Swing Loses Out To Sweet Music In College Survey

Only One Out Of Three Students Show Liking For Jitterbug Tunes

By Student Opinion Surveys
AUSTIN, Texas, March 7.—Current reports that swing music has lost first place among dancers are substantially correct, at least among college students. They have voted a preference for "sweet" tunes by a two-to-one majority in a nation-wide poll of American campuses.

"Which do you like best, swing music, or the so-called sweet music?" was the question presented to a representative sampling of collegians by the Student Opinion Surveys of America.

From the answers they gave, it is evident that jitterbug music, which took the country over last year, is definitely out, for the time being any way. Only 32 per cent declared they preferred swing, while 66 per cent said "sweet" music like that of the Lombards and the Kings was their favorite. A small group of 2 per cent said "neither."

Men and women students show practically the same preferences, although there are more boys than co-eds who still like swing. When the ballots were tabulated by sexes, these were the results:

	Men	Women
Swing	33%	30%
Sweet	64	69
Neither	3	1

	A	B	C
New England	43%	57%	0%
Middle Atlantic	35	64	1
East Central	22	75	3
West Central	30	68	2
Southern	35	62	3
Far West	33	64	3
U. S. Total	32	66	2

*A—swing, B—sweet, C—neither

Juniors Favor Blazer Change Group Seeking Better, Higher Priced Blazer

With a survey of the Junior class taken and compiled in favor of a change in style for the Junior Blazers, Thomas A Backenstose, Junior class president, yesterday appointed John H Jenkins and Howard R Alter as co-chairman of the Junior Blazer committee.

Action will begin immediately in search of a suitable new blazer, which will be higher priced than the one used in the past two years. The poll taken last week indicated that a large majority of junior class members were in favor of changing the class blazer and paying more for it.

Backenstose, commenting on the results of the survey, said that the new blazer selected would be different in material and style, thus necessitating a rise in the price. The reason for the change was based entirely on the results of the poll, he pointed out, which was taken when much adverse criticism of last year's blazers was evident.

Other members of the committee appointed by Backenstose were Louis C Cavalier, William E Ciccarelli, David Fink, F Jean Bride, and Doris E Wylie.

Industrial Education Body Seeks Senate Recognition

A petition for recognition by the Senate Committee on Student Welfare is being prepared by the Industrial Education Society which has grown to 110 members since its organization two weeks ago.

Peter G Felzko '41 was elected president of the society at a meeting Wednesday night. Francis N Mengle '42 was named vice-president and social chairman, and Louis C Englebaugh '43 was elected secretary-treasurer.

A committee is now drawing up a constitution which will be presented to the society in the near future. Other business includes the selection of a faculty adviser and a governing board.

Publicity Agent For Second All-College Circus Seeks Release From German Imprisonment

SOMEWHERE IN GERMANY—March 7.—Official news sources today told the story of one Busby Butterfinger, acclaimed American publicity expert, who is being held prisoner in a concentration camp near Berlin.

Butterfinger, known as the "Great American Mouth" because of his vociferous tub-thumping and publicity work in the United States, was scheduled to handle publicity for Penn State's second annual All-College Circus slated for Rec Hall, Saturday, March 27.

The eminent American dispenser of words was taken into custody by the Gestapo, Nazi secret police organization, the communique said, when he made too frank remarks in comparing Adolph Hitler and a dancing horse featured in the Carson Brothers Dog and Pony Show, for which Butterfinger was acting as official Barker.

Contacted late yesterday, Gene Wetstone, director of the All-College Circus, stated that action is necessary for the immediate release of Butterfinger, who is an important cog in our plans for the Circus.

Wetstone expressed anxiety for Butterfinger, fearing that the expert publicity man might come to harm at the hands of Der Fuehrer. "He just won't keep his mouth shut at the right time," Wetstone put it, "but we can't do without him."

It was expected that an appeal would be made to high government officials in Washington for an insight into the Butterfinger case.

Fees for out-of-state students at Louisiana State University are now on a reciprocal basis, being the same as charged Louisiana students to attend the state university from which a student comes.

Riding Club Owns Horses And Stalls Members Meet Weekly To Receive Instruction

Now owner of three horses, with two more and a place to ride available, the College Riding Club since its birth last November has grown to include 45 members. They ride two hours a week at an average cost of 32 cents an hour and meet in the Stock Judging Pavilion at 7 p m every Tuesday to discuss their sport.

After clearing away legal entanglements which resulted from a misunderstanding regarding title to the property, the club now has the use of stalls on the first farm east of Route 322 beyond the railroad north of State College. It is a 25-minute walk from Co-op Corner.

Beginners, who make up half the club membership, receive free instruction from Prof James F Shugley, Dr. Henry L Yeagley, Mr and Mrs C E French, and Cynthia D Tompkins '40.

Since mid-semester the club has owned three horses and keeps in its stables mounts belonging to Dr Yeagley and Miriam L Rheim '43, a member. At that time it moved into its new stables, bought new riding equipment, and hired a full-time attendant.

Ag Student Council Holds Installation Of Officers At Dinner Dance Today

Installation of new officers and the new council will take place at a dinner dance of the Agricultural Student Council in the Sandwich Shop at 6:30 p m today. Samuel A. Dum '41 is the president-elect.

Featured speakers at the affair will be Dean Stevenson W. Fletcher and All-College President H Clifton McWilliams '40. Dean Fletcher will discuss cooperation between the students and faculty in the School of Agriculture and McWilliams will speak on the place of the Ag Student Council in Penn State student government.

Included in the program will be the presentation of keys to members by outgoing president Donald Lerch '40 and a review of the activities of the council during the past year.

Entertainment will be furnished by Vosburg the magician, with dancing from 9 p m to 12.

Banquet Bids Out This Week Sigma Delta Chi Skits Will Roast 'Big-Wigs'

With invitations due to be sent out this week, the annual Sigma Delta Chi Gridiron Banquet plans were swiftly moving toward the climax next Thursday night, when the annual roasting affair will take place at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Banquet chairman Bernard A Newman '40 announced early this week that progress on the numerous skits, depicting campus news events of the past year, was rapidly going ahead. Members of the national journalism honorary write, direct, and act out the skits used in the banquet program as well as all the continuity and other planning.

The theme for this year's banquet has already been announced as War and the Dead Past—showing the various battles which Penn State has fought in the last year and the bloody battlefields which lie all around us.

For the first time the Gridiron Banquet will be informal in dress this year. Tickets will be priced at $1.50.

'44 Admissions Set At 1,706; 200 Over '43

An increase of approximately 200 students in next year's freshman class over this year's enrollment was predicted yesterday by Ray V Watkins, College scheduling officer, in his enrollment estimate for next semester.

Watkins' estimate was made as a basis for scheduling next semester's classes, while actual ruling on the number of freshmen to be admitted will be made by the Board of Trustees in June.

1,706 To Study Here
A total of 1,706 freshmen will be enrolled in the class of '44, excluding those matriculating at undergraduate centers, the scheduling officer indicated. The corresponding figure for this year's freshman class was 1,504.

The number of freshmen men will increase from 1,152 for this year to 1,336 next year, Watkins estimated, while the total of freshmen women will rise from 352 to 370.

Reason for his prediction of increased enrollment, Watkins said, is found in the enlarged classroom facilities to be made available by opening of the new College buildings. He pointed out that his figures were only approximate and not to be construed as exact.

Stankowski Places 2nd In Flower Judging Meet

Second place for individual judging went to Robert J. Stankowski '40, competing against 21 others in the National Flower Show judging contest sponsored by the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists held in Houston, Tex.

The Penn State team, composed of Stankowski, Charles E Hilgert '40, and Carl H Condon '41, and High J Peeling '41, alternate, came out third, competing against six other schools.

Post Contest Offers $750 For Top 'Confucius' Sayings

Here is your chance to win one of 107 cash prizes, totaling $750, that the Saturday Evening Post is offering to the students of Penn State and other colleges throughout the country, in what promises to be one of the most timely and challenging brain teasers of recent years.

You and other students are asked to submit proverbs—phrased in your best pidgin English—which may be applied to some fact about the Saturday Evening Post's leadership in the weekly magazine field.

The simple rules of the contest, which opens today, are announced in an interesting and helpful eight-page pamphlet which will be mailed in any desired quantity, to instructors who write to Prof Charles E Bellamy, head of the department of advertising, Boston University, who is acting as chairman of the contest committee.

Requests for pamphlets and entries should be mailed to the Contest Committee, in care of Professor Bellamy, 685 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass. The contest closes at midnight, April 5. Winners will receive checks promptly.
