 pounds; Mickey Hadad and Bill Kohut, 165 pounds; Stu Quayley, Joe Covelis, and Al Bolder, light-heavyweights; with Jim Lesig, Nate Handler, Paul Enders, and Mel Vornax as contenders for the heavyweight division.

The 1938 schedule includes, beside Western Maryland: January, 22, North Carolina; February 12, Syracuse, away; February 19, Virginia, away; February 26, Pittsburgh; March 5, Army, away; March 11-12, Intercollegiate; and March 25-26, Wisconsin, away. Virginia and North Carolina are new names on the schedule. A bout with Navy field on the schedule was cancelled early last spring.

HARRY WILSON '24

After gaining national fame in 1921, '22, and '23 as one of Penn State's greatest backs, also starring in basketball and lacrosse, "Light-horse Harry" entered West Point where his spectacular open-field running placed him on the All-American and in the Point's hall of gridiron fame. Wilson is now an officer in the U. S. Army Air corps, stationed at Langley field, Texas.

A graduate of the class of 1917 and a member of the faculty of the school of Liberal Arts here from 1919 to 1921, W. Roy Diem will be the speaker in chapel Sunday. He will speak on the topic "The Upward Call."

Professor Diem is now an associate professor of speech and director of debate at Ohio Wesleyan University.
