

Corbin, Peters, Robinson Vie For Catch-of-Campus

Winner Will Be Crowned
On Sadie Hawkins Day

W. Lewis Corbin '41, Charles M. Peters '41, and Robert Robinson '41 survived coeds' balloting on their ideal man and will battle it out for the Catch-of-the-Campus title voting this week at Student Union and the Corner Room.

Pictures of the finalists will be on display this week at the Corner Room and the top man will be crowned with a Mortar Board at the Spinster Skip, slated for White Hall from 9 p. m. to midnight, Saturday.

The dance will feature the theme of Sadie Hawkins' Day, which gives coeds legal right to bag their favorite BMOs. White Hall will be decorated with comic strips of A Capp's famous characters Daisy Mae, Li'l Abner, Sadie Hawkins, Marryin' Sam, Mammy and Pappy Yokum, Ole Man Mose, Mayor Guggle, and Frightful and Fruitful McGulp.

Usual corsages of roses and gardenias will be supplanted by cabbages, carrots, and cauliflower. Movie dates made by the coeds, escorting in reverse, and a door prize will help reflect Sadie Hawkins' failure to catch a man until she was 45.

Miss Fix Advises Lovelorn Coeds

DEAR MISS FIX:

I am five feet three inches tall and have blonde hair and blue eyes. I am considered a good dancer and never lack dates, but there is a man in one of my classes that I would like to date. He doesn't seem to know I exist. How can I make him look my way?

Thank you,
Betty Coed

Dear Betty:

Meet the man after class and ask him to Mortar Board's Spinster Skip, November 9. Then your troubles will be over.

DEAR MISS FIX:

I am tall, dark, and considered attractive by my friends. I have been going steady with a fellow for the past two years, but we recently broke up. Will you advise me on how to get back into circulation?

Sincerely,
Kathleen

The Second-Nighter 'Balloon Goes Up' For Soph Hop Goers

By GEORGE SCHENKEIN

Thespians have done it again!

If "The Balloon Goes Up" is any indication of the club's success, it looks like the Thespians are on their merry way to another banner year. The popularity of the revue, which played to packed houses both nights, was so outstanding that it merited repeat performances on Soph Hop weekend.

With the show built around them, the Stooges were mainstays in creating its success. Ned Startzel's Elmer in the "Friendship" number was matchless as was his portrayal of Myrtle, the nurse, in a "A Mourning at the Dispensary." The Stooges' "Heil Swastika" created a wow Saturday night although the boys' inimitable antics did not live-up to "Dirty Olga From the Volga." Stringer, a typical proto-type of Martha Raye, was without parallel in "Friendship" and "Bo-Peep," while her bouncing, effervescent excitement in "Minnie The Mocher" stirred the audience.

Dear Kathleen:

Solve your problem by getting a date for the Spinster Skip from 9 to 12 p.m. Saturday night.

Draft Leon Rabinowitz, in "ROTC" a takeoff on Jan Savitt's WPA, and his life-like characterization of Chief Shtuba, and you have the stars of the show. Supporting the leads were the Swingerettes, a newly-discovered trio of ear-pleasing (and eye-pleasing, too) girls. "The Balloon" rises again Soph

Hop weekend. Its striking humor is by no means subtle but of the type that produces much raucous laughter. We've seen it twice and, like the repeaters at the never-ending "Hellzapoppin'," we'll bet there'll be plenty of theatre-goers around these parts who'll come back again two weeks hence.
