

Pan-Hel Parley Begins Tomorrow With 80 Delegates

Nearly 80 delegates will arrive tomorrow to attend the Regional Panhellenic Conference tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday according to acceptances already received by Mrs. John Vandervort, registration chairman.

More than 55 sorority representatives from 37 eastern colleges and universities will stay in campus sorority houses, while the 16 national and district officers and 3 deans have arrangements in town.

All campus sorority women have been invited to attend any of the sessions during the conference program, and may go to the luncheon and dinner at the Nittany Lion Inn on Saturday or the Allencrest breakfast Sunday morning by paying for individual meals.

The three-day program as announced by Mrs. A. K. Anderson, general chairman, follows:

- Tomorrow:
 5-8 p. m. — Registration. First floor lounge, Old Main.
 9 p. m. — Symposium with three or four speakers, Room 304 Old Main.
- Saturday:
 9 a. m. — 12 noon — Round tables. Rooms 304 and 305 Old Main.
 1 p. m. — Luncheon, Nittany Lion Inn. Speaker, Adrian O. Morse, assistant to the president.
 2:30-5 p. m. — Round Tables, Nittany Lion Inn.
 6:30 p. m. — Dinner, Nittany Lion Inn. Speaker, Dr. J. Paul Selsam, assistant professor of history, on "Our Responsibility in the World Today."

We, The Women

WSGA Starts Relief Project

"KNIT ONE, PURL ONE" is as effective as "Ready, Aim, Fire" in keeping the enemy from British shores. Good food, warm clothing, and a place to sleep are essential to win a battle in which morale plays a greater part than 16-inch guns.

Although a drive for funds will be conducted with All-College Cabinet second semester, WSGA's project is now getting underway. Knitting sweaters, helmets, and gloves is a way for everyone to relieve the suffering of those whose homes have been destroyed and who have been left with insufficient clothing for the cold days ahead.

Within the next few days members of the project committee will contact each coed to offer wool and needles. If you don't know how to knit, there will be instructions available. If you do know how, start using those free hours to alleviate suffering abroad.

You can contribute, too, by giving any old wool clothes or by planning benefit bridges.

Garments will go to the British War Relief Society whose aid reaches those not eligible for British Red Cross help (the British Red Cross cares for persons injured in battles or bombings).

Any aid you give strengthens democracy, not only in Britain, but also in the United States.

Sororities To Entertain Visiting Officers

Four sororities will entertain visiting officers who are in town for the Panhellenic conference this weekend.

The honor guest at the Alpha Omicron Pi tea today will be Mrs. Betty Truitt, district superintendent of the sorority. Gamma Phi Beta will entertain Mrs. Russel Callow, province director, at tea Sunday afternoon and will celebrate their founders' day with a special program Monday evening.

Mrs. Paul K. French, district president, will be feted at a coffee hour at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Sunday. Phi Mu will have a coffee hour Tuesday for Mrs. Carrol Melton, national collegiate vice-president.

Locust Lane Lodge Begins Special War Relief Drive

In connection with the All-College Cabinet and WSGA war relief drive, freshman women in Locust Lane Lodge are conducting their own drive this week which will be climaxed by a social at the Lodge from 7:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. Saturday which any one may attend.

At the social there will be dancing, raffles, and special booths where novelties will be sold. Admission will be ten cents per person and proceeds will be turned over to the Cabinet and WSGA who will refer them to competent war relief agencies.

Five dollars has already been collected by the women by paying each other for special duties such as making beds and doing laundry.

Gals All Set To Bag Their Ideal Man

He's Skipping Spinsters!

Penn State men will take to their heels like Li'l Abner, above, is doing, on Saturday, official Penn State Sadie Hawkins Day. If you catch your man, take him to Mortar Board's Spinster Skip.

Corbin, Peters, Robinson — Mortar Board Abners

"He's adorable!"
 "He's handsome!"
 "What a guy!"

Yep, the local gals are out baggin' their ideal men, and Lou Corbin, Chuck Peters and Bob Robinson are the prize bachelor boys.

For any aspiring coeds not yet in the race, be assured that Cable, Taylor, and Flynn can't hold a candle to these local heart-breakers.

Lou is that peppy Tribunal prexy who guides misdirected freshmen. He's the type who has the lassies moaning, "Oh, if you were only taller!" Think him over when you cast your vote.

Blonde Chuck Peters doesn't have to take that "You got to be a football hero" ditty seriously, cause he's the strong type with a neat pass defense. Even the best tailback, however, can be caught, so call your signals right.

Then there's Bob Robinson, Daily Collegian circulation man, Tribunal, baseball player, and actor. The women rave about this fellow, "Tall, dark, handsome, and what a smile!"

It just narrows down to this—who's your ideal man—a smoothie, a football star, or an Apollo?

You can cast your vote for any of these local Li'l Abners, the Catch-of-the-Campus, until Saturday at the Corner Room or Student Union. Top man will be crowned at the Spinster Skip in White Hall at 9 p. m. Saturday.

No matter how you vote, here's hoping for a Happy Sadie Hawkins Day—and good huntin'!

With Other Women—

Mortar Board At Utah Has Etiquette Service

Working to find what is being worn and being done on their campus, University of Utah Mortar Board members are conducting a collegiate etiquette service. The coeds will publish a social blue book to be sold weekly to students.

Amalgamated Non-Smokers, University of California, organization has a membership of 23 women, 16 men, and 5 non-committal dogs. The group recently held a picnic to prove that a good time can be had without cigarettes.

Run in The Daily California was this little notice: "Wanted: a junior woman with flat feet, cross eyes, stringy hair, pink tooth brush, and you know what even her friends won't tell her about."

The purpose was to find the Junior Witch Queen to reign over "Witch Day at The University of California" on Hallowe'en.

Bucknell Coeds To Visit

Six women from the Bucknell Freshman Council will present a program for the PSCA Forum in the Hugh Beaver room at 7 p. m. next Tuesday. The Forum will entertain the coeds at supper in the PSCA cabin at 5 p. m.
