

BASEBALL, LACROSSE SEASONS OPEN HERE TOMORROW

Susquehanna Batters Oppose Nittany Team

Provided New Beaver field can survive belated snowstorms, possible high winds, or even a mild April squall, Joe Bedenk's Lion baseballers will open their season here against the Crusaders of Susquehanna University at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow's skirmish will mark the beginning of Bedenk's eight season as varsity diamond coach. His record as Nittany mentor has been an enviable one. Last year the Lions won 12 games and lost four, shutting out Susquehanna, 5-0, in their opener. Thirteen wins and four defeats were chalked up for the preceding season, but the Nittanymen bowed to the Crusaders, 17-16, in the season's inaugural. This year, though Susquehanna boasts a veteran nine, State is expected to whip the invaders with little trouble.

Watts to Start Fray
Bedenk will send Tom Watts, red-headed right-hander, to the mound to open the fray, planning to use Benny Simoncelli, Lion skipper, sometime after the fifth inning. Doc Crossin, clean-up batter, will take care of the catching duties.

Though Bedenk will start his veteran infield against Susquehanna, several promising infield embryos may be injected into the game. Charles Plummer, Ken Truhin, and Paul Menzie will likely see service at second, short, and third, respectively. As the line-up now stands, Mel Vornax will do the honors at first base, Rabbit Wear will cover second, Harry Harrison will handle the shortstop

Eight Squads Remain In IM Cage Finals

With six of the ten intramural cage quintets drawing hives into the quarter final round, Phi Delta Theta and the Independents battled their way into the same bracket after respective victories over Alpha Chi Rho and the B. R. B. Club Wednesday night. Sparked by Kingdom, scrappy guard, Phi Delta Theta thrashed out a 39-30 win over Alpha Chi Rho. Despite the brilliant showing of Blough, ACR forward who accounted for 18 of his team's 30 points. The Phi Dels managed to push ahead after the score at half time stood only 18-17 in their favor. Keeping Phi Delta Theta in the game, Kingdom rang up five rebound shots for a total of ten points while his team mate Fry got seven from the field for a count of 14 digits. Green did yeoman service for Alpha Chi Rho at guard.

In the only other game of the first round, the Independents had little trouble whipping the B. R. B. Club, 28-20. Limiting Chilcote, flashy B. R. B. guard, to four goals and one charity toss, the Independents, led by Trask with 10 points, piled up a 15-5 lead by half time and went on to win with apparent ease. Phillips, Hoffman, and Strein shared honors with Trask for the Independents while Mengle, lanky center, helped Chilcote pace the losers.

In the quarter final round, Sigma Alpha Epsilon meets Kappa Delta Rho; Phi Kappa faces Phi Delta Theta; the Independents oppose Lambda Chi Alpha; and Varsity Hall and Harvey's A. C. tangle.

Football 'Greats' Not At Practice

There are enough football players not participating in Penn State's spring practice to form a team potentially as great as the Lion varsity. This perplexing problem, which has the Lion coaching staff baffled, exists despite the concentrated effort of the coaches to get the men out and the supposedly intense interest in football shown by the absentees.

Whether or not these men will represent Penn State on the gridiron in a halfback on the all-Southern Conference team.

Burr—210-pound star end for the Cornell freshmen two years ago.

Disque—A transfer from the University of North Carolina. Named as they do, here's their star-studded background:

The future is not known. In case Herr—Promising six-foot, four-inch lineman, a member of the Lion Cubs last fall.

Scully—All-Pittsburgh city high school end a few years ago.

Engle—210-pound member of the all-Southern Military Academy team while playing for Masanutten. His father, "Dad" Engle, was one of Penn State's all-time greats at tackle.

Bachman—From Scarsdale, N. Y. Rated on a par with Brad Holland, Cornell's all-American end, on a picked all-star team. 190-pound transfer from Virginia.

Snaith—A brilliant guard for Kiski Prep, the Ohio State freshman, and the Penn State freshman. He was elected captain of the Lion yearlings at the end of last season.

McKinley—Regular halfback for the North Carolina, freshmen two years ago.

Snyder—Excellent passer as Harvey Deahn's understudy on the Nittany Cub team last fall. Fine full-back prospect.

Woolridge—A promising back as a freshman and sophomore from a football-playing family.

Krause—A star back for the Duke freshmen two years ago.

Parsons—Regular 200-pound end on the Lion freshman team last fall.
