

'41 Cagers Take Carnegie, 50-23

Cubs Pile Up Lead in First Half; Christian Racks Up 13 Points; Barr Gets 11

Taking their third push-over victory, Penn State's Cub cagers defeated the Carnegie Tech yearlings, 50-23, in Rec hall Saturday afternoon.

After piling up a 13-1 lead, the freshmen found Carnegie Tech chopping it down to a four-point advantage at 16-12. Then came a sensational one-man scoring spree in which Johnny Barr looped five shots into the basket. Ed Sapp, Cub forward and court general deluxe, broke into Barr's monopoly with a goal after Johnny had tossed three.

Successive baskets by Sapp, Edgar, and Christian gave the yearlings a 33-12 margin as they went into the locker room at half-time.

Kernit Christian's total scoring of 13 points led the yearlings. Barr followed with 11. High harvesters for the Tartans were Moersch, forward, and Burch, guard, each with 8 points.

Coach Nick Thiel liberally sprinkled the second-half combinations with reserves. Lacking mainly in the scoring power of the starting aggregation, the substitutes held the Skibos to 11 points for the half, as the original quintet went in for the last few minutes of the game.

'Koch' Wins Name As Light-Heavy Florida Pro

Down in Miami, Ned Nelson is a comer. The fans are crazy about him—just the way the Penn State boxing public was last year when he, Nestor Koeiubinsky, was bringing them to their feet in Rec hall with spectacular rallies and berserk slugfests.

"Koch," sun-tanned and huppy, has been back in town for the past few days after spending the last six months in Miami, Fla., where he worked as a life-guard, gas station attendant, and recreational director. But Lion fans will be interested to know that he has launched upon a professional career and has won his last ten fights in the light-heavy-weight pro ranks.

After leaving school last September upon being declared ineligible for intercollegiate boxing, he journeyed to Florida where he fought and lost his first pro bout in late October. In his next fight he fought a draw with the same man, Roy Bailey, and later won a decision from him. Since that time he has won ten straight, winning four by knockouts. Among his victims was Carl Knowles who has fought the best of the light-heavies.

To get the best out of the fighters on the Miami cards, they often offer additional prizes to the participants in the bout which the crowd votes the best fight of the evening. Koch

Strong Cornell Team Beats Lion Swimmers

In their second meet of the year last Saturday the Lion swimming team went down to defeat before a much stronger Cornell team at Ithaca by a score of 55-20.

Only one first place was taken by Coach Galbraith's swimmers, that in the diving by Ray Parks. In the other events it seemed as though Cornell was always just half a second ahead. Ken Bunk got second in the 220 and the 440, Chuck Welsh took the same in the 100, and Mark Vinzant followed the leader in the backstroke.

The meet at Ithaca showed one thing to the Nittany swimmers—they have to get on the ball and stay on it if they expect to do any good in the five meets coming up. They will meet Pitt, Syracuse, Temple, Villanova, and Penn. Cornell has lost to Penn and Princeton so far this year.

Those teams which have forfeited games will be given another chance to play them off. Joseph S. Naribitsky, co-manager of volleyball, announced.

HANDBALL:

With competition in the second round, Jerry Weinstein, present champion, has announced that he will not defend the handball title he has held for three successive years. Instead, he is grooming Bob Smith for the championship.

Results of last week's matches are: Ted Lesko, Kappa Sigma, defeated Bill Lewis, Beaver House, in two games, 21-16 and 21-4; Bruce Tegge, independent, defeated Bill Crumlish, Phi Kappa Psi, 21-17 and 21-15.

The first meet of Penn State's newly organized ice hockey team was called off due to unfavorable ice conditions.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

In intramural volleyball last week, Beta Theta Pi defeated the Two-Year A's, 2-1; Alpha Tau Omega defeated Phi Kappa Tau, 2-0; Kappa Sigma defeated Delta Chi, 2-0; and Beta Sigma Rho defeated Phi Epsilon Delta, 2-1.

10 States Send Men To Ice Cream Course

Ten states and one foreign country were represented in the recent 40th annual ice cream short course at the College, Chester D. Dahle, in charge of dairy manufacturing, said yesterday.

Pennsylvania, with an enrollment of 25, led the group, followed by New York with seven, and New Jersey with four. Virginia and North Carolina each had two students. Other states represented were Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Ohio, and Oregon. The foreign representative was Sydney Freier, of Vienna, Austria.

Paul S. Maguire, a ship's captain whose run is between New York and South Africa, also attended the course. He plans to manufacture ice cream in South Africa.
