Cagers Rout Rutgers, 53-18, To End Season

With Joe Proksa and Charley Proser each scoring 16 points, Penn State's basketball team closed its most successful season in recent years, routing a strong Rutgers University five, 53-18, at New Brunswick, N. J., Wednesday night. The victory gave the Lions a record of 13 wins in 18 starts.

After a slow start, State moved ahead midway in the first period, barging into a 17-11 lead at halftime. The Lions widened the gap during the second half, shooting almost perfectly. It was the first time in Rutgers' history that an opposing team had scored 50 points.

Besides Proksa, Seniors Jack Reichenbach and Herb Peterson closed their court careers. Co-captain Sol Altschoff, also a senior, suffering from a general rundown condition, failed to make the trip.

Matmen Defend Ring Tournament Title At Cornell Starts At 7 P. M.

Four of last year's champions will risk their crowns at the tourney while two former titleholders will struggle to regain their diadems lost at Bethlehem in 1937. The four champions are split between Princeton and State.

Shaffer will grapple to protect his 175-pound crown while Zazzi will relinquish his 135-pound title to seek the welter-weight championship. Princeton's two champs, who will endeavor to retain their titles are Chuck Powers, 155, and Dick Harding, 125.

Lehigh's Bishop Out
The 155-pound score was practically settled the night before the Lehigh squad embarked for Ithaca. A telegram from Lehigh stated that Captain Dick Bishop was dropped from the team because of a shoulder injury. With Bishop out of the way, the road appears clear for Powers to hold his crown, since the Engineer was the only opponent to defeat the Tiger flash in their dual meet Saturday, which Lehigh won 17-11.

However, this weight will be cluttered with "unknown quantities" in the Lions' Gensler, Penn's Ruggerio, and Bishop's understudy, Dely. The Nittany sophomore, on the basis of his past performance, has more than an outside chance to score points for State.

Jack Harkness, Harvard 175-pounder, is expected to give Shaffer the final tussle for the championship tomorrow night. The State captain suffered his first defeat in college dual competition at the hands of the Crinson light-heavy earlier this season.

Zazzi Favored
State's other strong slot is the 145-pound class held down by Zazzi. Although pinned by Fred Cagers of Princeton in the first meet, Zazzi is a heavy favorite to snare the welter title. Lehigh's 145-pounder was a toss-up between Gus Hagerman and Hugh Ferry, with Ferry holding a slight edge.

The chances of the Lions grabbing first place, rests on the outcome of the Nittany light-weights, Carl King, 118, who will compete in his first intercollegiate tournament; Frank Craighead, 125, and Bob Reynolds, 135.

The 118-pound division will see the greatest scramble with King, Harvey Ross of Harvard, Bob Allman, blind Penn grappler; and Zen Mallon of Yale as the principal contenders.

Craighead, Reynolds Rate High
Although thrown by Champion Harding, Tiger 126-pounder, earlier this year, Frank Craighead stands high above the others in the bid to dethrone Harding. Points may also be garnered by Lehigh's Frank Burnett and Louis Ach of Harvard.

Shoved from the intercollegiate picture for two years by Jack Light and Zazzi, Bob Reynolds will make his first showing in the tourney as a senior. The Lion will face Harold Masem, Lehigh, who defeated him in the dual meet and also Fred Field of Princeton. Reynolds should set up at

W. S. G. A. Changes Dance Dates

The place and time of the W. S. G. A. dance on March 18 have been changed to the Armory from 10 to 1 o'clock. Previously the dance was to have been in Rec hall from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Freshman Council has announced that a dance exclusively for freshman women and their escorts will be held in the Armory, April 30.

Lion Mermen To End Season Against Penn

The Nittany swim team will end its season tomorrow afternoon in Philadelphia when they will splash against a powerful team of Penn swimmers at 2 o'clock. Today at 4 o'clock they will meet Villanova in the Wildcat pool.

The meet will be tough against Villanova, the outcome possibly hanging on the result of the medley relay. Villanova started out weakly this season, but has since risen to the position of a serious threat.

Coach Galbraith will take 16 men with him this week-end. To be watched with interest is the 400-yard relay team which on Monday against Temple cracked the Glennland pool record for that event. This team is composed of Ken Bunk, Art Lehman, Capt. Bob Devalt, and Chuck Welsh.

Triangle To Celebrate Founding Anniversary

The local chapter of Triangle, national social engineering fraternity, will celebrate the 10th anniversary of its founding by Robert L. Sackett, former dean of the School of Engineering, by holding open house for returning alumni Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Lion Trackmen Leave For Washington Meet

A selected squad of Lion trackmen leaves for Washington, D. C., tomorrow morning to compete in the fifth annual indoor track and field games of Catholic University.

State's distance men, Pete Olexy and Bill Smith in the two-mile, with Norm Gordon running in the 1000-yard invitation affair, will lead the group into powerful eastern school competition.

Dave Bauer and Miller Frazier are slated for the high hurdle event, Bob Clark is listed for the pole vault, with Bernie Kalmanowicz and Walt Hosterman, freshman ace, entered in the 50-yard dash. Charley Pierce, cross-country captain-elect, completes the Lion squad, running in the 880.

At least a second place for the Nittanyites.

Perhaps the weakest slot in the Nittany lineup is the heavyweight post. With competition keen among the more experienced and heavier competitors representing Princeton, Yale, Harvard, and Lehigh, Ernie Bortz, sophomore, seems blotted from the picture. Charlie Toll, Princeton's heavyweight, was thrown by Pickett of Yale, who was then adjudged a favorite to take the title. However, Myron Sterngold, Lehigh, upset the dope by pinning Pickett; Pickett was then shoved further into the background when he lost to Harvard's Bill Glendenning. The situation was further muddled Saturday when Toll pinned Sterngold.

Next to catching them yourself, the best way to make sure of freshness in fish is to buy Seafresh Fish Fillets. Within a few hours after the fish has been landed it has been cleaned and filleted, wrapped in spotless cellophane, packaged in white waxed paper cartons and quick frozen. That's why Seafresh Fish tastes so much better than much of the so-called "Fresh Fish." It is packed at its peak of perfection and held there by zero temperatures right up to the time of its use.
