We, The Women—

We Get Enthusiasm Dampened By '44 Coeds.

JUST WHEN we were patting ourselves on the back about the swell freshman class and bragging about its enthusiasm a bucket of water in the form of Senior Sponsor meetings had to squelch all the steam we had worked up.

The eight meetings were designed as "bull sessions" to aid freshman coeds with campus problems. They were scheduled as a help to the new class, not as lectures to be grudgingly attended.

Come on frosh and show us that the pep you had at the first mass meeting is still there. You'll have a chance to redeem yourselves by one hundred per cent attendance at the mass meeting in Schwab Auditorium tonight and get your first taste of campus democracy when a senator is elected to represent you on WSGA Senate.

JUNIOR SERVICE BOARD, with the help of Senior Sponsors, did the best deed of last week when they demonstrated dining commons table manners to freshmen in Mac Hall. How about tackling the upperclass egg yodelers now?

WE'VE DECIDED to start learning the second verse of the Alma Mater since we heard that Ath Hallers will sing it after meals. And we're about ready to wave the blue and white banner after the way Mac Hall diners have been finishing their meals to the tune of "The Nittany Lion."

Committees Appointed For Annual Cwen Dance

Committees for the Cwen dance to be held in White Hall at 9 p.m. Friday, October 18, were appointed by Nancy E. Gosser, social chairman.

Lila A. Whoolery is in charge of the band; M. Janet Blackburn and Margaret R. Comly, checking Marie L. Kulp, Margaret M. Lams, Elizabeth E. Munroe, cleanup; Jean E. Hershberger, Patricia Mac Kinney, Muriel Muselman, Joanne M. Palmer, decorations; Louise M. Fuoss, Margaret K. Sherman, Marjorie L. Sykes, invitations; Ruth L. Kiesling and Mildred B. Schmidt, publicity; and Pauline Crossman and Jacqueline I. Shafer, tickets.

The proceeds from the dance sponsored yearly by Cwens, sophomore service honorary, will go for scholarship aid. Coeds will invite men to the affair.

Chapel Comments—

War-Torn China Described By Speaker

The chapel services Sunday featured an address by Dr. William W. Cadbury, Superintendent of Medical College in Canton, China.

Speaking on "Service in War-Torn China," Dr. Cadbury described the scenes of tumult and devastation as he saw them in that country during the early stages of the Sino-Japanese war.

Dr. Cadbury also commented on the aid of the American Red Cross for their help in sending food and clothing for thousands of refugees.

Freshman Coeds Stage Own Pajama Parade

Freshman men have nothing on women in Mac Hall when it comes to pajama parades for they staged their own parade Saturday night.

Starting on the fourth floor, the pajama-clad coeds descended to serenade those below. After all halls had been aroused, the paraders congregated in the lobby for more and louder singing and cheering which lasted until the wee hours.
