

Ninety Pledges Added Yesterday

Ninety more pledges were reported to Student Union yesterday bringing the total for the six elapsed days of rushing season to 471.

This number includes pledges from all classes. The IFC committee at Student Union keeps no record of classes and this prevents the Daily Collegian from reporting a more detailed list.

Last year, freshman pledges reported during rushing season totaled 359. There were 532 pledges from all classes.

Circumstances prevented the inclusion of Theta Xi and Triangle pledges in yesterday's list. Their pledges for both yesterday and today are listed below.

In other cases, only new pledges are listed. The figures in parentheses show the total number of pledges reported to Student Union by each fraternity.

Yesterday's pledges:

Wickard To Talk Here Next Week

Claude R. Wickard, secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will speak in Schwab Auditorium, next Tuesday, on "The Place of Agriculture in the National Defense Program."

Secretary Wickard will arrive in State College Tuesday afternoon, and will make an inspection tour of the College, paying particular attention to the School of Agriculture.

Farmers, members of agricultural organizations, and representatives of the several federal agricultural programs operating in the state are invited to attend the meeting. Faculty members and students are especially invited.

The meeting is slated to begin at 7 p. m. and President Hetzel will introduce the speaker.

Expect Enrollment Totals To Smash All Records

With accurate figures not yet available, the total enrollment here is expected to go well over the 7,100 mark this year, with freshman enrollment near 1,600.

Total enrollment figures are expected to be completed tonight, in which case they will appear tomorrow in the Daily Collegian.

An indication of the record-breaking enrollment this year came yesterday when registration officials nearly ran out of sophomore registration cards.

Russian Courses Given

Russian 1 and 2 may be scheduled by appointment in Room 5 Liberal Arts at 4 p. m. today.

Will Dedicate Song

Fred Waring, orchestra leader and former Penn State student, said yesterday afternoon he will dedicate his new song to Penn State on his Chesterfield football smoker program Friday, October 11. The program is carried over the NBC red network at 7 p. m. and 11 p. m. and will be heard at the Collegian Dance in Rec Hall during the late broadcast. While here last May, Waring received a petition from the student body asking him to write the new song.

Customs Lifted From 72 Frosh

Customs had been lifted from 72 freshmen when the first Tribunal meeting of the year closed at 11 p. m. last night. The reason for most of the exemptions was that the freshmen were over 21.

Approximately 35 were granted temporary exemptions for other reasons. These reasons will be checked on during the week and definite rulings will be handed down at the next meeting of Tribunal on Tuesday.

W. Lewis Corbin, '41, chairman of Tribunal, asked for the cooperation of all upperclassmen and hat societies in regard to enforcing customs. All freshmen breaking regulations should be identified by matriculation cards and their names should be turned in at Student Union.

The list of names, in order of approval, follows:

Norman W. Meyers, Philip P. Mitzkevich, Walter W. Lindberg, Robert D. Halpin, Harold N. Lenker, Mark R. Pettit, Blake C. Anderson, Willard S. Kintz, John H. Germain, Samuel E. Pretz, Christian B. Zimmerman.

Overnight Parking Is Thing Of Past

Action was taken at a meeting of the State College borough council Monday night to make overnight parking on borough streets a thing of the past.

After a lengthy executive session, it was announced that the borough police force will rigidly enforce an ordinance prohibiting "parking between the hours of 2 a. m. and 6 a. m." on any borough street.

The council also ordered that Locust Lane and South Frazier streets will be one-way streets with parking permitted only on one side. South Frazier will carry one-way traffic in a southerly direction from W. Fairmount to W. Beaver with parking only on the west side.

Locust Lane, from E. Foster to E. Hamilton, will be one-way with north to south traffic and parking on the east side only. Signs will designate this regulation which will be in effect seven days a week.

It was intimated that some sort of warning would be used before the $10 fine for overnight parking was enforced, though second offenders will probably receive the full punishment of either $10 fine or five days imprisonment.

Russell E. Clark, College bursar and borough council president, emphasized the fact that the enforcement of the ordinance was made necessary largely because of townspeople's disregard. "The ordinance is purely a safety measure," he pointed out. "Overnight parking, especially on streets where both sides are used and on our narrower streets, represents a considerable hazard to fire protection," the council president said.

Medical Talks Set By 16 Local Groups

Continuing last year's program of talks on preventive medicine five lectures have been scheduled for this year, sponsored by 16 College and town groups in conjunction with State Department of Health committee headed by Mrs. Edna M. Kech of Altoona, former president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Medical Association.

First of the three talks will be "The Common Cold and Pneumonia," November 13. A talk on "Tuberculosis" will be given December 4 in connection with Christmas seal sales, illustrated with two movies.

Dr. Ralph Tyson, noted Philadelphia pediatrician, will speak on "Child Health" in January. Sponsoring this meeting are WSGA, Mortar Board, WSGA Junior Service Board, and the Women's Club of State College.

During National Social Hygiene Week in February, Dr. Alfred F. Doyle of the State Department of Health will speak on venereal and "With These Weapons," a movie, will be shown. The entire group is sponsoring this program.

"Opportunities for Women in Medicine in Allied Fields" will be the topic of Dr. Margaret H. Sutely, Philadelphia women's surgeon, when she speaks to women in March in a program sponsored by Iota Sigma Pi.

Cooperating College groups are the College Health Service, the School of Physical Education, All-College Cabinet, pre-medical group, Iota Sigma Pi, WSGA, WSGA Junior Service Board, and Mortar Board; town groups are County Medical Society, AAUW, PTA, Penn State Alumnae, American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, Kiwanis, and State College Women's Club.

Students May Register Locally For Conscription

District Draft Board May Be In State College

College students will not be forced to go home to register for the draft on October 16 as the result of a clause in President Roosevelt's proclamation which permits anyone to register in the district "in which he happens to be on that date."

The district draft board will probably be located in either State College or Bellefonte, it was learned today. The exact location has not yet been decided, the County Commissioners said.

All students from the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive, will be required to register.

However, students called may—by request only—defer military service until the end of the academic year. Then they must undergo training for a period of one year.

This provision will undoubtedly reduce to a handful the number of students leaving the College to take compulsory military service this year. It is expected that not until next year will the student body—mainly the upper classes—suffer any decrease in enrollment.

The part of the College to feel the brunt of conscription most will be the faculty and administration. At present, however, no plans have been made to keep the staff at its usual size.

Townspeople Will Vote On Sunday Movie Issue

"Do you favor the conducting, staging, operating, and exhibiting of motion pictures regardless of whether an admission charge is made or incidental thereto or whether labor or business is necessary to conduct, stage, or exhibit the same after two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday?"

This question on Sunday movies will be answered by the voters of State College at the general elections on November 5.

Eighteen petitions were presented to the county commissioners by Warner Brothers Theatres in State College after the borough council had certified them.

Queen Contest Gains Intensity

All Collegian solicitors who have subscription books—whether they have sold subscriptions or not—must report to the Collegian office, 313 Old Main, between 6:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. tonight.

As groups gathered around posters in the town and on campus showing the sponsored candidates for Freshman Queen, interest in the 1940 Collegian Queen contest took on a new intensity yesterday.

Voting has already begun at Student Union desk in Old Main and tabulations showing how the leaders in the competition are faring will be published beginning the latter part of this week.

Completion Of Road Resurfacing Nears

Amiesite resurfacing of campus roads will be finished by the end of this week, if inclement weather does not hold up the work, George W. Ebert, superintendent of grounds and buildings, said yesterday.

All campus roads are being refinished. The work was originally scheduled to be completed by September 10 but was delayed by bad weather.
