Co-Eds Will Play Santa To Underprivileged Kiddies

Perhap there still is a Santa Claus Not a jolly old man who lives at the Porth Pole, but a Santa Claus made up of the collective good will of Penn State coeds.

At least that is what the Women's House of Representatives is expecting to find in conducting its Christmas Drive next week Coeds will be asked to donate their bit to the fund and their donations will go to answer letters like this

Dear Santa Claus

Dear Sants please will you get a pair of gloves, pleas will you give me a pair of pance, please will you give me a neck tie, and a new sunday shirt, and don't forget my candy

The goal this year has been set as 25 cents from each coed Just 25 cents—less than the price of a movie, what you'd spend on a trip to the corner and a pack of cigarettes—but it can do a lot for little Harry who writes

Dear Santa Claus

For Christmas I would like to have two pair of men's boxing gloves, skis, big little books, and a Gene Autry Gun Please do not forget the boxing gloves Will you please be sure they are two pair of gloves

All money collected will go to aid under-privileged children in our own and nearby communities Part is given to the nursery school children in Lytle's Addition, and part sent to the Mifflin County Children's Aid in Lewistown Most of it goes for necessities—necessities that are luxuries to these children—but a portion is kept for the toys and games that make Christmas

The drive will begin Monday and last until the following Monday. So when you are approached by a W S G A. representative, don't let your own busy holiday plans keep you from responding Do your part to make it a good old Merry Christmas—and to give Harry his boxing gloves!

See-Saw Lions Good But Lacked A Certain Punch

By BILL ENGEL

The cover is about to be closed on the eight-act story concerning the ups and downs of Penn State's 1938 grid aggregation

Up for Maryland, down for Bucknell Up for Lehigh, down for Cornell Way up for Syracuse, way down for Lafayette Halfway up for Penn and then Pitt So inconsistent were the Nittany Lions that even the bookies went balmy

With it all, the Nittanymen ran true to Coach Bob Higgin's early season prediction that "the Lions will have a stronger football team but one which may not win as many games"

Good—But Punch Lacking

The '38 gang was good The ends were strong and the backfield material was plentiful and exceptional Leon Gajecki developed into a master defensive center and the sophomore reserves proved a shining light That they all could play good football was clearly demonstrated in the stunning Syracuse rout.

But, the punch was lacking—Windy Wear wasn't handy enough to step in there when the going got rough And thus the season's tabulation officially reads three victories, four defeats, and one tie

When the Lions won a ball game this past year, there was no question in any one's mind as to which team on the field was the superior Maryland, handicapped by injuries to key players, was no match for the Higginsmen in the opener and bowed, 33-0 Lehigh was the victim of a 59-6 track meet triumph, and the entire varsity squad ran wild after being keyed to the peak to down the Orange, 33-6

Ickes Used Head

Lloyd Ickes' headwork on a blocked extra point try which he made good by picking up and running over, topped the season's individual performances and gave State a 7-7 deadlock with Penn State's Public Enemy No 1 — Pennsylvania

Two of the East's strongest contenders, Pitt and Cornell, made it plenty tough for the boys on two away week-ends, but the two home encounters which the gridmen dropped to the Bisons and the Leopards cannot be passed by lightly.

In both instances the Lions were definitely "off" Nothing worked Bucknell's first eleven played an inspired game which jumped 100 points when Frank Funari galloped 95 yards for a touchdown early in the game. Rain hampered the Lafayette show which "Lady" stole if you remember

Will Miss Some Seniors

At least half of the 14 graduating seniors will be missed when Higgins begins to mold his 1939 squad Alex Bariantovich, Bill Ellwood, Tony Giannantonio, Dean Hanley, Harry Harrison, Bernie Briggs, John Patrick, Joe Peel, and Tor Toretti were mighty handy men to have around

But experienced juniors and sophomores, likely first year reserves, and a crop from this year's best freshman squads in recent days, will aid in filing next season's rough edges

So, more power to the 1939 season!

think we'd be printing it otherwise, do you?)

First team ends—Holland, Cornell and Daddio, Pitt, tackles—Beinor, Notre Dame and Wolfe, Santa Clara, guards—Twedell, Minnesota and Heikkinnen, Michigan, centre—Aldrich, Texas Christian, backs—O'Brien, Texas Christian (Captain—Little Davey also set a new vote-getting record), Goldberg, Pitt, Luckman, Columbia; and Bottari, California.

Second team ends—Wysocki, Villanova and Young, Oklahoma, tackles — Hale, Texas Christian and Gatto, Louisiana State, guards — Bock, Iowa State and Smith, Southern California, center — Hill, Duke, backs — McLeod, Dartmouth, Cafego, Tennessee, Weiss, Wisconsin, and Omanski, Holy Cross

Note that on the first team are Holland, Daddio, and Goldberg—three members of Penn State's players' and coaches' all-opponent selections.

Joe Metro, Leon Gajecki, and Alex Bariantovich were given honorable mention.

China School Begins Class

Despite the seizure of Canton, South China, by the Japanese Army, Lingnan University, known here as "Penn State in China," is still continuing its work, the Penn State in China Committee learned yesterday

Replying to a query of Harry W Seamans, P S C A. secretary, as to the raising of funds for Lingnan in the future, Olin D Wannamaker, American director of the university, stated that funds from Penn State are still needed

Almost all of the large enrollment of Lingnan students has been accepted for the semester's work at Hongkong University, in Hongkong, a British crown colony

Students Now in Hongkong

The education of the students at Hongkong is being carried on jointly by Lingnan's Chinese faculty and part of its American faculty Prof G Weidman Groff, State '07, is in Hongkong and will carry on his work as head of agricultural teaching of the Lingnan students Wannamaker stated that 50 out of Lingnan's former 620 students were able to go to Hongkong

A part of the American faculty has remained on Lingnan's campus and the American women are supervising the care of 4,000 destitute Chinese refugees now housed on the University grounds These refugees were unable to escape either north or west from Hongkong when the Japanese advanced on the city

off the records

Little Ella comes out on Decca in the latest batch of recordings with a jim-dandy vocal of F. D R Jones. Chick Webb and the boys help make the number one that you want to play five times in a row The reverse has Ella Fitzgerald again, this time singing I Love Every Move You Make, another spine-tingler

We like Henry Busse's recording of Who Blew Out the Flame It's slow sweet swing featuring some beautiful muted trumpet that will take hold. Skip Morr, Busse's vocalist, sings My Heart Is Unemployed on the other side to round out the two good numbers on this one platter He also sings Take Me With You, a catchy tune, on another record The reverse to this is Begin The Beguine by Busse, which we would have praised a lot more if we hadn't heard Artie Shaw's recording of it first

Decca is putting out some fine twelve inch popular every now and then, and this time we hear Glen Gray's Sleepy Time Gal, a classic for the collection. Drifting Apart on the other side does not quite measure up to the high standard of the former

Spud Murphy and his orchestra register will with two of Spud's own compositions, Ecstacy and Dancing With a Debutante

Hungerford To Draw At Get-Together For Journalists Monday

Cy Hungerford, one of the best known of the Pennsylvania cartoonists and a member of the staff of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, will speak at the annual Sigma Delta Chi Christmas Smoker to be held in the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house at 7 30 p m Monday night for all students interested in journalism

Hungerford will draw caricatures of the guests and will illustrate with humorous drawings his lecture about his travels abroad

Informal talks and introductions will be made by D N Slep, publisher of the Altoona Mirror, George A. Stewart, publisher of the Clearfield Progress, Col B C Jones, publisher of the Tyrone Herald; other editors and publishers from nearby towns and cities, and members of the faculty of the journalism department.

Paragraph 2, of the U. S Constitution says: "He (the President) shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur . . " .There is absolutely no mention of the House voting on any treaties whatsoever. The only way the House can exert even indirect control over treaties is in the voting of appropriations.

But this is beside the point.

What matters—what is most important—is that the power to negotiate these trade agreements rest in the executive as they do now, free from Senatorial tinkering and Senatorial sluggishness

Now the present reciprocal trade act provides for hearings prior to the negotiation and signing of any pact, hearings at which interested business firms may freely present their views—the people who are affected personally, not Senators who may be looking forward to political reprisals because the man in office bears a different party label.

Today is a new day This era is a new era—an era marked by lightning-like action on the world front, an era which requires almost instant and spontaneous reaction to a given condition that may change again before an hour is up It is because of this that democracies—girded as they are only to peace—must realize that all neighbors are not peaceful and, once realizing this, must—for their own sake—concentrate power in that arm of government which carries on international relations.

When the history of this era is written, it will undoubtedly point out that the tragedy of the democracies was their insistence to retain traditions, traditions which could not be applied to a new world.

And the sooner we learn this, the better.

Best Wishes for a Merry Christmas
