

Radio Deadline Set
 Monday, September 19, is the deadline for letters of application to Gilbert L. Crossley, assistant professor of Electrical Engineering, to become affiliated with the college radio station W8YA and the Army Control Station WLMA.

Hunter College is offering a course in international expositions designed to train specialists in fair management.

Young '37 Attends Rearmament Confab
 Robert W. Young '37, is now attending the Oxford Group World Congress for Moral Rearmament at Interlaken, Switzerland.

Young has been with the group for the past summer. He traveled throughout the eastern states as a member of the New Enlistment, a group made up of students from leading colleges and universities of the country.

The Oxford Group, which was founded by Frank N. D. Buchman, former YMCA secretary at Penn State, is a religious movement which has been rapidly gaining international notice.

Women in Sports

All upperclass girls who are not physical education majors and who are interested in becoming hockey managers, should sign up on the bulletin board in your dormitory by Saturday noon. All freshman women who are interested in a hockey managership, should also sign up on their bulletin boards.

There will be a freshman hockey practice for beginners at Holmes Field, 4 o'clock Monday. Miss Lucy will be there to instruct all the Freshman beginners who are interested.

All women's physical education classes will meet in Grange Playroom instead of White Hall as originally scheduled.

At a Sports Rally for the Freshman women Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the Women's Recreation Association set-up was explained by the presidents of each club. Rachel M. Bechdel '39, president of the W. R. A. and Mary Ann Rhodes '40, activities chairman spoke and introduced the presidents of the clubs.

Ruth J. Shtasel '41 president of the Dance Club said, "This club offers an introduction to the modern dance to all beginners and will consist of simple movements, techniques, and compositions. No previous experience is necessary."

Cynthia D. Tompkins '40 president of the Riding Club told the group, "We have an ideal location for a great deal of riding. Although the horses available are not blue-ribbon winners, they are reliable and willing to work, so let's get together and organize a lasting interest in horses and riding at Penn State."

"The Outing Club includes hiking, bicycling, roller skating, ice skating at Whipple Dam, skiing and sliding," Barbara E. Lewis '39, president, explained to the group.

"The Swimming Club," said Marjorie Govier '39, "will include many sorts of aquatics, including diving, swimming, life-saving, and canoeing. For those girls interested in preparing themselves for summer camp jobs, the club will give the Senior Life Saving course, and also the Aquatic Instructor's course."

"The fall tournament sponsored by the Tennis Club will begin next week and anyone who is interested in playing should sign up on the slips placed in the women's dorms," Dorothy M. Pearce '40, president of that organization told the Freshman women. "Courts may be reserved by calling the tennis office the day before you want to play."

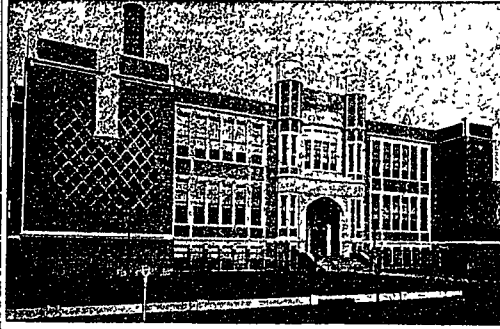

Ann G. Brinton '39, president of the Rifle Club said, "The purpose of this club is mainly to spread an interest in shooting and to develop the proper shooting technique. At the end of each year after various inter-club shoots the seven best shots will receive varsity emblems of honor."

"We will shoot out of doors on Holmes Field as long as the weather permits, then we hope to use our indoor archery range in White Hall during the winter," said Katherine Quackenbush '40, president of the Archery Club. "Don't let your ignorance keep you away because we are very willing to teach beginners."

Eloise F. Rockwell '40 president of the Indoor or Variety Club said, "The club is composed of less strenuous sports such as badminton, deck tennis, pingpong, bowling, and shuffle board. Our aim is to learn and develop skills and have fun doing it."

Anyone can sign up by going to the Grange playroom, but be sure you don't sign up for more than two clubs. Every one who is a woman student in Penn State has the opportunity—why not take it?"

work are encouraged in all of the Centers.

Inter-Center student council conferences are arranged as a medium for exchange of ideas on problems of student activities in the school. The third of these annual conferences will be held in Uniontown on October 14 and 15.

Last year the Campus Centers Club was organized by men and women of undergraduate centers who came to the campus as sophomores or juniors.

The aim of this club is to create some sort of social organization for Center students. Dinners, dinners and informal group meetings have made this aim successful.

Copy Campus Customs
 A "big sister" plan, similar to that used by upperclass women and freshman girls, is in effect for the first time this year among women students from undergraduate centers.

Each woman on campus who was formerly enrolled in a center is assigned two "little sisters," i.e., women coming to the campus from centers other than her own.

Campus Centers Club instigated the new plan in an effort to make orientation easier for center students who have not been freshman "little sisters."

A dinner was given by the club in Old Main Sandwich Shop last night to welcome 97 newcomers to the campus from Undergraduate Centers.

Officers of the Campus Centers Club are William D. Menzie '39, president, H. Joseph Rynkiewicz '39, vice president, Doris R. Rowland, special student, secretary, and William H. Filer '39, treasurer.

Freshman Engineers May Attend Smoker

A smoker for all freshmen engineering students will be held at the Triangle fraternity at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Dean Harry P. Hammond, of the school of engineering, will head a group of speakers. Refreshments will be served.

It is out for the entertainment of the freshmen.

Then at 7:30 Saturday, October 1, Motor Board winds up the whirl of activities with a scavenger hunt. It's a big three weeks, one not to be missed!

This fight Tuesday night was his fifth knockout . . . if the Pittsburgh Pirates win the pennant, arrangements are being made for him to fight in Pittsburgh during the World Series.

Bill's right hand was injured when he won a ten-round decision over Al Quail in Pittsburgh, July 25 . . . he has continued to fight . . . but the middle knuckle is still swollen, and although it bothers him when he lands a punch, he has continued his unbeaten streak.

Bill thinks Freddy Apostoli is the top man in the middleweight division . . . he doesn't think that Al Hostak, the current middleweight champion, is so hot.

Bill's William was glad to hear that Nestor Kocubinsky, his old teammate and fellow member of the Class of '39, has returned to school after a year's absence . . . when Bill was informed that Frankie Goodman, another member of that championship team of 1936-'37, had turned pro, he shook his head and said "It's a tough racket . . . sorry to see him do it."

Here is a brief resume of Billy's record up to date:

March 10—Knocked out Johnny Deun, San Diego, in fourth round at Los Angeles.

March 30—Decisively Jimmy Bent, Arizona, in four rounds at Los Angeles.

April 6—Knocked out Hippo Higgs, Los Angeles, in third round at Los Angeles.

June 6—Knocked out Joe Lujan, Mexico City, in third round at Long Beach, Cal.

June 17—Decisively Johnny Foster, California, in six rounds at Hollywood.

July 25—Decisively Al Quail, Pittsburgh, in 10-round semi-final bout at Pittsburgh.

August 2—Won technical knockout over Eric Lawson, New York, in seventh round at Clearfield.

August 29—Decisively Freddy Lenn, Pittsburgh, in 10-round main bout at Pittsburgh.

September 13—Knocked out Charley Wese, New York, in second round at Farrell, Pa.

Registration figures for the summer sessions this year showed 2,869 resident and 224 non-resident students enrolled.

Penn State's four undergraduate centers are located at DuBois, Hazleton, Pottsville, and Uniontown.

Louisiana State University are on a reciprocal basis.

Land holdings of the College total more than 2,000 acres.

Things To Be . . .

Pop-In nights, stunts, a kiddie party, and a scavenger hunt comprise the program planned for the freshmen women during the three weeks non-dating period that started Wednesday.

Sunday night, freshmen will be "at home" to the upperclass women who will visit from 8:30 until 10 o'clock. Light refreshments are customary.

The "Green Ribbon Gang" will play at the W.S.G.R. kiddie party in the Armory Saturday, September 24, in costumes reminiscent of lolly-pops and Junior League—a grand night to forget sophistication and dignity and just have fun.

On a second Pop-In night, Sunday, September 25, all upperclass doors will be open, and the freshmen have their chance to see behind the scenes and get acquainted.

Pan-Hellenic climaxes the program with its annual stunt night, Friday, September 30, when each of the women's fraternities gives a
