

Plans Completed For Registration Here Tomorrow

Preparations for student draft registration were completed yesterday with the announcement by Edward K. Hibshman, chairman of the draft committee, that 90 registrars will be sworn in at the Armory at 7 p. m. today.

He reminded students that to register they must have their matriculation cards and sample registration forms filled out in pencil. These forms may be obtained at Student Union.

Cadets of the advanced course, senior division of the ROTC need not register, Mr. Hibshman said. He explained that this includes all advanced ROTC students. Registration is required of all other students, including aliens, between the ages of 21 and 36. Failure to register is punishable by a fine of $10,000, five years in prison, or both.

Students have been asked to register in the Armory at scheduled hours which have been posted for the past week at prominent places in town and on campus.

Sick students who are unable to register at the Armory on October 16 should telephone the registration committee which will be on duty in the Armory. A special registrar will register such students at their homes.

Those who are quarantined or who are too sick to be registered on October 16 must present themselves for registration before a local board, or notify the board as soon as they can be registered. A physician's certificate will be required to prove valid cause for

Thespians Prepare New Fall Show

A new knock-em-down, drag-em-out musical review—"The Balloon Goes Up"—starring the Three Stooges, Marce Stringer, and a mixed Glee Club of twenty-five voices will be presented as the Thespian Club's annual fall show on Houseparty weekend.

For the past three weeks, Thespians have been working to sort the cream of the most unusual crop of talent that has hit the Penn State campus in many years, particularly in the Class of '44.

At least six sets of expensive costumes have been presented to the Thespian Club by Fred Waring, who was made an honorary member of the Club last May. The costumes alone will make the new fall show, "The Balloon Goes Up," an extravaganza second to none in a decade of Thespian history. Waring has also contributed several of his special Glee Club arrangements for use in the show.

Noble Elected To Lead Freshman Campus Party

Kemp Noble '44, was elected chairman of the freshman Campus party last night at a meeting held in Room 405, Old Main.

Wally Briesch was chosen to fill the treasurer's office. The vote for secretary was temporarily postponed as neither of the two leading candidates, Suzanne Clouser and Doris Taylor, could attain the majority necessary for election.

With its organization complete, the freshman party will announce and conduct its own meetings for the remainder of the year.

Fred Waring Writes Song For Penn State

THE HILLS OF OLD
PENN STATE

Here among the mighty hills that proudly guard her gate, Stands old Penn State, so strong so great.

O'er the crest of Nitt'ny adding glory to her height, E'er waves the Blue and White. Sounds of music fill the air through the valleys ev'rywhere Loyal voices loud and clear telling all the world "our hearts are here"

Through the years the Blue and White will ever consecrate these wondrous hills To old Penn State, The Hills of Penn State.

Hetzel Officially Accepts Mural

A brief ceremony for the official presentation of the Penn State Mural, gift of the class of 1932, was held in the first floor lobby of Old Main at the College, Saturday night.

Prof. J. Burn Helme of the architectural department introduced the speaker and also talked for a few minutes on the origination of the idea for the mural, for which he credited Harold E. Dickson, associate professor of fine arts.

H. Audrey Myers, senior class president of the class of 1932, made the actual presentation. He said that the mural to him depicted the highest ideals of this institution and that he hoped it would continue to remain the representative of these ideals.

Acceptance of the mural was made by President Ralph D. Hetzel.

President Hetzel spoke about the artistry of Henry Varnum Poor, creator of the mural. He also said that he hoped the inspiration derived from the mural would add the contribution of force to the other influences Penn State possesses.

Professor Helme then closed the ceremony and told the audience that pamphlets explaining the purpose of the mural could be obtained from either Professor Dixon or Professor Hyslop.

Staff Hospitalization Members Get Dividends

Dividends and adjustments amounting to $5,039 were returned to members of the College staff participating in the Group Hospitalization Insurance Plan this month and have been awarded to each member in proportion to the individual contribution.

Maximum return was $3.97 on a contribution totaling $16.65. This dividend was earned on the basis of $1.11 contributed monthly since the plan began in April, 1939, up to June 1940. Other returns were made in proportion to the length of membership and amount of total contribution.

Rushing Code Is Topic Of Fraternity Counselors

The year's first meeting of the Fraternity Counselors Association will be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the Pi Kappa Phi house, Prof. William C. Bramble has announced.

A discussion of the new rushing code, together with Interfraternity Council's Judiciary Committee report on rushing, to be given by the chairman, Prof. Marsh W. White, will comprise the principal business of the Council's meeting.

Prizes Awarded For Decorations

Alpha Sigma Phi and Gamma Phi Beta won the first prizes for fraternity and sorority decorations in the annual Alumni Day Decorations contest, sponsored by Interfraternity Council and the Alumni Association.

First prizes, two bronze cups, were awarded on the basis of general effectiveness and originality.

First honorable mention for fraternity decorations was awarded to Kappa Sigma, second to Sigma Nu, and third to Alpha Chi Rho. Delta Gamma won honorable mention among the sororities.

Judges were Carl W. Ernst Jr. '41, president of Scarab architectural society; George A. Hay Jr. '41, president of Topian, landscape architect society; and Harold E. Dickson, assistant professor of fine arts.

Despite the crowds present for Alumni Homecoming and the State-West Virginia football game on Saturday, State College experienced an accident-free weekend, the borough police office reported today.

Phone calls to the borough police department were at a minimum over the weekend, the register revealed. Dogs held the spotlights as far as complaints were concerned. One canine was reported killed, a second "pooch" was annoying a neighbor by continuous barking, while a third was running loose in the College Heights area.

The Locust Lane fraternity section saw much activity Saturday night and early Sunday morning when a number of small fires were started. Most of the material burned had previously been used for decorations in front of the houses.

Music Listening Hours Scheduled

Hummel Fishburn, associate professor of music education, announced yesterday the schedule for the listening room of the Carnegie record library in 417 Old Main.

The complete schedule, which will hold good until November 8, is:

- Monday—8 to 10 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m.
- Tuesday—9 to 11 a. m., 1 to 3 p. m.
- Wednesday—8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 4 p. m.
- Thursday—1 to 4 p. m.
- Friday—8 to 11 a. m., 7 to 10 p. m.
- Saturday—8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. (except Nov. 2).
- Sunday—2 to 6 p. m., 7 to 10 p. m.

The library, which consists of approximately 1500 classical and semi-classical records, will be available for student use starting today.

NYA student workers will be in charge of the room at the specified hours and will play requested records. Such courtesy as would prevail at any other musical event, namely quiet and attentiveness, is all that is required of the listeners.

Dr. Stocking To Speak

Dr. E. J. Stocking, Principal Examiner of Engineering in the United States Civil Service Commission, will be the speaker for the senior engineering lecture in 110 EE building, Friday at 4 p. m. His topic will be "Opportunities for Engineering Graduates in the Federal Service."

Heads Honorary

Delta Sigma Pi is giving a smoker for upperclassmen in the Commerce and Finance Curriculum and Economics majors at the Phi Sigma Kappa House tomorrow at 8 p. m., it was announced yesterday by B. Boyd Harrington '41, who is shown above. Professors A. H. Reede and C. E. Wyand will hold an informal debate on the subject: "A Third Term for Roosevelt." Professor Reede will debate for the affirmative, Professor Wyand the negative. Dr. Carl W. Hasek, fraternity advisor and head of the economics and sociology departments, will speak on "The Place of the Professional Fraternity."

Cabinet May Set Football Holiday

The football half-holiday, school council budgets, and borough street markers will come before All-College Cabinet at its third meeting of the year in Room 305, Old Main, at 9 p. m. today.

William S. Hoffman, member of the College calendar committee, said last night he believed that Cabinet, as successor to the old Student Board, had the power to set the football half-holiday.

Cabinet will probably decide whether the football half-holiday will come on October 26, the day of the Temple game, or November 23, the Pitt game date.

School council budgets have been submitted to Interclass Finance Board and Cabinet will act on the Board's recommendations tonight, Arnold C. Laich '41, All-College president, said yesterday.

Laich said that he will appoint a committee to work with a borough committee to place the blame for destruction of street markers during a recent pajama parade.

Col. Emery Will Discuss Draft Registration Here

Colonel A. R. Emery will speak tonight on the relations of the draft to college students at an open meeting of the American Society of Military Engineers.

The talk will precede Wednesday's draft registration in which an estimated number of 1,800 students will participate.

Students, by authority of the Centre County Commissioners, will be registered on the campus by sworn members of the College staff.

Students will be excused from class only during the hour in which they are registering.

Managers Appointed

Robert N. Baker '41 and Emer C. Flounders '41 will be co-managers of Drydock this year, George L. Donovan, Student Union manager, announced yesterday. The opening of the night club is scheduled for November 9.

Hatch Act Held As Restricting Faculty Politics

All College faculty and staff members are barred from state and national political activity by the Hatch Act, it was disclosed yesterday by President Ralph D. Hetzel.

The President said: "Legal counsel for the College advises that the Hatch Act limits the political activity of all those employed by the College. Counsel is of the opinion that the Act does not apply to elections for local offices. It is therefore suggested that members of the faculty and staff who desire to take part in political activity consult the provisions of this Act."

In other quarters doubt was expressed concerning the opinion of the attorney, who was not named by President Hetzel, that the Act "does not apply to elections for local offices."

It was suggested by John H. Ferguson, assistant professor of Political Science, if the Act does block local political activity that the only way faculty members could run for office would be "by doing it through a local party unaffiliated with any state or national political organization."

He said that C. Edgar Book, borough secretary, had written to the United States Civil Service Commission asking for an interpretation of the Act. This opinion will probably be taken as final, Professor Ferguson said, unless an appeal is made to the courts and another ruling is made.

Late News Bulletins

Yugoslavia—Nazi high officials advised Rumania last night not to make any formal break with England to avoid the bombing of Rumanian oil wells.

Holland—German forces in Holland received a terrific bombing from the RAF planes yesterday. The English bombers continued into Germany where they set as their objectives Nazi airdromes, naval bases, air plants, and munition factories.

Africa—Italian islands off the coast of Northern Africa and interior strongholds were ripped apart in the first big battle of the African continent.

London—London and surrounding terrain received another "worst bombing of the war" as Hitler's planes blasted important war bases. One plane that was shot down contained a cargo of bombs large enough to blow up a small town.

Washington—Officials at the capitol stated that ministers from Brazil and other South American countries would meet in the near future to discuss western hemisphere defense.

Two luxury liners will be sent to western Europe to aid in the evacuation of Japan and Russia.

Music Club To Pledge

The Louise Homer Club will pledge new members at a meeting in the northeast lounge of Atherton Hall tonight at 7:30. A short musical program will follow the business meeting.
