

SPORTS RESUME:

Lawther Hoists Lions To Eastern Conference Peak

Fifteen months ago slim John D. Lawther took over a hopeless Penn State basketball team that had not won a single game in the Eastern Intercollegiate conference.

Regarded merely as dark-horse challengers for the Conference title, rated by some press services below Pitt, Temple, Carnegie Tech, and Georgetown, the Lions skyrocketed to the vanguard of Eastern court circles in their semester finale ten days ago.

The Georgetown win, third league victory in a row and eighth straight since the opening-game loss to Akron, gave the Lions undisputed leadership of the Eastern Conference for the first time in their history.

State barged into an early lead as Co-captain Joe Proksa and Charley Prosser netted field goals. With the score at 1-1, the Lions suddenly buried the Hoyas under a 12-point spree that boosted the count to 16-1.

Georgetown showed signs of rearing back as the second period opened, but Sol Mitchoff, who took high-scoring honors for the night with 17 points, machine-gunned the basket with a spectacular eight-point streak to dispel all doubts of the outcome.

A PUPIL RETURNS—BUT THE DOC STILL REIGNS

The cheers of a bygone day echoed in the ears of Mike Zeleznock Roman as he returned to the school which he helped make famous with a boxing skill that brought him three Eastern Intercollegiate championships.

For a while it seemed as if Pupil Roman was destined to whip Teacher Leo Houck, but with his North Carolina proteges on the long end of a 3-1 lead, the tide shifted on a crest of knockouts.

SPEIDEL AND ZAZZI: 2 MEN IN A QUANDRY

While one Lion champion tried vainly to upset his former teacher, another champion—in a different sport—tried vainly to shake off the slump that has placed his title on the auction block.

Climaxing an undefeated season by winning the 135-pound Eastern intercollegiate title last year, Zipper Al Zazzi is wondering what the world has come to.

For Champion Zazzi dropped his second straight match at Michigan a week ago last Saturday as the Lions took a 22-6 drubbing, their worst in five years.

MINOR SPORTS

While the wrestlers were doing an about-face, Gene Bischoff's gymnasts were also doing one—in the opposite direction. For the second week in a row, the Lion gym team pulled a surprise, walloping Western Reserve, 28-16.

Health Service Offers Wassermans All Year

Although the state's Wasserman week is officially past, the College Health service will continue to give the tests throughout the College year.

Dr. Ritenour also announced that all new students should not forget to report to the Dispensary in Old Main for their required physical examinations.

They say there is a reason for Temple's slump of the past few weeks. The Owls have always played a man-to-man open style of defense but have been forced to adopt the rough-and-tumble zone set-up as the only means to compete against the strong defenses of their opponents.

West Virginia's Sleepy Glenn has bolstered his Mountaineer five with two very promising sophomores who became eligible for the second semester. Tom Netherlands is a 6 feet 5 inch center who will help overcome their weakness on rebounds off the backboard, and Kenny Ossoski is a snappy forward at 6 feet even.

Wide publicity was given Hank Luisetti's 50 points against Duquesne a few weeks ago, but since then there have been others making the news as scoring machines. The University of

Laboratories Replace Bull Pen Work Rooms

Four new elementary physics laboratories have been constructed in the Dairy building to replace those destroyed in the Chemistry annex fire, December 29, 1937.

Physics students will use the new laboratories this semester. Since the passing of the Chemistry annex, classes were being held in other buildings on the campus. Discussion-experiments had to be resorted to because of the lack of equipment.

Wild Life Study Unit To Be Organized Here

By a cooperative agreement among the College, the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and the U. S. Biological Survey, a wild life research unit will be established here for the purpose of studying the management problems of Pennsylvania game.

Appointed leader of the unit was Dr. Logan J. Bennett of Iowa State college who will be transferred here March 1. This will be the eleventh such land-grant unit of wild life study.
