Sophomores Must Provide Spark For Lion Trackmen

Development of the sophomores may either make or break the team, so according to Coach Chuck Weiner. His '41 proteges must provide the spark needed to touch off the Nittany Lion track "power keg."

Golfers Meet Army, Rutgers Over Weekend

Penn State's 10 1/2 3/4 victory over a team of 11 states from county clubs in the vicinity, the varsity golf team left yesterday to test its clubs against Rutgers and Army.

Lack Mahaffey, Bill Gross, Ken Kingensmith, Bud Miller, Ed Hebl and Jack Brand are the players making the trip.

Freshman-Ball Squad To Be Cut Tomorrow For Mercersburg Till

Their opener at Mercersburg only five days away, the yearling baseball team will be tentatively selected and the squad cut to about 20 players tomorrow by Assistant Coach Dan Musser.

Almost half of the early season candidates have dropped from the squad voluntarily, leaving about 40 for Musser to choose from as he prepared to cut this week.

Lack Of Practice Drills Handicaps Baseballers; Will Battle Penn Today

Penn State's varsity baseball team will attempt to make it two wins to one defeat when they tackle the University of Pennsylvania's nine this afternoon in Franklin Field.

Faced with the tough assignment of two games in one weekend and with virtually no outside practice previous to the time they left yesterday, the Lion tossers go into the doubleheader with the cards stacked against them. As Coach Jpe Bedenk says, "It rains all week and then clears up just in time for us to get our ears pinned back in a game."

The Blue and White will enter teams in the four-mile half-mile, quarter-mile, and medley relays, and also in the field and weight events.

With men like Captain Miller, Fritz in the hurdles and Nick Yukmanic leading the javelin, a successful season would appear certain. The remainder of the squad has improved, but they must "blossom forth" even more to compete and win against such speedsters as Green of Michigan State and Ferris of Pitt, and Davernport of Chicago.

The biggest obstacle in the path of a great team has been the inability of sprinters Bill Engel Van Hartman, Walt Hosterman, Jack McCarthy, Paul Steller, Walt Dempler and Beulah Kalmanowicz to reach top form. Coach Weiner claims that it is about time the sprinters crack 10 seconds in the 100-yard event, and he thinks that they will before it is too late.

The middle distance men are being paced by Bill Griest and Charles Pierce, both runners having shown plenty of "drive" in the recent workouts.

Led by Nick Yukmanic, the weight men are shaping up and slowly approaching their old marks. Jim Beatty, Frank Platt, and Dean Hanley have also tossed weights close to their old form, and should provide plenty of stiff opposition for the enemy.

The high jumping division is topped by Stan Feldman and Clark Grim, with Will Doehner and Vic Sandham of last year's varsity jumpers expected to provide additional strength.

The team as it stands now according to Co-captain Jack Mahaffey is stronger than it has been for a long time. Contained among others within its ranks are a former PIAA champion, a PIAA runner-up, and the vice-captain of the Oklahoma Country Club team.

The players left yesterday afternoon and expected to arrive in New Brunswick in the early evening.

They will play Rutgers this afternoon and will then go on to West Point for a match with Army on Saturday.

The results of the two opening matches should indicate just what sort of team the golf Lions will have this season.

Because of inclement weather, little practice was engaged in here this week, and for a while, it looked as if a ragged group would make the three-day trip. Intermittent spells of good weather, however, gave them a chance to do their stuff and they practiced with a will.

Their first home match will be on May 5 when they will meet Cornell on the College golf course.

CO. Almost Had Jack But He Was Spared For The Course

By ED HALL

Besides helping the varsity golfers win matches for three years, Co-captain Jack Mahaffey has taken time out to acquire a blue key hat and become associate manager of the basketball team.

It's hard to say that he is just the opposite from his teammate Bill Gross, but nevertheless he looks like a golfer when he gets on the links.

He is what you might call a "fast hole man." Has a habit of leading his opponents on and then winning on the final green. Last year he turned the trick in the All College tournament, winning the runner-up position on the eighth green.

He helped his team considerably last year by winning seven out of nine of his matches.

Considered one of the best dressed men on the campus, "Junior" as his fraternal brothers affectionately call him, nearly gave up the ghost last year when he hung the car which he was driving around a telegraph pole.

He was returning from a wedding with several fraternity brothers when that villain, carbon monoxide, started seeping through the car. Jack responded right willingly and went to sleep. The only trouble with the whole episode was that the car wasn't affected by the gas and decided to go its own way. Jack came out of that with a broken nose, and a scarred forehead, but intact hands and arms. He could still play golf, so he didn't care much.

He gives a lot of credit for the team spirit this year to Manager John McNeely, who arranged an excellent schedule for them, giving them high ranking teams in the East to shoot at.

Vital statistics started golfing career at Oakmont Country Club where he cuttied eight years ago. "rose to become vice-captain of the Oakmont team goes back every now and then to help the Lion over the rough spots. never played a really famous golf on, but keeps hoping. played on the freshman team. has blond hair, green gray eyes stands five-foot eleven inches tall happy as a little boy over a new set of clubs he has just purchased. doesn't want to appear over-confident, but thinks this year will be his and the team's best.

Bystander Surprised When Little Guy, Gross, Drives

By ED HALL

The little guy doesn't seem capable of hitting a golf ball very far, therefore it is a great surprise to onlookers when Bill Gross, co-captain of the varsity golf squad, steps up to the tee and whams the white pellet some distance farther than expected.

He's good at the game, as you begin to suspect. Took third place in the all state PIAA tourney in 1935 and thinks nothing of shooting around the College course with scores dangerously close to the record 66 now in existence. He has five 67's to his credit, which must keep the guy who made the course record plenty nervous.

Haven't had time to engage in other school activities, since he is working his way through college. Took time out from playing golf last year to get married.

He "Blames" Rutherford. Says if it weren't for Coach Bob Rutherford, he couldn't have come to college. Gives him all the credit for making him into the accomplished golfer he is—thinks Rutherford is a swell guy.

Has his heart set on winning his Princeton match this year because of a crack the Princeton coach made about him at the meet last year.

It seems the coach was being introduced to the members of the State squad and finally came to where Bill was standing. The coach looked at Bill for a minute and then ejaculated, "Where did Penn State pick up a little runt like that?" Bill tried his damndest to win his match that day, but lost against him. That's why he's gunning for this year's Princeton dual all the harder.

Vital statistics. few people take him for a golfer. stands five feet, seven inches tall with brown wavy hair and blue eyes. thinks his biggest thrill came when the State College High School decided to award letters to the golf team and presented the first one to him.

FORD SHIPS SAIL THE SEVEN SEAS

Down to the sea in Ford ships go millions of tons of shipping. The Ford docks berth one of the largest industrial fleets in the world.

There are 29 Ford ships in all, including seven seagoing craft, the two largest motorships on the Great Lakes, barges, tugs and canal boats. They are kept busy bringing raw materials to Ford plants, or carrying parts of assembled cars outward-bound.

Ford production methods eliminate all extra handling or storage of material and parts. Waste motion is waste money. Useless storage takes time, space, and ties up capital.

So, parts and materials flow in a steady, unstoping stream to and from the great Ford plant on the River Rouge. Iron ore—much of it dug from Ford mines—and coal from Ford mines—come to the Rouge in Ford ships.

Ore that reaches the plant Monday morning may emerge about 28 hours later—on Tuesday noon—as part of a finished car. In its progress from earth to automobile it has been constantly under way and under control. There is no guesswork.

Ford efficiency begins at the beginning. In the end, the sum of these savings is passed along to buyers of Ford cars and trucks—in the form of lower price and higher value.
