

66 Faculty Promotions, Appointments Announced By Hetzel

Male Secretaries In Great Demand

Shorthand isn't just for girls, according to Wilmer E. Kenworthy, executive secretary of the College, who declares that "the opportunity for men secretaries today is greater than ever."

Mr. Kenworthy pointed out that many executives and famous men—including Samuel Insull, Edward Bok, Governor Harry Moore of New Jersey, Herbert Hoover and Billy Rose—used shorthand or typing to get jobs which proved to be stepping stones to later careers.

"Help-wanted columns are filled with advertisements for male stenographers," he continued. "Employment agencies have more calls for young men secretaries than they can fill. The college graduate equipped with stenography has an added advantage in gaining an opportunity which otherwise might be denied him."

Court reporting is another field open to the man who is expert in shorthand, Mr. Kenworthy added, and many statesmen also use men stenographers.

"Not only are these jobs interesting," he said, "but they are the most stable and dependable in the business world. In addition, they are very often an entering wedge to executive positions. There is no better place to learn the business than next to the chief's desk."

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Advocates Shorthand

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, executive secretary of the College, pooh-poohs the belief that shorthand is just for girls, and points out the many opportunities enjoyed by male secretaries and stenographers. (For story, see column one.)

Play Tryouts Listed

Player's tryouts for actors, actresses, and technicians will be held tomorrow, Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday, Frank S. Neubaum, assistant professor of dramatics, announced yesterday. All students are eligible and no experience is necessary, he said.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

13 Resignations, 2 Leaves Okayed

Twenty-eight promotions in rank and 38 new appointments to the College faculty for the 1940-41 year were announced recently by President Ralph D. Hetzel. Thirteen resignations and two leaves of absence were included in the announcement.

Those who received promotions are: School of Agriculture, Herbert A. Wahl to assistant professor of botany; Max Dercum to assistant professor of forestry; S. Agnes Brumbaugh to assistant professor of home economics extension; Frederick V. Grau to assistant professor of agronomy extension; William S. Jeffries to assistant professor of agricultural extension.

Promotions in the School of Education are: Della J. Avery to assistant professor of home economics; M. Joan Jones to instructor in home economics; Gilma Olson to instructor in home economics; Margaret E. Riegel to assistant professor of home economics. The following were promoted from assistant home economics extension representatives to home economics representatives: Mary L. Kelsey, Marion B. Marsh, Henrietta B. Nichols, Barbara M. Rose, Ruth B. Schultz and Clara A. Stankowich.

In the School of Engineering, Frank Tebo was promoted to assistant professor of engineering drawing.

Promotions in the School of Mineral Industries are: Paul D. Krynine to assistant professor of mineralogy; Clifford R. Horn to instructor in petroleum and natural gas engineering, and R. B. Hewes to supervisor of fuel technology extension.

In the School of Physical Education, Glenn N. Thiel was promoted to assistant professor of physical education.

Promotions in the School of Liberal Arts are: Arthur B. Sutherland to assistant professor of English literature; Langrave T. Dunlap to assistant professor of mathematics; Walter O. Gordon to assistant professor of mathematics; Beatrice L. Hagen to assistant professor of mathematics, and Rundell N. Wood to assistant professor of English composition.

Other promotions were granted to Katherine M. Stokes and B. Elizabeth Ulrich in the College Library and to Elsie Trabert who was promoted to assistant in home economics extension.

The newly approved appointments are as follows: William H. Gray, instructor in Latin America history; J. M. Pilcher, research assistant in fuel technology; Anthony C. Shabica, Jr., research assistant in chemistry; Richard G. Goldthwait, research assistant in fuel technology; William Parrish, instructor in mineralogy; Florence E. Taylor, assistant professor of elementary education; A. Anor-

(Continued on page six)

CAA To Take Applications For Flying Course Soon

With the summer Civil Aeronautics Authority ground school work completed and flying practice expected to finish by Sunday, Prof. Harold A. Everett, local administrator, revealed that the date for applications will soon be announced.

Penn State will be one of 420 colleges and universities involving 10,000 air-minded students who will enroll this year. The CAA instruction is given students in order to perfect flyers for national emergency and to stimulate private flying activities.

Applicants for the course are subject to rigid physical and educational examinations. Courses, in addition to actual flying hours, are History of Aviation, Elementary Aerodynamics, Airplane Structure, Meteorology, Navigation, Engines, Instruments, and Parachutes.

The two active instructors are William Knapper and Paul Fara-baugh, while Sherm Lutz, flight instructor, will be inactive until he recovers from the plane crash in which he was injured August 7.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

CLASS OF 1944!

Here's the answer to that problem of finding a clean, comfortable room at a reasonable rate.

—IT'S—

The COLONIAL

RUNNING WATER IN EVERY ROOM
123 W. Nittany Dial 4850

GIRLS OF 1944 . . .

HAIRCUTTING
MANICURES

FACIALS
HAIR STYLING

"At College, Beauty Is A Required Course"

LAMBERT BEAUTY

DIAL 2042

OVER A. A. STORE

Headquarters For

ROTC SHOES

$2.95 and $3.95

All Widths and Sizes
Expertly Fitted by X-ray

The College Boot Shop

135 S. Allen St.

State College

"Next to Murphy's"

PHILCO

MOTOROLA

STUDENTS!

Our lines of desk radios, ranging from $9.95 to $19.95, have been selected with a view to the low radio signal strength in this area, and are guaranteed to give both day and night reception without the use of an outside aerial.

Radio Corner

Allen St. & Beaver Ave.

Opposite Post Office

Guaranteed Service On All Makes And Models,
Home and Auto Radios, Our Specialty.
Thirteen Years Experience.

Portables—Record Players—Combinations—Auto Radios—

Recorders—I.E.S. Lamps

Nunn-Bush
Ankle fashioned
Oxfords

We Extend To All of You A Cordial Invitation To Visit Our New and Larger Store. Come in and Browse Around—See What the New Fall Styles Have To Offer You.

KNOX

HATS

HART

SHAFFNER & MARX

Kalin's Men Shop

130 South Allen Street

AUTHORIZED FRESHMAN APPAREL