4 Lion Boxers Bye Into Intercollegiate Semi-Finals
SENATE KILLS PETITION FOR MID-YEAR VACATION

Draw Gives Army Edge To Repeat
Schweitzer, Silvestri Back In Line-Up For Meetings

Special to the Collegian
NEW YORK, March 6.—Drawing byes in the 127, 135, 175 and unlimited classes, Penn State's boxing team automatically placed four men in the semi-finals of the 16th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association tournament, to be held at Syracuse Friday and Saturday.

The pairings, made here yesterday by officials and coaches of the Association, favored Army's defending champions, who gained five byes to four for Penn State and Syracuse, two each for Cornell and Dartmouth, and one for Western Maryland, Yale, the sixth entry, failed to draw a single bye.

2 Lion Newcomers
Two comparative newcomers were inserted into the Penn State lineup, with Hank Schweitzer replacing Jim Lewis, injured 165-pounder, and Frank Silvestri substituting for Frank "Red" Stankov, sophomore 145-pounder.

Byeing into the semi-finals for the Nittany-Lions were Al Tapman, undefeated 127-pounder, Capt Roy Hanna, 135-pound senior, John G Patrick, senior at 175 pounds and John R. Patrick, sophomore heavyweight.

Other Penn State entries are Mike Cooper, at 120 pounds, and Bernie Sandson at 155.

The pairings, involving 46 boxers, 120-pound class—Lavandusky, Army, by, Fasanello, Yale, vs. Rouse, Western Maryland, Cooper, Penn State, vs. Wood, Dartmouth, Terrier, Syracuse, vs. Dell, Cornell (Lavandusky is defending champion).

SWINGMASTER

Larry Clinton, the "Old Dipsy-Doodler," will bring his nationally-known band here for the annual Interfraternity Ball to be held in Recreation Hall March 31.

Private Phone Setup Planned By Sororities

Change Seen As Step Toward Alleviating Congestion On 4961 Exchange

Plans to either install private telephones in each sorority house or else restrict calls made through 4961 to five minutes have been proposed in an effort to alleviate congestion on the women's telephone exchange.

Two sororities, Chi Omega and Kappa Alpha Theta, have already signed an agreement to connect directly with the downtown exchange. It will be presented to the Bell Telephone Company along with a letter of approval from Dean Ray.

The proposal to limit calls to five minutes was made by R. Y. Sigworth, supervisor of utilities, who in a survey last Monday and Tuesday found that 31 per cent of all calls made through the Frances Atherton switchboard were over 10 minutes, several lasting 50 minutes.

Under the plan callers would be given a warning when their conversation had gone five minutes, and cut off one minute later.

Rockwell Declares Novel Dance Theme

Evolution of the coed will be the theme of the fifth annual WSGA formal dance to be held in Rec Hall Friday, Chairman Elvise Rockwell '40, has announced.

Committees for the dance are: publicity—Joan C. Sperling '39, chairman, Paula B. Wolford '39, and Jean C. Taylor '40, decorations—Jean C. Cloughhead '41, chairman, Elizabeth B. Long '39 and Mabel R. Goss '40.

Admission is free to all women students. Bill Bottorf's orchestra will play.

Enrollment Increase Balked By Budget

This is the second in a series of articles interpreting the implications of the Governor's budget allocation to the College. In the last issue, the probable utilization of physical facilities was discussed. Today's article deals with enrollment.

By JOHN A. TROANOVITCH
Although the College has been hopeful of increasing enrollment to meet the greater demand, the allocation of only $4,425,000 included in Governor James' budget for the coming biennium makes this seem highly improbable.

In the first place, the College's physical plant, without including the 11 buildings now nearing completion, has proved inadequate in meeting the needs of the present student body, especially so since the huge Chemistry Amphitheater (Bull Pen) was leveled by fire during the 1937 Christmas recess.

To increase the size of the student body, then, would not be feasible unless physical facilities should be expanded at the same time. This, however, seems remote unless College budget estimates are revised.

The maintenance appropriation for 1937-39 totaled $4,275,000. For the 1939-41 biennium, James has recommended $4,425,000—an increase of only $150,000.

As was shown in the previous article, this $150,000 would be hardly enough to cover light, heat, water and janitorial services for the two years, much less equip the new structures.

To place the new plant at full capacity would require $585,939.70 worth of movable equipment. The College pointed out in its original request to James.

This, however, is only part of the story, for increased physical facilities and increased enrollment would entail increased operating costs.

The College made this clear in its original budget request when it asked $514,580 for "additional personnel required for relief of a personnel now operating under an excess instructional load and to meet the requirements for an increased student enrollment consistent with the expansion of physical facilities offered by the building program under the General State Authority.

Moreover, physical plant operation (heat, light, power, water, janitorial services, etc.) would require an additional $146,864.65.

All of these items were reduced, of course, in the second request, when the College indicated its "minimum requirements" would cost for $251,600 for movable equipment, $232,000 for additional personnel and $116,864 for operating expenses.

With increased enrollment likely to mean an increase in maintenance costs by more than $700,000, therefore, it is obvious to see that the $150,000 increase contained in the Governor's budget is insufficient.

As Dean of Men A. R. Wainock said in his local column last week: "Obviously the size of the student body cannot be increased."

Noll Addresses Ag Seminar
Dr. Charles F. Noll, professor of experimental agronomy, talked on "Breeding Oats for Smut Resistance" at the Agronomy Faculty Seminar at 4 10 p. m. Monday in 103 Ag Building.

Students Approve Slash In WPA, Still For FDR
In a poll of college youth taken for the Penn State Collegian and 32 other college newspapers, the Student Opinion Surveys of America asked students, "Do you agree with Congress in reducing relief appropriations?" The vote:

Yes 63.3%
No 36.7%
In keeping with this tendency to oppose the President's policies, the Surveys' percentages showing student approval of Franklin D. Roosevelt as chief executive dropped more than two points from the showing during January College approval of the President has varied during the last three months as follows:

Table showing student approval of Roosevelt as chief executive: December 62.8%, January 65.5%, February 63.2%, East-Central 64.2%, West Central 62.4%, New England 62.3%, Middle Atlantic 58.7%

9 AIRMINDED SENIORS

Group Studies Future Standing Of Soph Hop

A joint meeting of Student Board and Student Council, believed to be the first of its kind in years, will be held at 8:15 Thursday, Senior Class President Joseph A. Peel announced last night. A matter of "paramount importance to the students" will be discussed, Peel indicated. The Board originally had been scheduled to meet tomorrow night.

Endeavoring to determine the future status of Soph Hop, Student Board named a special three-man committee to investigate and report a solution at a meeting tomorrow night.

Headed by Joseph A. Peel, president of Student Board, and including Donald W. Wright '39 and Arnold C. Luch '41, the committee has been working on plans to reduce expenses and increase income.

Holding the dance informal, hiring a smaller name band, and omitting extravagant decorations and programs, is the three-fold plan considered for reducing expenses. Raising the income, shifting the date to the Saturday night of a football week-end, and lowering the admission cost have been discussed as possible solutions.

In view of the large debts realized from Soph Hop in the past two years, the issue has been an important one before the Board. A loss of approximately $890 was sustained this year with a $697 deficit sustained in the previous year.

The Board discussed the situation for more than a half hour at its last meeting, but failed to reach a definite conclusion. Thus the special group was appointed.

Ohio Firm Submits Low Bid For Pumps

Special to the Collegian
HARRISBURG, March 6.—An unofficial low bid of $5,456 for deep well pumps at the Pennsylvania State College was submitted by the Peerless Pump Division, Musilton, O., the General State Authority announced here.

Although no official statement could be obtained on the matter, it was believed the project is part of the original program to improve the College water supply, included in the first Authority undertaking at State College which was launched February 14, 1938.

Appointment of a joint Campus-Independent committee of nine by the respective 1942 class cliques was the latest development in the tentative plans for a Freshman Dance. Two women were included in the group.

Thomas J. Henson, Campus, and Earl L. Kemmler, Independent, will serve as co-chairman for the affair, now slated for Recreation Hall, Saturday, March 25. Joyce L. Bratton and Anne M. Bolton were the women named.

Others are John J. Long, Robert S. Stafford, William A. Zielonka, James L. Clovis, and Benjamin L. Seem. Selections were made by Gerald F. Doherty and John W. Crawford, Independent and Campus chairman respectively, with approval by Acting President Robert D. Baird.

Dr. Hetzel Leaves On His Annual Vacation; Plans Travel in South

President Ralph D. Hetzel, accompanied by his wife, left for the Southland Sunday morning by automobile for his annual vacation.

Although no definite route of his tour has been mapped, it is believed the President will keep in touch with administrative officials here in order that he might return at a moment's notice if necessary.

After a brief discussion, the students were requested to leave the meeting.

Move For Week Recess
A motion was made to grant a one-week vacation between semesters, as requested by the student petition. Question arose, however, as to whether this should apply to the 1939-40 calendar, already approved by the Senate, or future calendars.

A substitute motion was made to place the Senate on record as favoring the vacation in the future, but before a vote was reached, a third motion to table consideration on the calendar was introduced and adopted.

The discussion then turned to additional study of the proposal, and the question was referred to the Calendar Committee and the Committee on Academic Standards, with the request that they consider also the question of "longer final examinations" and similar problems.

Holiday Ruled Out In '39-40 Calendar; Favored In Future

Referred To Two Committees For Study; Student Representation Tabled Until Next Meeting

A student petition to amend the 1939-40 calendar to include a mid-year vacation was apparently killed by the College Senate at its meeting Thursday afternoon in a session lasting nearly two hours.

Although the official minutes of the meeting did not state this specifically, Registrar William S. Hoffman, secretary of the Senate, was instructed to inform the students that the Senate "had not found it feasible to grant their petition for this year," meaning apparently the 1939-40 calendar.

The Senate indicated, however, that it was somewhat in favor of the vacation and referred the entire question for detailed study to the Calendar Committee and the Committee on Academic Standards, which were instructed to report "at an early date."

Representation Plan Tabled
Because of the long discussion of the vacation proposal the question of student representation in the Senate was tabled for consideration at the next meeting.

The student petition for a mid-year recess was presented orally to the Senate by Walter A. Jones, junior class president, who acted as spokesman for the invited group, including Joseph A. Peel, senior class head, and Raymond S. Cokery, president of Interfraternity Council.

After a brief discussion, the students were requested to leave the meeting.

Bigwigs To Roast Tonight In Sigma Delta Chi Oven

There will be absolutely nothing sacred and no holds barred when campus bigwigs, professors and town celebrities gather at the Nittany Lion Inn tonight for Sigma Delta Chi's sixth annual Gildon Banquet. Roasting ceremonies begin promptly at 7 p. m.

Thomas H. "Tommy" Richardson, noted humorist and after-dinner speaker, will be guest-entertainer for the journalism honorary's traditional affair. Richardson, whose witticisms will enliven everyone, was once official jester for Connie Mack's baseball Athletics. He is now president of the Eastern Professional Baseball League.

The theme of this year's banquet is a "Circus into which skits and gags taping prominent Penn State students, the Administration and professors and well-known townspeople have been cleverly woven."

Agan, and with its same unbridling lavishness, Sigma Delta Chi will make five awards symbolic of the outstanding campus characters. To the senior who has loafed through four years of college will go the traditional Brown Derby.

Most consistent drunk of the year will receive a mug and the biggest grade-chaser, a shiny new apple. To the individual who has been rendered round-shouldered from the weight of keys, and more keys will go a gargantuan key-of-all-keys.

New this year will be the knife award to be presented to biggest campus politician.

Guys And Gags Feature 'Stuff'n Nonsense' Revue

The three G's of the Thespians—Guys, Gags and Gals—will again predominate when the group presents its Spring show, "Stuff'n Nonsense," in Schwab Auditorium Friday and Saturday nights.

Among the musical numbers will be "Dancing in the Moonlight," "Jigaboo," "Drum Beats," and "Oh, Can't Find Them." Added to this list of original dance routines and song hits will be a number of comical skits portraying the satirical side of current campus happenings.

These skits include a take-off on the Collegian's housing campaign, McCloskey at his best, a Locker Room scene, a glimpse of the Senate Calendar Committee in action, and "Bury the Dead" in which the Thespians unlearn their own idea of a Players' Show.

Among the other specialties will be the New York World's Fair in Swintime, and the two stooges—those two guys who persist in dancing.

To attract the eye and please the public, the Thespians will again feature Babs Thiele, definitely their umph girl, Marce

Stanger, the Thespians' female tanzan, Lois Jane Hunter, the demure freshman of the outfit, and Pat Altwater, their star ballet dancer.
