

Between The Lions

WITH DICK PETERS

Lines On The Lions

Information from Syracuse declares that the Orangemen are whipping up a great deal of enthusiasm over the coming soccer game with Penn State's "perpetual motion" club. What the information didn't say is whether it is a result of hopes for a win, or whether the anticipation is for seeing in action, the best "boot factory" in the business.

—BTL—

State's most recent gift to pro football, Leapin' Lloyd Ickes, who currently is being starred with the New York Yankees in the American loop of the money-and-mole-skis pastime, missed the last Yanks game against the Milwaukee Chiefs Sunday, due to injuries received last week.

—BTL—

Almost as unrecognized as the Lion grid outfit, is the Navy squad, also to date undefeated in four games. Which all goes to show you that metropolitan newspaper publicity is almost as indispensable to a top-flight team as its regular ends.

—BTL—

Off hand, can you tell when Penn State last had an undefeated football team? Or how many times the Lions have come through their schedule untarnished? Well, 1920 was the last perfect year, preceded by six others, in 1881, 1887, 1894, 1909, 1911, and 1912.

The Lion team which invades the Owls Nest Saturday, will be the first Nittany eleven to visit in Philadelphia undefeated for 20 years. In 1920, they entered the City of Brotherly Love with five wins, under their belt and proceeded to take the sixth in a row from Penn, 28-7.

Speaking of Penn, we'd give our other clean shirt to see the head-on meeting of Harmon and Reagan. Personally, this looker-onger is of the opinion that Penn and Reagan are going to feel as if it were their bi-centennial after the Wolverines take them for a ride, a la Harmon.

Thompson May Start Against Syracuse Frosh

Jack Banbury, first-string freshman fullback who, sprained his ankle in Tuesday's scrimmage, may be replaced by Jim Thompson in the starting lineup against the Orange yearlings at Syracuse Saturday.

Banbury's injury was not thought at first to be serious but X-rays showed yesterday that his ankle was badly sprained. Dr. Alfred H. Griess, team physician, said last night that he will probably be able to play but that the bad ankle would prevent him from playing his usual game.

No injuries were suffered yesterday as the frosh used Temple plays in scrimmage against the varsity. Previous to the scrimmage the yearlings practiced pass defense for use against a reportedly-good Syracuse aerial attack.

Other than that, little can be found out about the Orange cubs. The game Saturday will be their first.

Sigma Chi Captures IM Swimming Championship

Scores Every First Place To Beat P.S. Club, 32-11

Sigma Chi's mermen easily outdistanced the Penn State Club's team 32-11, to win the Swimming Intramural Championship yesterday.

All first places were taken by Sigma Chi. Only five events comprised the championship meet with diving dropped by agreement.

Will Knight, Sigma Chi, turned in the best race of the meet with his 34:1 time in the 60-yard freestyle.

Summaries:

60-yard freestyle: Will Knight, Sigma Chi, first, 34:1; Ben Snipas, Penn State Club, second; Lenn Urquhart, P. S. Club, third.

60-yard back stroke: Howard Snowden, Sigma Chi, first, 44:7; James Measday, Sigma Chi, second; Harold Adams, P. S. Club, third.

120-yard freestyle: Dick Sartz, Sigma Chi, first, 1:30; Urquhart, second; Knight, third.

60-yard breast stroke: Snowden, first, 49:4; Snipas, second; James Measday, Sigma Chi, third.

90-yard relay Sigma Chi, 54.5.

Sixteen Booters Depart For Syracuse Tomorrow

Sixteen players will leave for Syracuse tomorrow where they will meet the Orangemen for the Lions' fourth soccer tilt this season. The game will start at 11 a.m. in order not to interfere with the football game that afternoon.

Coach Bill Jeffrey is expected to start the same team that took the field last week against Bucknell. Captain Walt Hosterman will lead the Nittanymen in quest of their 57th victory.

Daily scrimmage between the varsity and freshman squad has brought both elevens to almost peak performance and Saturday's game will see a well-balanced and well-conditioned Lion varsity fall to the task of keeping a strong Orange team from scoring an upset.

In addition to the starting lineup, five extras will accompany the Nittanymen to the Syracuse contest. Jeffrey will select these five from the following candidates: Dick Dearborn, Charles Taylor, John Dufford, Bob Seavy, Bob Ernst, and Charles Arnold.

80 Entrants Run Today In IM Cross-Country

Over 80 cross country entrants are expected to engage in the three-mile intra-mural competition starting at 4:30 today from the College golf course.

Walter C. Parsons '42, intra-mural cross country manager, announced that 70 fraternity and 12 independent runners had completed the necessary requirements for participation.

Alpha Chi Sigma, team winner of last year's race, will run tomorrow but will be minus the services of Max Peters, who won the harrier battle last year.

Peters Top Gainer In Lehigh Game Saturday

Loose-jointed Chuck Peters, veteran Lion tailback, found some of his old fury against Lehigh University Saturday when he galloped 96 yards for one State touchdown and ripped off 105 yards in 17 tries to average six yards per play. Peters led the Lions in ground gained although he played only two quarters.

| STATE | T.C. | G. | L. | Net |
|----------|------|-----|----|-----|
| Peters | 17 | 105 | 0 | 105 |
| Petrella | 10 | 48 | 5 | 43 |

Three Lineup Changes May Be Made In Lions' Starting Posts Saturday

Although the Temple game Saturday will find the Nittany Lion football squad at its full strength for the first time since the Bucknell opener, Coach Bob Higgins is having his lineup troubles. Before, injuries caused this difficulty; this time the Lion mentor is debating which one of his available grid-ders to start against the Owls.

No less than three starting assignments are still in doubt. Bill Smaltz, regular fullback who saw little action in the West Virginia and Lehigh tilts because of an ankle injury appears ready to return to the regular lineup. It is possible, however, that Higgins may select Sophomore Ralph Ventresco to do the Lions' kicking and passing at the start of the game. Ventresco's physical condition is also doubtful since he's been out of action for the past three weeks.

The wingback position will be filled by Craig White or Len Krouse. The latter has starred in all three games and may get the nod over White. Craig was injured in the Bucknell game and has been on the shelf since.

The only probable change in the veteran forward wall may see Jim Woodward replacing veteran Wade Mori at left guard. Mori had several teeth knocked out in the Engineer fracas.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23—Temple's offensive was slightly revised by Head Coach Ray Morrison in the hope that the batch of new plays will work successfully against the defense Penn State is expected to put up against the Owls.

The running attack of the Temple team has not been as potent as Morrison had figured, so in today's workout the coaches introduced new plays which they expect will add power to the ground attack. At the same time the aerial maneuvers were enhanced by the addition of two plays designed to work advantageously against the Nittany Lions.

Morrison and his assistant, Henry Frnka, who takes care of the ends, have been spending considerable time with the terminals, since the pictures of the Michigan State game showed that the wingmen made several glaring errors.

Recreation Committee Plans Extensive Program

Designed to organize and promote a better recreation program for students, faculty, and administration, the All-College Recreation Coordinating Committee met last evening in the Sandwich Shop to initiate plans for widening recreational activities and make use of all available campus facilities.

Afternoon, evening, and weekend recreational programs are to be inaugurated soon, possibly under the supervision of faculty members. A study of various recreational interests is being conducted also.

Among the activities favored by the committee are hiking trips, and skiing excursions. A long-planned cabin is under consideration in the vicinity of the ski trail.

SAE Beats Kappa Sigma In Football Semi-Finals

SAE will meet Alpha Chi Sigma in the finals next Wednesday after defeating Kappa-Sigma last night 12 to 0 in the semi-finals. Accurate passing of Johnny Barr sparked the SAE's.

BRB eked out a win over Fairmont Hall in a first round game by one first down to none after the teams had both scored one touchdown early in the game.

Irvin Hall will meet BRB in the semi-finals after defeating Watts Hall last night 12 to 6.

A strong Blue and White team rolled over Frazier Hall in a first round game 6 to 0 last night. The score was made in the first half by a pass to Hobart in the end zone.

Pre-Meds Leave On Trip

Pre-medical seniors left for Philadelphia yesterday on an inspection trip of medical schools in Philadelphia. Those schools which will be visited are Jefferson, Woman's Medical, Temple, and University of Pennsylvania.

More than 80 per cent of the boys on the Boston university football squad are members of the ROTC.

Orange Harriers Offer Six Veterans Against Injured Lions Tomorrow

Charging down upon the Nittany Lion stronghold the "Boys from Syracuse" will attempt to teach Coach Chick Werner's harrier squad the ancient Greek art of running stamina in the five-mile cross-country duel meet here tomorrow at 11 a. m.

With a Spartan-like squad of six veterans returning and the strongest sophomore reserves they have had for years, the Orangemen last week defeated a strong NYU team 26-29 and swamped the Colgate harriers 16-39 on Saturday.

Not content with a well-balanced group, State's opponents present the strongest harrier trio in the country in Lynn Radcliffe, Wes Stansburg, and Captain A. Obrist, who are potential one, two and three tape-breakers in any competition.

Radeliffe and Stansbury have run together since their Syracuse Central High School days, with Radcliffe offering McMitchell, 1939 IC-4A champion, a close finish in their NYU match two weeks ago.

This Orange duo were the harriers who pushed Herm Goffberg to his three-mile Penn State harrier record of 15:33 minutes in the freshman match in 1938.

Captain Bill Smith will bid adieu to Nittany Lion fans in his last home race after four years of record-shattering runs. Competition between Smith and Radcliffe will be at fever pitch, because Smith only nosed out the Orange ace in their duel struggle at Syracuse last year.

To offset the Syracuse threat Coach Chick Werner can only depend upon Smith, Chet Snyder, Pop Thiel, and Vern Kotz to carry the Penn State banner. With his best veterans as Al Buorgerie, Herm Goffberg, and Howie Wheeler watching from the sidelines because of injuries, these four must place high in order to garner a Lion victory.

Other veterans who may race against the Wernermen are Dick Arrighi, George Bailey, Frank Coffin, Keith Hine, Clyde Johnson, Ken Norson, Pete Megnin, Verpe Rockcastle, and Lorin Schoff.
