

Government Head Addresses Young Democrats Today

With his subject "The Defense Policies of the United States," Norman M. Littell, assistant attorney general of the United States will address the Young Democrats of Penn State and all other interested persons in the Sandwich Shop at 8 p.m. tonight.

Littell's talk is sponsored by the Democratic organization on this campus and the Roosevelt College Clubs of America.

Also featured on the program will be entertainment offered by Connie Konopka '41, and Leon Rabinowitz '43. Refreshments will be served.

A graduate of Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., in 1921, Littell later became a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University and then attended Harvard Law School. He was awarded an L.L.B. degree from Washington University in 1929 and admitted to the Washington bar in the same year.

He is a member of Beta Theta Pi and of the Seattle, Washington, D. C., and American Bar Associations. Before his appointment in April, 1939, Littell was associated with three Seattle, Wash. business firms.

Frank Kingdon '41 is chairman of the committee sponsoring the meeting. Other members of the committee are Jack Sachs '41, Bayard Bloom '41, Alice M. Murray '42, Robert D. Baird '42 and Connie Konopka '41.

Van Zandt To Talk On Armistice Day

The complete program for the combined student body-borough Armistice Day observance to be held in Schwab Auditorium at 11 a.m. on November 11 was released yesterday by Ray V. Watkins, chairman of the program committee.

No 11 o'clock classes will be held on that day so that all students will be able to attend the ceremony.

Rep. James Van Zandt of the 23rd Congressional district will deliver the main address. The observance will begin with the usual silent period at 11 a.m. Taps will be played after that and the hour-long program in the auditorium is scheduled to begin about 11:10 a.m.

The complete program: Organ prelude; Invocation, Prof. John H. Frizzell; Hymn, "America, the Beautiful;" Responsive Reading; Solo, "Who Goes There?"; Prof. Harlan N. Worthley; Address, Rep. James E. Van Zandt; Benediction, Professor Frizzell; and Postlude.

Republicans Organize Club To Interest College Voters

A branch of the College Republicans of America, a nation-wide organization to promote interest in the coming election, and to get the college men to vote, has been established on the Penn State campus.

The organization was started in 1932, and there are now eleven branches in this state. The University of Pennsylvania, Carnegie Tech, and Pitt are a few of the colleges that have organized branches.

James McKelvey '42 will preside as temporary chairman at a meeting to be held for the charter members. The meeting shall be the beginning of a drive for new members.

PSCA Debate Forum Slated For Tonight

"Should United States Form a Permanent Union with Commonwealth of Great Britain?" will be discussed at the first public debate sponsored by the PSCA forum committee in the Home Economics Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

The affirmative side will be upheld by Sylvester K. Stevens, assistant professor of history, and the negative by John H. Ferguson, assistant professor of political science. An economic analysis will be given by Arthur H. Reede, assistant professor of economics.

Students Favor Sunday Movies

Nine out of 10 students favor Sunday movies in State College, an informal poll conducted by the Daily Collegian reveals.

Voters of the borough will have their chance to express their opinions on Tuesday when a local referendum is brought to a vote. The outcome of the vote will decide whether or not State College is to have movies on Sunday.

Most students favoring the Sunday cinema expressed themselves in these general terms: "There's nothing to do around here on Sunday afternoons and evenings. Students opposing the referendum were largely influenced by religious reasons. "Sunday school and church comes first," was the general consensus of this group.

Enrollment In Languages Of Warring Nations Drops

Does the second World War have anything to do with freshman enrollment in foreign language courses?

According to the figures, enrollment in all languages of warring nations has dropped this semester and enrollment in Spanish, the language of neutral Spain and South America, has increased considerably.

Freshman enrollment in Spanish for the first semester last year was 160, and is 190 now; French was 201 and is 158; German had 308 last year, 283 now; Italian 15 and 5.

Classes Start Tuesday

The All-College dancing class sponsored by the Penn State Club will begin next Tuesday, November 5, instead of November 25 as incorrectly announced yesterday.

Research Grants Given to 22 Profs

Twenty-two professors have been given grants-in-aid of research as a result of the meeting of the Faculty Council on Research held last month.

Chairman S. W. Fletcher announced the following allotments which were taken from the Central Fund for Research:

Richard B. Dow—$100, strength of metals at high pressures. D. H. Rank—$150, infra red absorption bands of organic molecules. J. H. Simons—$150, electrolysis in liquid hydrogen fluoride. H. L. Yeagley—$150, a new technique for spectro-chemical analysis. Arthur Rose—$150, effect of holdup on sharpness of separation in batch fractional distillation. Michael R. Cannon—$150, the relationship between viscosity and molecular structure. Clifford R. Adams—$175, the validation of an objective test of personality characteristics. C. R. Carpenter—$200, the social behavior of primates.

Benjamin J. Lazan—$150, dynamic characteristics of materials. H. F. Alderfer—$200, a survey of the minor judiciary in Pennsylvania. Joseph F. O'Brien—$50, experimental studies of the relative effectiveness of discussion and reflection as stimuli for persuasive speech composition. H. Koepf-Baker—$150, the physiological factors in the syllable. F. J. Tschan—$125, medieval history, Bernard of Hildesheim. Joseph Jay Rubin—$150, theories of prose style. E. C. Henry—$100, the effect of various anions on the viscosity of clay suspensions. H. M. Davis—$75, a chemical system.

D. W. McGlashan—$100, a fundamental study for the application of froth flotation methods to separation of minerals. C. H. Samans—$150, effect of alloying elements of recrystallization of cold worked pure iron. M. C. Fetzer—$100, creep properties of cast iron. C. R. Austin—$100, dilation studies. H. Neuberger—$150, studies of the geological basement complex in Centre County.

Ivalclare Howland—$200, correlations between the physical fitness index and responses to mental acuity and skill tests and responses to nutritional tests.

Krabyll Elected Prexy

Herbert Krabyll was elected president of the PSCA Freshman Council at a recent meeting. Other officers chosen were Clifford Painter, secretary-treasurer, and Jerry Stein, vice president.

Students' Duty To Report Dating Violations—Wagner

Special Collegians Planned This Weekend

Two special eight-page editions of Collegian, a Houseparty Issue and a Football Issue, will appear tomorrow and Saturday.

Tomorrow's issue will contain a complete Houseparty Entertainment Calendar in addition to all the regular Collegian features.

Returns on the Collegian's second campus-wide election poll will be published in Saturday's special number. Two pages of the issue will be devoted to football.

Church Council To Hold Parley

The Inter-Church Student Fellowship Council, which represents all student church organizations on campus and in the State, will hold its second annual World Fellowship Worship in the Evangelical Church, Beaver Avenue and Burrows Street, at 5:30 p.m. today.

Approximately 100 student representatives will attend the informal fellowship dinner and later participate in a worship service, Louis E. Carter '42, president of the council, has announced.

Two foreign born students, Miss Suki Chen, special student, and Andrew P. Szekely '43, will interpret the world fellowship movement from the alien standpoint. Miss Chen will speak on "Christianity Today" and Szekely on "Faith and the Making of a New World."

Eleanor L. Robinson, graduate student, will act as chairman of the service, with Anna M. Civitts '42, Miriam L. Rhein '43, Donald J. Stitzer '41, and R. Tracy Eddinger '42, furnishing the entertainment.

Shooting Case Decision Will Be Announced Today

Burgess Wilbur F. Leitzell will announce his decision on the Phi Sigma Delta shooting case involving 12 students today.

Last night, members of a special board called by Leitzell met, and after hearing evidence, each one handed his opinion of what action should be taken to Leitzell.

Reporters' Names To Be Held In Strict Confidence

"Any individual on the campus may and should report violations of the Interfraternity Council dating code to me," said H. Edward Wagner '41, president of IFC at its meeting last night. "All names of reporters will be held in strict confidence."

"The obligation of each fraternity does not end with the mere posting of the 20 copies of the new dating code which are to be distributed soon to the houses," he stated. "But it is the duty of every student to report violations of both the letter and the spirit of this code."

Prof. Sheldon C. Tanner, IFC adviser, added that a fraternity is guided to a great extent in its conduct by the example which the chapter president sets.

The penalties for all violations of the code will be decided on by a faculty committee of three headed by Professor Tanner. The greatest penalty that may be applied is a semester's withdrawal of social privileges. It was pointed out by Wagner that although the college has the authority to withdraw the charter of a fraternity for immoral practices, they leave this responsibility of dating enforcement entirely up to the fraternities.

"This is all the more reason," he said, "that we should do our utmost to enforce the code."

It was announced by Tanner that a revised IFC constitution would be presented for the council's decision at its next meeting. In it will be a clause to incorporate two new bodies subordinate to IFC, namely a treasurer's council and a caterer's council.

The following motion was passed: "The publication 'Fraternity News' is not the official organ of IFC."

H. Ridge Riley, of the public information department, was presented with a traveling bag as a token of appreciation for his help in putting out the fraternity booklet for freshmen this summer.

Baird '42 Draws Low Number In Draft

The draft number of Robert D. Baird '42 was the 358th drawn in the lottery it was learned yesterday when it was reported that seven persons connected with the College were among the 25 State College residents whose numbers were drawn first.

(Information is not yet available on students and faculty members not registered with the State College board.)

"It's just bad luck and definitely bad news," Baird said last night speaking of his low order number. "Sure, I'll go if necessary. I'm an isolationist but not a rebel."

Baird is a member of Skull and Bones and a varsity boxer. Last year he was president of Druids and a member of the varsity debating team.

Names of the seven persons are listed below. The first number is the order in which the name was drawn and the number in parentheses is the person's serial number. All numbers are unofficial.

146. Ervin W. Schroeder, instructor in agricultural engineering (2489).

167. A. Leroy Voris, assistant professor of animal nutrition (2524).

262. Isadore Zipkin, graduate stipend scholar in agricultural and biological chemistry (2792).

268. Robert L. Wilson, sports editor of the Centre Daily Times and sports editor of the Penn State Collegian last year (766).

278. Newell C. Cook, graduate assistant in chemistry (2780).

358. Robert D. Baird '42 (2892).

390. Richard W. Stow, graduate assistant in physics (2877).
