Between The Lions

With BOB WILSON

Potpourri

At least once a month I put my ears to the ground (not a particularly tough task considering the size of them) and listen to what's going on in and around the Penn State sports front. Here are a few of the more tempting tidbits that were dished out over a dull local week-end.

Pepper Petrella has left school probably never to return; according to his broken-hearted fraternity brothers. If it's true that the mighty mite of the gridiron will not be back, his fraternity brothers will not be alone in their mourning. . . . Coach Nick Thiel will accept Yale University's invitation to a box lacrosse game to be played at New Haven, Conn., late this month or early in March.

Pete Persis, local shoe merchant, will give a pair of Crosby Squares to every Lion boxer or wrestler who wins an intercollegiate crown. Joe Proksa '37, former Lion basketball co-captain, is being acclaimed by sports writers as the best defensive player in a fast Pittsburgh business league.

Addenda

When the State College Collegians, Central Pennsylvania Independent Basketball League champions, defeat Biltmore's Battery E five sometime this week, they will tie the Centre County win streak record of 20 straight games set by "Dutch" Herman's basketball team in 1924-25. . . . Coached by Joe Adessa '38, former Lion football and baseball star, the Collegians are paced by the sharp-shooting of soccer captain-elect Walt Hosterman and soccer and track letterman Van Hartman.

Chuck Cherundolo '37, captain and center of Penn State's football Lions in 1936, is back to finish work on his M. A. degree after his second season of professional grid warfare with the Cleveland Rams.

Chuck, who will help coach the Lions in spring training, pointed out that his former pro coach Hugo Bezdek, now a chicken-raiser, is probably the only man alive who has coached a major college football team (Penn State and Oregon), managed a major league baseball club (Pittsburgh Pirates), scouted for a major league baseball team (New York Yankees) and coached a major league professional football team (Cleveland Rams).

An attempt is being made to make varsity fencing a more interesting sport to watch, according to manager Morry Feldbaum. The sport will be sped up by replacing the so-called "debating officials" with good, professional officials brought in from New York. A good director, Feldbaum points out, makes it clear to the spectator just who gets the point and why.

Preview

New York University's undefeated basketball Violets, who meet the Lions here tomorrow night, have never beaten State on the court. The Nittanymen won by a 19-18 score way back in 1912 and by a 25-19 count in 1924. The Lion squad that whipped Army, 47-20, Saturday afternoon saw the Violets smash Notre Dame in Madison Square Garden that same night. While it seems hardly likely that the Lions will stop the hard-charging, eagle-eyed Lavenders, the clash of the two radically different defensive and offensive systems should provide plenty of excitement.

Athlete of the Week

To Barney "Gone With the Wind" Ewell, who clipped a tenth of a second from his own world mark in winning the Pennac Games' 50-yard dash in five seconds flat, goes the third Athlete of the Week award. Ewell's new record will probably be refused official recognition on the grounds that Barney was "rolling" when the gun went off. Honorable mention: Scott Moffatt, red-headed Lion cager whose 12 points was high score for State against Army; J. Miller Fraier '39, former Lion track captain and now a graduate student here who successfully defended his Penn A. C. hurdle title in Philly Saturday night.

Barney Nips Own Record At Penn A. C.

By ED McLORIE

"It was just rollin' that's all," explained Barney Ewell when quizzed about his world record breaking feat in the 50-yard dash at the Penn A. C. meet in Philadelphia Friday. Barney traversed the half century in 5 seconds flat to establish his second straight snatching of the world's mark and again wind up with the declaration that the track governor will not accept the mark.

Ewell's explanation of his record is slightly ambiguous as that term "rolling" can either mean jumping the gun (as the officials have declared of roaring down the stretch like only the Ebony Flash can do) or bunched up with the start and breezed the remainder of the distance with Eulace Peacock, former Temple star, finishing second.

Hutchings Finishes Fourth - Bob Hutchings, who is expected to take last year's captain Miller Frazier's place, finished fourth in a fast field in the 50-yard high hurdles event of which Frazier who was running for the Penn A. C. won. Frazier's time for the lumber topping dash was 6.5 seconds. It was a repeat performance for the ex-Lion as he won the event last year.

The other Penn State representatives to place in the star studded meet were Harry Kjellman, Len Henderson, Dick Yohn and Frank Maule, the two-mile relay quartet, who garnered third behind Columbia and Princeton.

Saturday afternoon a contingent of Nittany trackmen ran against representatives of Army's team in an exhibition meet as a part of the opening of the new field house at West Point. Coach Chick Werner stated that no times will be revealed as both coaches agreed it was only an exhibition.

Freshman Swimmers End Season Unbeaten, Untied

Penn State's Freshman swimmers opened and closed an undefeated, untied, and nearly unscathed season in Pittsburgh Saturday when they swept over the Carnegie Tech Frosh tankers, 47-19. Only black splashes in the near whitewash were the Tech victories in the fancy diving event, and the 100-yard freestyle. Individual winners for the Lion Frosh were Alan Bertram in the 220-yard freestyle, Ed Claus, who took first honors in the 50 yard freestyle and second in the 100, Bob Ostermayer in the 100 yard backstroke, Ted Taylor in the 100 yard breaststroke event.

HISTORY OF PRINTING No. 1 REPRESSION

The quality of printing declined in the sixteenth century because the church and state believed it created too much freedom of thought. Printing changed from an art to a mere vehicle for conveyance of information.

Sunk By Pitt, 52-23, Mermen Rise To Conquer Carnegie Tech, 50-25

A never-say-die Penn State swimming team which was swamped, submerged, sunk and inundated Friday by Pitt, 52-23, came up from Davy Jones' chicken room on Saturday to wallop the mermen of Carnegie Tech 50-25 in the windup engagement of their weekend Smokey City trek.

Tom Reissmann in the 440 freestyle and speedster Bill Kirkpatrick in the 50 freestyle, were the only Lion winners in the Pitt debacle Friday. Joe Orloff, Panther dash splasher, has the honor of being the only man to beat Kirkpatrick in the 100 this year.

The Lions made up for the Friday loss with plenty to spare on Saturday. Where the Nittany stalwarts were able to salvage two firsts against Pitt, the luckless Skibos came within a hair of being whitewashed, besting State in but one event, the 200 yard breaststroke.

Two-event winners and individual stars in the Lion win over the Tartans were Don Delmanzo and Bill Kirkpatrick. Delmanzo, really hitting his stride for the first time this season, trimmed Harold Hirsch, ace Tech distance, in both the 220 and 440-yard freestyles, while Kirkpatrick walked off with the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events.

300-yard medley relay—Won by Penn State (Vanzant, Boileau, Lehman) Time 3:19.4

50-yard freestyle—Won by Kirkpatrick, Penn State; Lochhead, Carnegie Tech, second, Webb, Penn State, third Time 24.8 seconds
Fancy diving—Won by McLaughlin, Penn State, 105.04 points, Price, Penn State, second, Patterson, Carnegie Tech, third

100-yard freestyle—Won by Kirkpatrick, Penn State; Lochhead, Carnegie Tech, second, Schaper, Penn State, third Time 57.6 seconds

150-yard backstroke—Won by Vanzant, Penn State; Volvie, Carnegie Tech, second, Freutner, Penn State, third Time 1:49.5

200-yard breaststroke—Won by Anthony, Carnegie Tech, Lynch,

Fletcher To Demonstrate Lithographing And Etching

The making of lithographs and etchings will be demonstrated by Miss Hartley Fletcher at a fine arts lecture in the College Art Gallery 303 Main Engineering, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The lecture on "Processes of Modern Prints" will be given by Miss Fletcher, of the department of fine arts, in connection with the Gallery's showing of "40 Large Prints by Modern Artists" which is considered the best show to be brought here this year.

Frosh Riflers Practicing

Having whittled down the list of freshman rifle aspirants from 100 to 32 men, Major John M. Ferguson is limiting the squad's activity at present to intra-team competition three times a week. No matches are scheduled until early in March.
