Second Student Burned In 2 Days

Hetherington '40 Hurt In Pond Lab Research

The second student within two days was burned severely in a laboratory experiment when James R. Hetherington '40 was experimenting with a benzene compound in Pond Laboratory, Tuesday morning. He is resting comfortably. College infirmary officials reported.
Hetherington suffered burns on both hands, the inside of both thighs, and, the lower abdomen when the benzene compound ignited a piece of floss which he was handling, and the flames transferred to his clothing.
Robert S. Bowman '40, the other victim who was burned in Mineral Industries laboratory Monday afternoon, is the more serious case, but he is improving rapidly and is expected to leave the infirmary in a week.
Dr. Joseph P. Ritzenour, director of the Health Service, issued a warning to all laboratory workers to exercise extreme caution in handling inflammable materials. Ritzenour also advised students to use care in handling breakable test-tubes.

Work On College Grounds Under Way After Delay Due To Cold And Rain

Campus planting and grading of landscapes finally got underway this week after cold weather and rain had delayed work for some time, George W. Ebert, superintendent of grounds and buildings, announced.
Intensive work has begun on new and old parking areas behind the Liberal Arts Buildings, Chemistry and Physics, Engineering F, Electrical Engineering, and the Ball fields.

AA Nominations Scheduled Today

Elections Begin May 13; Amendments Proposed

Nominations for the offices of president and secretary of the Athletic Association will be made by a nominating committee consisting of coaches, captain, and managers of varsity sports at a meeting at 1 p. m. today.
Not more than five men or less than two can be nominated for the positions. Elections will be held beginning Monday, May 13, and continuing until one candidate receives a majority vote.
Besides the election of officials, students will vote on two amendments proposing to make ice hockey and skiing recognized intercollegiate sports at Penn State and awarding six men's varsity letters to members of the two teams.

Outing Club Elects Heads

The newly elected officers of the Penn State Outing Club are Henry A. Beers '42, president, William T. Clark '42, vice-president, Paul L. Burkhardt '42, secretary, Philip B. Sussman '42, treasurer, and Russell J. Knorr '41, advertising.

Hundreds Watch Work On Murals

In the past two weeks hundreds of interested spectators have watched Henry Vanum Poor at work on the Old Main murals.
At present, Poor is painting the area to the left of the staircase which depicts the agricultural side of the College and the state. Among the scenes represented here will be the departure of a young farm boy for agricultural school, likely the Farmer's High School.
Also included on this side is a group of students working in agricultural experiment plots. Students will be selected by Poor as models for these figures.
Early in the morning the wall must be wetted so that fresh plaster may be put on. This is done by Ann Poor, the artist's daughter. Poor estimates what portion he can paint in a day and only that part is covered with new plaster.

Queen Of Junior Prom To Be Selected Tonight From Eight Entries

The year's biggest weekend that, to come right out and say so without the aid of asterisks, dashes or exclamation points, just about sums up the social situation that will prevail on the campus for the next three days.
What with celebrities Glenn Miller, Fred Waring and Donna Dae combining to put on a top-notch Thespian show, a sell-out Junior Prom and an S R O Glee Club concert, the weekend is already assured its place in Penn State's Hall of Famous Weekends.
Junior Prom will get under way at 10 p. m. today in the atmosphere of a "Night in Egypt." Chairman Paul J. Scally '41 announced that both sales are high, predicting a record attendance.
Feature of the evening will be the selection of a Junior Prom Queen by Maestro Glenn Miller from the following list of final entries: Margaret L. Embury '42, Ella B. Ferris '43, Gertrude L. Hellmers '41, Betty A. Rahn '41, Jacqueline M. Reese '43, Jane E. Ryan '42, Mary Lou Trunk '40 and Ethel Taylor '42.
Tickets for the dance may be purchased at the A. A. Office today or at Rec Hall tonight at $4 per couple including tax.
Donna Dae, 18-year-old vocalist of Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, will feature the Thespian's musical masterpiece, DANGER! MEN AT WORK, tonight and tomorrow in the repeat performance at 7 p. m.
Fred Waring in person directs the orchestra tomorrow night. With the entire College Glee Club as background, Fred Waring conducting direct from his Chesterfield radio program and lovely Donna Dae singing Jimmy Leyden Jr.'s "Dream of Me," this weekend's performances of DANGER! MEN AT WORK promise to shatter all Thespian attendance records.
The "Glee Club" will present the final concert of the annual complimentary series at 3:30 p. m. Sunday in Schwab auditorium.
Fred Waring and Donna Dae will appear on the program, which is composed largely from the Glee Club's previous concert.

'Our Town' Breaks All Drama Rules

Thornton Wilder's Play To Be Shown May 10, 11

"Our Town" is different. True, no play is exactly like another, but Thornton Wilder's 1938 Pulitzer Prize winning play violates almost every dramatic rule that was ever set up.
When the Penn State Players produce this unusual production on Mother's Day weekend, May 10 and 11, they will be staging a play that will touch the heart of even the most cynical person.
In the year 1670 a little town by the name of Grover's Corner was founded in New England. There was nothing exceptionally different about that town, it never received any publicity until Wilder got the idea that the town was like everybody's town, and it would make a wonderful setting for a play.
On Broadway the play was a tremendous hit. It was produced on a bare stage with only a few tables, chairs, and a stepladder for a setting.
The stage manager has the main part in "Our Town," acting as a narrator throughout the progress of play.
The play is so unusual that the Players are getting unusual ideas, such as the 36 turtles which they are giving away tomorrow afternoon to the holders of the lucky numbers.
All you have to do to have a chance on getting one of these diminutive reptiles is to get a ticket with a number on it at the Student Union office in Old Main. The turtles are on exhibition in the Corner Room window.

Original Alma Mater Manuscript On Display

The original manuscript of the College "Alma Mater," written by Fred Lewis Pattee, professor emeritus of English Literature, is included in an exhibit in the College Book Store honoring Professor Pattee.
Professor Pattee, one of the foremost authorities on American literature in the world, and a pioneer in the field, recently published "The Feminine Fifties."

White Prize Awarded To Senior Coed

Sylvia Bernstein Will Receive Gift In Chapel; Hetzel, Tweedy To Speak

Sylvia L. Bernstein will receive the John W. White medal and prize at the annual Mothers' Day chapel service in Recreation Hall at 10:30 a. m. May 12 which will climax May Day week-end. Teas for all mothers will be held in women's dormitories, Saturday afternoon, May 11.
President Ralph D. Hetzel will present awards and Dr. Harry H. Tweedy of Yale University Divinity School will speak.
Recipients of John W. White Fellowships are Marianne C. Hester, George E. Inskip, and John J. Trentin. Evan Pugh Scholar medals, presented by the Honor Society Council, will go to Mary E. Hutton, Leon M. Kneib, Elmer D. Longfellow, Calvin D. McCarthy, Martin V. Rockwell, and Robert S. Voris, seniors, and Gerald B. Bready, Louis N. Grafinger, Albert L. Myerson, Norman Rasmus, Herman Smith, Leo Sommer, and John C. Williams, juniors.
Alice L. Benfer will receive the President Sparks medal for the second semester of 1938-39 and Ulysses G. Palmer III for the first semester of 1939-40.
Committee chairmen for the Mothers' Day teas are—Mac Hall, Hazel E. Gassman, general chairman, Elizabeth K. Heath, arrangements, Helen J. Chappay, tea, and Allen K. More, kitchen. Grange Helen A. Jagnesak '42, general chairman, Julia A. Adams '42, preparation, Helen L. Mazur '42, service, Helen L. Westbrock '42, flowers, Women's Building Janet Gillespie '41, Vera L. Kemp '41, M. Isabelle Pfeiffer '41, Marie B. Somers '41, and Mildred M. Taylor '42, general committee, Mary A. Rameida '40, invitations, Alina Gene Lewis '41, serving, Rosemary E. Harris '41, reception, and Mary R. Craft '42, kitchen.
Ninety-seven additional awards will be made at the chapel service for scholastic achievement during the past year.

Stump The Experts, Win $2.50 On Campus 'Information Please' Quiz

A gentle reminder—any blue-books which rated a "3" this year are still good for $2.50 if submitted, with a question, to stumped experts on Alpha Lambda Delta's "Information Please" program set for May 19.
It's a simple one, two, three formula—pull down a "3" on a blue-book, think of a stucker, write it on the back of the blue-book, hand it to Student Union before Wednesday, May 15, and then pray that the four professors chosen to the board of experts cannot answer.
Be a good sport about it, though, and give the profs a break—make the questions general and of interest to students. You can treat your girl or boy friend to a steak dinner if you're lucky.

Room Drawing Tuesday

Junior, sophomore, and freshman women will draw numbers to select next year's rooms in Atheonion at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 20. Room assignments are expected to be completed by May 23.

Chemical Jobs Available In Civil Service Exams

Civil Service examinations in many chemical fields, including organic, physical, and analytical, are to be held here soon by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. These new appointments are to be for the new Regional Laboratories for Research on Utilization of Farm Products.
During the next two years about 400 appointments will be made, which range in salary from $2,600 to $4,600. These are the first examinations to be held for chemists and chemical technologists in these particular salary scales since the establishment of the regional laboratories.

Site Of Inauguration Changed To Main Gate

Hetzel Advises IFC, Wagner New Head

That fraternities must share the charges of criticism of conduct along with the praise received for the constructive and desirable contributions was the keynote of President Ralph D. Hetzel's special message to Interfraternity Council Wednesday night.
Pointing out that an organization such as the Council is "just as strong as the weakest organization in the group," Dr. Hetzel challenged the incoming officers to take steps toward more rigid enforcement of the dating code.
Wagner is New President
Such a task will fall to H. Edward Wagner '41 who was elected to succeed Frank C. Anderson as president of the Council for 1940-41. Other officers are Erik S. Moeller '41, vice-president, and William S. Kirkpatrick '41, secretary-treasurer. George L. Parrish '41 and Thomas Robinson '41 were elected to the Executive Committee.
"Outsiders always ask about moral conditions of a fraternity about scholastic rating about the men," Dr. Hetzel said. "It isn't the number of cups on the shelf—the intemperate champions of

Full Cooperation Pledged By Laich And Bartholomew

Parade Is Rerouted; Hetzel Main Speaker At Ceremony May 14

A promise that party affiliations "will not interfere" with student government was issued yesterday by Arnold C. Laich '41 and William B. Bartholomew '41, all-College and senior class presidents-elect, as plans for inauguration at 4 p. m. Tuesday, May 14, were suddenly changed.
The site of inauguration ceremonies was switched from Old Main terrace to the walk in front of the main gate. Instead of the previously announced route the parade will leave from the rear of Old Main, proceed to Shortlidge Road to East College avenue, and then to co-op corner where it will disband.
Pres. Ralph D. Hetzel will be the inauguration speaker. The Blue Band and Peishung Rifles will participate in the parade.
At the ceremonies Laich and Robert N. Baker '41, newly-elected all-College vice-president will officially receive the keys of office from H. Clifton McWilliams Jr. '40 and Sarahell Shirm '40, retiring officers.
In their joint statement, Laich and Bartholomew praised the cooperation evidenced by McWilliams and David E. Perrin '40, retiring senior class head, and expressed "our earnest desire to emulate their example."
The new officers will perform their first official duty when they take charge of the Cabinet meeting the night of inauguration. In addition, 12 other members of next year's Cabinet will participate. They are H. Leonard Krouse '42, junior class president; Frank R. Flynn '41, sophomore class president; Samuel A. Dum '41, Ag Council representative; Walter M. Kniaz '41, Physical Education Council representative; Adam A. Snyser '41, chairman of the Board of Publications; Elmer L. Weaver '41, WSGA president; A. John Currier '42, PSCA president; Harriet Singer '41, Panhellenic president; H. Howard Wagner '41, IFC president; Margery A. Harwick '41, WRA president; Theodore Rice '41, chairman of Interclass Finance Board; and Wilbur R. Heilmann '41, IMA president.

ASM Convention Opens Here Today

Austin Heads Parley; National Officers Talk

The bi-annual American Society for Metals convention, whose members number approximately 10,000, will be held here today and tomorrow with delegates from every state represented.
Dr. Charles R. Austin, professor of metallurgy, is chairman in charge of the 2-day convention program which will include special forums concerning the high temperature properties of metals and the hardening quality of steel.
Today, registration for delegates will begin at 10 p. m. Technical discussions will be led by Dr. Walter Mathesius, vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, Prof. C. L. Clark, University of Michigan, and J. J. Kante, Crane Company, Chicago, Illinois.
National officers of the ASM, including President James P. Gill, will speak at tomorrow morning's sessions. Outstanding authorities on mineralogy will complete the day's program with brief talks on various phases of mineral research and activity.

Waiting For Lefty To Be Staged May 13 As PSCA Production

When a doctor wants to be a taxi driver, that's news! Not only does he change his profession but he becomes a good taxi driver.
In the PSCA production "Waiting for Lefty," which will be shown on May 13, the play centers around a group of college-degreed graduates, who would drive cabs rather than men, and real taxi drivers mingling in a common cause—the establishment of a bona-fide taxi union in order to earn an honest living.
"Waiting for Lefty," Clifford Odell's stepping stone to playwright success, was a Penn State Player production several years ago and was noted for its stark realism.
Members of the cast under the direction of Bernard Freed '40 are John B. McCue '43, Joseph J. McCoy, 2-year agriculture student, Coleman Bender '42, Jacob A. D'Angelo '43, Jean F. Burch '43, Philip W. Eicholtz '43, Evelyn R. Wilmer '43, Bernard M. Weinberg '43, and Leon Rabinowitz '43.

Fraternity Lists To Include 'Locals'

Scholastic Groupings Will Be Rated Together

Beginning next year, fraternity, sorority, and house groups probably will have their average grade lists combined in one single group, according to Arthur A. Warnock, Dean of Men.
A complaint from two local fraternities, Beaver House and Sigma Phi Alpha, brought about the change when they protested that they deserved scholastic rating with other fraternities. Beaver House would have topped the combined lists with a 1.68 average. The change differs from this year's policy of listing national and local fraternities in separate categories, posting a single sheet on sorority ratings, and grouping independent houses separately.
Formerly One Listing
Prior to this year, fraternities were listed in one unit, but because other types of fraternities were coming into existence, separate lists were used.
However, the combination of all fraternal and social units will make no difference in the awarding of the interfraternity or Panhellenic awards to their respective high ranking societies, since they give awards only to charter members.

'40 Women Plan Dance

Instead of a dinner-dance, senior women will hold a formal dance at the Nittany Lion Inn Saturday, June 1, Betty J. Strickler, chairman, announced.
