

Referee's Decision In Mat Bouts Under Trial—Dr. Clapp

Although admitting that "the remarkable improvement in the quality of wrestling shown during 1938 was due largely to the elimination of time-piece decisions," Dr. R. G. Clapp of Nebraska, chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association wrestling rules committee, said that the present rule calling for referee decisions has not yet been thoroughly tested.

I.F.C. Adopts Revised System For Rushing

Fraternities may sign them Tuesday. On Wednesday the regular date periods begin and continue for the rest of the week. Under the new code there are three dates a day, a breakfast date from 7 a. m. to 10 a. m., a luncheon date from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m., and a dinner date from 5 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Open Rushing Begins Earlier On Sunday, September 18, there will be a second open house, followed by a silent period which ends when pledging begins at 6 p. m. Monday afternoon.

Fraternities may not contact freshmen outside the house until 8 o'clock Monday night, when open rushing begins for the rest of the school year. Under the old code, fraternities had to wait 30 days before they began open rushing.

Enforcement Committee Established

The code provides for an enforcement committee consisting of three faculty men belonging to fraternities which do not have chapters here. They shall investigate violations reported to them, and also investigate on their own initiative from time to time. Each committee member shall be paid an amount not exceeding $15.00 from the Interfraternity treasury for his services.

Upon finding a fraternity guilty of any violation, the committee is obliged to impose a mandatory penalty on the house. The penalty is the postponement of the pledging of freshmen by one day, with the silent period ending at that time instead of on Monday.

The committee which drew up the code consists of Moore, Clifford L. Cramer '38, Raymond S. Coker '39, Howard S. Pennypacker '38, Victor C. Sandham, Jr. '39, Lewis W. Shollenberger '39, and Charles H. Teller '38.

Peel, Student Board Battle At Meetings

Peel Charges Coercion

Peel charged that Student Board was composed chiefly of men who were interested in a Campus victory and that the delay in inquiring into his reasons for the late appointment were planned to embarrass him at a critical time. Peel claimed that the situation arising from the cutting of the comp list last spring should have been brought to his attention sooner.

The Board, on the other hand, cited the situation as one unusual and unique in college history and one that created the use of an unfair political practice.

John D. Kennon, chairman of the Board, said, "I don't care who wins the election, but I am interested in eliminating 'unfair advantages.'"

Campus, whose candidate is Stan Brown, was represented in the discussion by Ray Coker, a junior. Two tongue-lashing sessions were held, the second of which Peel, a member, did not attend. It was at this meeting that the Board drafted its statement.

Peel Issues Reply

Peel, in a special statement to the Collegian, answered the Board's action with the following statement:

"The interference of Student Board into the policies of the Junior Class is an unwarranted political assault designed by the Campus Clique to start off its dirty campaigning."

"To date, I have been criticized for designing a Junior Blazer that they say is profit-making in its inception. The Book Store originated and pushed ahead by hard-working, pioneering Independents has been vigorously attacked."

"Prejudiced fraternity men are coercing their houses into a fraternity versus non-fraternity showdown. We have the ideals that bespeak a co-operative student government; but ever since I went into office I have had to fight a powerful clique that has been built on rash promises, unfair tactics, and prejudiced motives."

"I stand as Junior Class President on a record that I invite any opponent to challenge within the limits of honest and constructive criticism. The Independents have many liberal-minded fraternity men working with them; we have pledged ourselves to a representative and efficient student government; and we will stand by that pledge."

"Win or lose, the Independents will never give up. In the years to come the non-fraternity group will be a rapidly growing majority—and I know, that unless this silly prejudice of fraternity versus non-fraternity men is abolished that the future will produce dire results to the fraternity men."

"I want clean politics, but the choice does not seem to be mine any longer. The Student Board 'setup', I believe, was purely a Campus political move. Let my future action prove this."

With the conflict getting warmer in the junior class minute-by-minute it became apparent today that nothing much in the way of excitement would be forthcoming from the other two classes where Arnie Laich and Wally Jones, both Campus, appear to have the upper hand.

As the result of this week's hot sessions, rumors flew from one end of the campus to the other. Most notable were:

That Peel will pledge Kappa Delta Rho following elections.

That Peel was making fifty cents apiece on the $1.65 Junior Blazers.

That Stan Brown has promised four men the chairmanship of Senior Ball.

That Brown was buying votes and that he had promised one fence-sitter chairmanship of both the Lion coats and caps and gowns committee.

All rumors were denied. Many of them, to put it mildly, seem to border on the edge of insanity. At the last check-up, Old Main was still safe.

Billy Soose Gets New Slant On How Screen Stars Toil

"I have to laugh at the cockeyed ideas I used to have about how movie stars lived," writes Billy Soose, Hollywood's adopted son and last year's Lion ring sensation, about his slant on things after spending four weeks in the movie colony.

"Two more genuine and 'homey' Blondell and Dick Powell. Dick makes you feel more like a fraternity brother, and Joan, by her youth, friendliness, and domesticity, makes you realize how 'ridiculous' all these wild stories of movie folk are," he explained. Powell is sponsoring Soose in his professional boxing career.

Soose seems appalled at the amount of work that a top-notch movie star goes through. Powell works from early morning to late at night on the sets, and then has to crowd in regular radio broadcasts. The radio thing is what got him, he claims. For only one hour on the air the participants have to rehearse two and a half days.

Other stars Soose has met are Pat O'Brien, Myrna Loy, Warner Baxter, Allen Jenkins, Anne Sheridan, Frank McHugh, and the Lane girls. He also speaks of the success of another former Penn State intercollegiate boxing champion, Jules Epstein, and his brother Phil, who are very successful scenario writers.

"As for West Coast college boxing, I have had the opportunity of watching U. C. L. A. in several bouts. Compared with the Eastern intercollegiate, the exhibitions out here are very tame," he comments. "A few good boys, but you can see that they do not have the advantage of the excellent coaching that we in the East received."

"Naturally the sport doesn't come in for much popularity among the students because of the low calibre of their teams, but Paul Moss, my friend and manager, says the present teams are a vast improvement over the teams he watched here several years ago," he continues.

Although Billy seems to be pretty busy socially, he doesn't forget his profession. He has been training regularly at the Manhattan gym in Los Angeles with top-notch sparring partners and already he has two victories under his belt. But Billy claims that he can't help but get homesick for Penn State every now and then.—A. G. M.

Traffic Officers To Gather Here

Country's Outstanding Highway Safety Experts To Speak At Training School

Some of the most outstanding traffic engineers and highway safety experts in the country will address the second annual traffic officers training school to be held here April 18 to 29.

The course will be directed by Captain H. S. Carey, chief of the Altoona Police department and chairman of the Educational Committee of Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police association.

Among the instructors will be Lloyd Blanchard, field representative of the National Safety Council; R. A. Hagerman, member of the State Highway Safety Council; Harold Hammond, director of Traffic Division, New York; Ray Hoover, lieutenant, Pennsylvania Motor Police; Burton W. Marsh, American Automobile association; and F. M. Kreml, director of Northwestern University Traffic Safety Institute.

Fletcher Exhibit Shown In Gallery

Painting, Lithographic Works On Display Until April 13; Won Major Honors

An exhibition of paintings and lithographs by Miss Hartley Fletcher, instructor in Fine Arts, is being held in the College art gallery, Rooms 303-305, Main Engineering building.

The exhibit started last Monday and will continue until Wednesday, April 13. The art gallery will be open daily from 8:30 a. m. until 8:30 in the evening.

Miss Fletcher, a member of the faculty for the past year, has exhibited her works in Chicago, Philadelphia, Seattle, Portland, Hartford, and elsewhere. She has submitted for exhibition 21 paintings and 10 lithographs. Some of these are of note in that they received honorable mention at major art contests.

decreased an original field of 44 teams. The number of entries was the largest in the history of the tournament.

These four contenders will vie for the trophy in the finals at the Nittany Lion Inn Tuesday night. Mr. Lee will present the award to the victorious team personally.

The tourney has been conducted by Prof. and Mrs. Clyde H. Graves, and James Q. A. McClure '38.

If Elected . . .

JOHN PATRICK Will put an end to Scheming and Corrupt Politics on our Campus.
