and had earned over $200 this year. He earned $75 from chickens in Birdsboro, the Burgess said. Myers had originally stated that he stole because he was poor, undernourished, and starving to death, and because he did not get along with his father. Burgess Litzell said that Myers changed his story, saying that he had had a mackinaw and $30 stolen as a freshman and that he decided he might as well steal.

Myers admitted stealing $42 from the Alpha Gamma Rho house, Litzell claimed. Other admissions of stealing money were $4.25 from lockers at the dairy barns, $2 more from the Alpha Gamma Rho house, and $1 from the Fletcher dormitory for women where he also stole a shot-gun, Litzell said. He admitted stealing $10 his freshman year and $10 as a sophomore, the Burgess added.

Police identified an auto repair kit found in Myers' possession as the one missing from a car parked in back of the Aeolia house alumni weekend. That weekend the Aeolia house lost several hundred dollars. The car that held the kit was stolen and later recovered in Loganton. Myers denied stealing the car or any money from the Aeolia house, Litzell said.

The Burgess expressed the belief that police had solved the recent robbery epidemic. He said that Myers would be questioned further. He added that much of the stolen goods had been identified, and that he would seek a court order to return them to their owners as soon as they could be established.

Fresco Base For Proposed Murals Advocated By Helme

"In the light of the current campus discussion on murals in Old Main, I was impressed by the much more satisfactory results of fresco as opposed to canvas wall paintings, and by the work of Robinson, Biddle, and Poor," said Prof. J. Burn Helme yesterday upon his return from Washington.

Professors Helme, Dickson, and Hyslop of the division of fine arts, spent last week-end viewing the murals which are in process of completion in the Department of Justice and Post Office buildings. Such noted American artists as Reginald Marsh, Rockwell Kent, Leon Kroll, Boardman Robinson, Henry Varnum Poor, and George Biddle have been contracted by the government to paint murals in the new federal buildings.

"The favorable reaction of light to the fresco work of Biddle in contrast to the very unfavorable light reaction to the oil on canvas work of Kent, Meecheu, and Curry," Helme explained, "showed clearly the value of true fresco. The oil paintings done on canvas in the studio and later fixed to the wall were very difficult to see because of the poor reflection of light. 'Robinson's tempora on canvas was more satisfactory than the oil compositions, but has already begun to flake in parts, displaying a lack of permanency,' he continued. 'Biddle's technique of execution on plaster was most satisfactory.'

Politics Muddled By Locust Lane

ron has decided to remain in the political picture.

With the return of Francis Szymanski, high muckety-muck of the four-class Independent setup, from practice teaching, things are beginning to move along that front. He has called for a reorganization meeting of the badly-beaten Independent freshmen, and it will be interesting to watch developments in the freshman class.

Campus lost two very able clique leaders during the past week. Frank Bynford, sophomore, and Al Clingan, freshman, chairmen of their respective cliques, have dropped out of school. Irv Supow has been named temporary chairman of the sophs, and the freshmen haven't as yet decided on a successor, temporary or otherwise, for Clingan.

With these, this column's first few shots, now "on the record," I'd like to hear your reactions to this endeavor, and upon your cooperation and interest depends the worth of these ramblings.

He Stakes $2500 a Week on His Knowledge of Tobacco...

Robert W. Barnes
—Independent Buyer—
one of many tobacco experts who smoke Luckies

"I OFTEN invest $2500 a week in tobacco—$2500 of my own hard-earned cash," says Mr. Barnes. "So you can see that the only way I've stayed in business 10 years is to know tobacco. "Now I know Lucky Strike tobacco and it's top-grade. That's why I've smoked Luckies for eight years now. "Lots of other independent buyers, auctioneers, and warehousemen I know smoke Luckies for the same reason." Yes, sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts like Mr. Barnes, Luckies have over twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.
