Clique Selects Crawford As Present Head

Temporary Officers Named
By Freshman Campus
Political Group

It took the Freshman Campus clique within a clique quite a few additional meetings during the past week, but these twenty-odd houses finally succeeded in placing Jack Crawford, Delta Tau Delta, as temporary chairman at an official gathering in Kappa Sigma, Wednesday night.

Jack Sloan, Phi Gamma Delta, gave Crawford a close run for the position which usually leads to the actual clique chairmanship. Either boy would have been acceptable.

Crawford was the candidate of the various Locust Lane fraternities, which broke away temporarily, but now that he is in, all is forgotten. The first count in the final election was all even as the boys split 34 votes. However, several of Sloan's supporters apparently backed down on the next ballot.

John Long, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Tom Henson, Phi Kappa Tau, Dave Haiver, Phi Delta Theta, Bill Meyers, Beta Theta Pi, and Ray Schaeffer, Phi Epsilon Pi, were the other boys nominated for the post but eliminated on the first ballot. Meyer and Schaeffer declined to run.

In the competition for the remaining two temporary offices, Bob Purlong, Phi Sigma Kappa, bested Long for the secretary post. Jim Oliver, Alpha Kappa Pi, bowed to Jack Morgan, Phi Gamma Delta, on the second ballot for the treasurer.

Arnie Luech, sophomore class president, and Ed Wagner, campus clique chairman for the sophomores, handled the meeting in fine style, sans rough stuff. And there was very little lobbying.

PREXY

That's what students, faculty, and administration members all call Dr. Ralph Dorn Hetzel, College president. Yet, because of the responsibilities that go with his position, "Doctor Hetzel" is rarely seen in public. Just what he is like? Marriage Speaker Popenoe Plans Discussion Of Sex Problems

DR. PAUL POPENOE

Kaiser, who resides in Altoona, was dropped from school on June 11 because of the 50 per cent rule, but was reinstated for the Summer Session only. At the end of Summer Session, a complaint was filed against him by the Library stating that he had removed 39 books without charging them at the desk and had defaced three others.

Because of this charge Kaiser was not reinstated this fall but allowed to schedule tentatively by Dean O. F. Smith, pending action of the College Disciplinary Committee. After the committee met to hear the charges, Kaiser was refused readmission to school for the fall term and his registration cancelled.

Kaiser was apprehended by police late Monday night and pleaded guilty to forgery on two counts at a hearing the following afternoon before Justice of the Peace Harold Cowher, Bellefonte. He was committed to jail in default of bail.

The information was signed by Borough Police Chief M. L. Kauffman.

The forgeries were uncovered last Saturday when the First National Bank notified Blood his account had been overdrawn.

A check written to "Cash" under the name of Blood and endorsed by Blood but countersigned by "S. Kaiser" gave police the first clue.

According to police Kaiser said he cultivated the friendship of Blood during the past Summer Session and finally borrowed $50 from him just the day before he forged his first check for $15 on an "Blood's" account, paying off the loan at that time.

On August 1, Kaiser passed two checks on an Altoona bank under the fictitious name of Max Samuels in payment for some merchandise, police said. Part of the money has been paid to the merchant, they added, but the case was not reported.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, noted director of the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, Calif., will visit the campus over the weekend to conduct forums on the problems of sex, marriage, heredity, and parenthood.

$2,600 Debate Budget Okayed

Forensic Council Approves
17 Per Cent Slash In Expenditures

A budget of approximately $2,600—more than 17 per cent below that of last year—was approved by Forensic Council for the 1938-39 school year at its meeting Tuesday.

The slash was recommended in a report by Prof. Joseph F. O'Brien, treasurer of Council, and Prof. J. H. Frazell, director of debate.

Expenditures for the men's debating teams will be reduced $112.57, with women's debating teams taking a cut of $127.79.

Itemized recommendations and expected savings, as cited in the report, follow:

"Men—Drop Michigan as Southern trip, $80.25 drop Philadelphia-Baltimore trip, $51, replace freshman Allegheny trip with freshman Juniata trip (to cost not over $10), $51.88, replace extended Eastern tour with tour of New South (to cost not over $200), $225.11, total savings, $112.57.

"Women—Reduce expenses $127.79, as they see fit, but the women's council to report a specific plan to the treasurer by November 1.

"Conventions—Pay only rooms for three people for two nights at 75 cents plus Friday night's dinner at 60 cents, saving $50.

"Grand total saving, $500.36."

Although a reduction of only $449.40 was "necessary" to make our accounts for 1938-39 balance," the report recommended that "this economy be extended an additional $100 to $549.40, that Council may be in a position to care for such exigencies as may occur during the Summer."

Proposed Commons Would Accommodate Approximately 1,000

Addition Made To Part II Of $4,000,000
Program, Which Provides For Income-Bearing Buildings

See editorial, "This Era of Expansion," Page 2
By BERNARD A. NEWMAN
A cafeteria for men, to accommodate approximately 1,000 students at mealtime, was included in the final project plans which were submitted recently by President Ralph D. Hetzel to the General State Authority for approval.

The cafeteria, purposely planned for the accommodation of students living in the men's dormitories, would be a three-story structure situated on the site across from the Alpha Zeta house, near Recreation Hall.

Present Status Unknown
Included as an "income-bearing" building, the cafeteria comes under the heading of Part II of the $4,000,000 program submitted although Part I, which includes academic buildings and not income-bearing, has been approved by the General State Authority, it is not known at present whether Part II also has been approved.

If already approved, both are now before the Public Works Administration. If approved by the PWA, construction will be started on all buildings before the end of the year.

With four new men's dormitories expected, approximately 500 men will live in the group of seven buildings. The proposed cafeteria will be expected to draw men from other sections of the campus because of accommodations planned for approximately 1,000.

Last year a petition was signed by men living in the dormitories asking that a dining commons be established in Irvin Hall this year. The petition was given to Walter A. Jones, Junior Class president, who later turned it over to S. K. Hostetter, assistant to the President in charge of business and finance.

It was deemed advisable to drop this idea because of plans, which were being made for obtaining a grant which would help finance a more spacious and up-to-date cafeteria, reports say.

Co-Chairmen To Arrange Plans For Soph-Hop

Moeller, Robinson '42 Head
Committee Of Six Men,
One Woman
For the second successive year, co-chairmen were named to head the committee for the Sophomore Hop by representatives of the Sophomore Class and the sophomore class.

Erik S. Moeller and Robert Robinson were selected at a meeting Wednesday night along with a committee of six men and one woman Ruth K. Kistler. The appointment of a woman to the group marked a new policy in dance committee selections.

Other committeemen chosen for the dance, slated for December 3, include S. Gawley Atkinson, Lawrence S. Dreyer, I. Donald Gurtland, Edgall V. Hall, Stanley T. Kent, and Daniel Thomas, Jr.

No orchestra has as yet been selected for the dance although Sophomore Class President Arnold C. Leich has been conducting a popularity poll.

Red Norvo and Mildred Bailey played at last year's Soph Hop which realized a deficit of approximately $700, largest ever reported for a similar occasion.

High School Pupils In Kansas Contest

Three high school students were selected in the final eliminations here for the national livestock judging contest in the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City, Oct. 15-22.

Prof. Henry S. Brunner, head of the department of rural education, conducted the contest in which ten vocational high school boys competed.

A Liberal, Dr. Ferguson Believes In Sen. Norris

Born and reared in Nebraska, Dr. John H. Ferguson of the department of history and political science, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Nebraska Central College, a small Quaker institution, in 1920.

After teaching history in high school for one year, he accepted a position as director of boys' work in a social settlement in Philadelphia—a post he held until 1934. In 1932 Dr. Ferguson was awarded his degree of Master of Arts in political science by the University of Pennsylvania.

Coming to Penn State in the summer of 1934, the professor immediately stamped himself as an interpreter of national and international political trends and events. Always ranking high in student and faculty esteem, Dr. Ferguson received his Doctorate of Philosophy from the University of Pennsylvania in 1934. His thesis, based on private papers held by the Department of State, was entitled, "American Diplomacy in the Boer War."

One of the outstanding academic liberals of the State, Dr. Ferguson has done intensive research on government regulation of public utilities. He recently wrote an article for Public Utilities Fortnightly entitled, "The Public Ownership Drive in Pennsylvania."

A consistent crusader for peace, he is a member of the National Council for the Prevention of War, the American Friends Service Committee, and is chairman of the local Peace Action Committee, and the local Committee for the Advancement of the Institute of International Relations.

When he is not occupied with political science and peace activities, Dr. Ferguson devotes his time to the study of the co-operative movement. He regards Sen. George Norris of Nebraska as "an ideal American statesman." His hobby is fishing.

Wackiness To Reign At Beaux-Arts Ball Tonight

Have you ever wanted to go completely "wacky"? Well, tonight you've got your chance.

Scabab, honorary architecture fraternity, has arranged to turn the Armory into a "nuthouse" tonight from 9 to 1 and "nutiness" will hold sway.

Everyone can go slightly demented at the Beaux Arts Ball tonight and not feel out of place. At a price of $1 per couple, the Tribunal will excuse freshmen from customs to attend the affair and upperclass women will be allowed 2 o'clocks.

Joseph "Didenger," chairman of the dance, announced that prizes will be awarded for the five best costumes—one each for the most elaborate, the craziest, the most simple, and two for goodness in general.

Trustees, (perhaps it would be better to call them chaparrons) at the "nuthouse" will be the professors in the departments of architecture and landscape architecture. "Looney tunes" will be furnished by the Campus Owls.
