Noted People Take Lodging In State College Hotel

The Trocadero, Ritz-Carlton, Waldorf-Astoria, Coconut Grove—by words of the famous and international havens of the elite. But, perhaps, not the only ones.

Least it be inferred that the sole hubs of activity for those with "names" are exclusively metropolitan sectors, it is befitting and proper to hasten the attachment of another but not so widely-known name to the illustrious list, that of the State College Hotel.

Among the many personalities who over a period of years have established the hotel as the mecca of famed visitors include characters from the world of entertainment, literature, journalism, politics, exploration, and numerous others.

The department of opera is headed by Lawrence Tibbett while the swingers are adequately represented by Paul Whiteman, Glen Gray, Dick Powell, Pee Wee Hunt, Fred Waring, Isham Jones, and Guy Lombardo.

Poet Robert Frost's name mingles with that of Vachel Lindsay on the guest list of literature and Otto Soglow, father of "The Little King" cartoon, further embellishes the list of notables. One of the Washington Merry-Go-Rounders, Drew Pearson; the arch-explorer, Admiral Richard E. Byrd; and the founder of the "rising tide" of the Oxford movement, Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman—all have crossed the local hotel threshold and breathed the atmosphere of the Nittany valet.

Yes, the famed have invaded the peace of the Centre County countryside, foreboding the occasional infiltration of more in years to come.

Fenske Lectures At 8 Midwestern Cities

Dr. Merrell H. Fenske, director of research in the petroleum laboratory, left Wednesday, January 5, for a ten-day lecture tour to eight cities in the middle west.

Dr. Fenske will lecture on the subject, "Recent Developments in Petroleum," covering eight sections of the American Chemical society, which is sponsoring the tour.

He will speak at Urbana, Ill., Indianapolis, Ind., Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., Dayton, O., Louisville, Ky., Lexington, Ky., Cincinnati, O., and Charleston, W. Va.

On Thursday, January 20, following his return, he will lecture to the Philadelphia section of the society on the same topic.

Woodruff Chosen As Lecturer By Senate

Dr. Eugene C. Woodruff, professor of electrical railway engineering, has been selected as the faculty research lecturer for the current academic year, the College senate announced yesterday. No date has been set for the lecture as yet.

TODAY

Prof. Robert E. Dengler, classical languages, will speak on "The Crown of Pride" at Hillcl service tonight at 7 o'clock.

An engineering lecture will be given in Room 110, Home Economics this afternoon at 4:10 o'clock. The speaker will be J. A. McMillen, of the Associated British and Irish Railways, Inc. His subject will be "Railroad Transportation in Great Britain and in the United States."

Book Exchange Plan Will Include Women

In answer to questions received from women students as to whether the second-hand Book Exchange to be conducted in the College Library by the Independent clique will cater to them too, Samuel J. Rosen '39 stated that "this is a project for all students, and naturally the women are included."

The Exchange will open Wednesday, January 26, at 9 o'clock in the morning, and will remain open until 9 o'clock in the evening each day except Sundays for a two-week period.

The Tiger grapplers jeopardize more than Lion hopes for an unbeaten season when they go to the mat tomorrow afternoon. State's wrestling teams have set up an enviable record of losing only one meet on the mat in Rec hall since it was built in 1930. That was to Navy in 1931, and for the last six years they have been unbeatable at home.

The upset of the week goes to Georgetown's surprising squeaking of Temple's unbeaten hopes by a goodly 17-point margin. Harry Baslin, who was on the all-conference team as a sophomore, was very impressive with 13 points of the 39-22 score. But nowadays in this cut-throat competition, they all drop games once in a while.

For cut-throat basketball keep your eyes on the Big Ten conference race. All favorites have been beaten, and the list of favorites includes every team in the league. Loyola of Chicago has a 6-foot 9-inch center in Mike Novak, and the new rules haven't lessened his value to the team in the least.

Larry Kelley has a professional all-star team now. After being scoreless for most of last year's game between State and Yale, the famed climax star came through in the last few seconds to drop the points through the net that snatched victory from the Lions.

The only people who haven't been named as candidate for Harman's vacated coaching job at Penn are War Admiral and Robert Taylor. Frascella won't be playing for West Virginia tomorrow night. he'll be playing for Wooster elsewhere.

but he's still good.
