Round Tables, Speakers To Feature Conference

Plans for the Regional Panhellenic Conference here November 8, 9, and 10 are rapidly nearing completion as acceptances from representatives of 37 college Panhellenic associations in New England and Middle Atlantic States continue to pour in.

"Fraternalities in the World Today" has been chosen as the conference theme. Chairman Mrs. A. K. Anderson has announced and all round tables, speeches, and discussions will be conducted around this central idea.

The program will get underway at 9 p. m. Friday, November 8 at a general meeting in Room 304, Old Main following registration of delegates in the first floor lounge. Round tables will be held in Rooms 304 and 305 Old Main from 9 a. m. to noon and from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Saturday, November 9 on subjects the delegates have suggested. Rushing, limitation of chapter membership and duties of officers have been named as possible topics by Mrs. Anderson.

A luncheon for all delegates at the Nittany Lion Inn Saturday noon will break up the round tables. Adrian O. Morse, assistant to the president in charge of resident instruction will address the group. His subject will be announced later.

At 6:30 p. m. a dinner will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn at which Dr. J. Paul Selsam, assistant professor of history, will speak on "Our Responsibility In The World Today."

College delegates will have dates for Mortar Board's Spinster Skip while the others are on a tour of White Hall and Atherton Hall. Officer's conferences after the tours have been scheduled until 10 p. m. when there will be a social hour in the southeast lounge of Atherton Hall for those not attending the dance.

We, The Women— The Animals Steal The Lion's Show

THE NITTANY LION has had his publicity at the expense of the forgotten animals who might well share his rule over Nittany Valley. Feeling that these ignored creatures are suffering at the paws of the beloved lion, we shall boost their ego by exposing them, their habitats, and their claims for fame.

We nominate to share the lion's throne:

The fly, who has had an unusually long career of pestering this year due to warm weather and holes in screens.

The squirrel and chipmunk who jump around campus and store food for winter months in dormitory and sorority house eaves. The constant chatter is at its peak at 6 a. m.

The dog who barks at each sound of Old Main chimes.

The rat which abounds in sorority garrets and occasionally sits in the halls to listen to telephone conversations or pokes into waste paper baskets. It may be heard running through the walls at unconventional hours of the night.

The silverfish whose many legs glide across the floors. It is at its best when feasting on the woollens in coed's wardrobes or escaping the many feet anxious to tread it out of existence.

But, here's to the lion who knows where it belongs and stays there—a perfect gentleman.
