Artists' Course Sales Dates Set

Announcing the dates of sale of the Artists' Course tickets, Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, committee chairman, last night presented a series of regulations governing the 1940-41 season.

Student tickets will be sold Wednesday, December 4. Faculty and administration members will secure their tickets on Thursday, December 5. Seats for students will be sold on Thursday.

Use of stage seats will accommodate 130 more people than last year. A ticket entitling the holder to a stage seat for the three solo numbers will also provide him with a seat in the foyer for the Cleveland Orchestra performance.

Sale of tickets will be reduced to a maximum of three per individual in an attempt to correct abuses which were noted in the ticket sale of last year. Purpose of the regulation is to prevent seats from going outside the college community while hundreds of students can not be accommodated.

"In recent years, the concern of the Artists' Course has been not so much to sell tickets," Dr. Marquardt stated, "as to see that they are sold to the persons for whom

Morse Suggests Draft Procedure

The possibility that it might be advantageous for some students to have their draft order numbers advanced to the head of the list was suggested yesterday by Adrian O. Morse, chairman of the general college draft committee.

By doing this students who might be called during the 1941-42 college year would probably be taken in July or August instead. Mr. Morse said, "It appears to the committee that it would be advantageous for the student to begin his service in July or August and have it end the following July or August and thereby lose only one college year instead of parts of two years."

It was pointed out by Mr. Morse that the Selective Service Training Act provides that deferment of training for students until the end of the college year is not automatic and must be requested.

"The committee does not understand that it is necessary to present evidence from the college that a student is in attendance," Mr. Morse said, implying that a student, in order to obtain deferment, needs only to indicate on the draft questionnaire that he attends the college.

Secretary Lawrence M. Andres '42 announces that registration for Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society, will be held in Room 209 Liberal Arts Building at 7-9 p.m. Monday.

PSCA Drive Lags Behind 1939 In Incomplete Report

Only incomplete reports were made last night on the progress of the PSCA finance drive, but on the basis of these, it appears that this year's drive for support has not come up to last year's mark.

Complete reports will be filed Monday night, when a more accurate picture will be obtainable. Drive leaders are hoping that a last-minute spurt may yet bring this year's total up to that of previous years.

Students Discuss Japanese Problem

"Must We Fight Japan?" was the subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the International Relations Club in the Liberal Arts Building, Thursday.

Mary J. Popp '42 presented an analysis of "How the old sea power is passing away under increased land power," and John Basarab '42 gave a book report on Tolstol's "War and Peace."

The discussion on the Japanese situation and America was then inaugurated by Mary Betty Anderson '42, who attended an International Relations Conference at Hawaii last February.

Other members of the club took an active part in the discussion, with enlightening view points being presented by Lai-Yung Li, graduate student of horticulture, Shuk Yee Chan, graduate student in botany, and Pao Wah Lee '43.

Plans for attendance at an International Relations Club Conference at Washington in the near future were drawn up, and topics for discussion at future meetings were selected.

Soph Hop Attendance Estimated At 400 Couples

An estimated 400 couples attended last night's Soph Hop, according to George L. Donovan, Student Union manager.

Last year's dance drew well over 900 couples. Weather, a succession of "big" weekends, a poor weekend in comparison with last year's Pitt game weekend, all detracted from the success of this year's Hop.

A complete report on attendance and finances of the dance will probably be released in the near future.

1,500 Brave Snow At Rally

Under a powdery snowfall, 1,500 Penn State fans stood shoe-deep in the mud of the Jordan Fertility Plots last night to cheer their undefeated football team to victory in this afternoon's game with New York University.

The crowd heard Football Captain Leon Gajecki, Coach Bob Higgins, and Dean Carl P. Schott in brief victory talks after a soaking, stubborn pile of wood was finally urged into flame.

Immediately after they were introduced and cheered at the rally, the football players left for Spruce Creek where they will remain until time for the game.

The talks were brief: "This is a sure demonstration of the old Penn State spirit. Tomorrow will be Penn State's day," Dean Schott told the cheering crowd; "If I were a student I wouldn't have braved

Drydock Is Sell-Out For Tonight's Opening

Table reservations for tonight's grand opening of the Drydock have been completely sold out, and only those fortunate already having tickets will be admitted, the soft drink nite club committee announced last night.

Perhaps this week's wild rush for reservations was provoked by the carding of the top-notch floor show, featuring the Meyer Brothers, Roy Rogers, Leon Rabinowitz, Connie Konopka, and George Sumner. Perhaps the revamped nite spot's new decorations, based on a jitterbug theme, had something to do with it.

Students Favor Special Pitt Bus

In an incomplete balloting, only two dissenting votes were cast against a special train or bus to the Pitt game on November 23, while 20 favored the proposition in a survey being conducted at the Student Union desk.

Sixteen students preferred to travel by bus, which can be hired at $4.20 per round trip if 37 persons charter the bus, or at $4.35 if 25 signify their intention to go. Only four wanted to travel to Pitt by a special train which would leave State College at 1:30 p. m., Friday at a $5.59 rate for a minimum of 150 students.

Fifteen students though it would be more convenient to leave on Friday, while five voted for a Saturday train or bus.

Since there is a possibility to get special transportation facilities at lower rates if more students intend to go to the Pitt football fracas, all students should fill in a questionnaire before the deadline on Tuesday.

Hillel will sponsor another of its regular socials at the Foundation, 133 W. Beaver Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. tonight, it was announced by Hillel President Harold J. Berger '42 yesterday.

A feature of the evening's program will be a comedy skit presented by Norman Racusin '41 and Civia Cohen '42.

State Gridders In Last Home Game

Its march toward an undefeated and untied season stopped by the sensational 13-13 stalemate at Syracuse last week, the still unbeaten Nittany Lion football team will unleash all its offensive artillery at the New York University eleven on New Beaver Field at 2 p. m. today in an effort to remain among the ranking powers of eastern football.

This is the third meeting between the two teams, with the Lions still seeking their initial victory over the Violet. The two elevens last clashed in New York in 1929 when NYU scored a 7 to 0 victory. State and today's opponent played to a 13-13 deadlock here in 1927.

It will be a far from overconfident team of Lions who will charge on the field this afternoon. That Syracuse game and the Violets' upset victory over the pre-

All hatmen are requested to report at the players' entrance gate on New Beaver Field at 1:30 p. m. today, Thomas C. Backenstose '41, chairman of the combined hat society council, announced today. A demonstration similar to the one in last year's Pitt game will be given with the Lion gridders running the gauntlet between two lines of hatmen.

viously undefeated Franklin and Marshall eleven last Saturday are still fresh in their minds and though favored on their comparative records for the year, the Blue and White know they have a battle on their hands.

Eight of the players who will start today's game will be making their last appearance on New Beaver Field. In all, twelve seniors led by Captain Leon Gajecki, State's candidate for All-American honors, will be playing their last home game.

With one exception, the mighty Lion line which has earned a place among the best forward walls in the nation will take the field at the opening kickoff. Captain Gajecki will be flanked by Wade Mori at right guard, Frank Platt and Carl Stravinski at the tackles, Tom Vargo and Lolyd Parsons at the terminal posts. All are seniors, the only lowerclassman in the lineup being Jack Kerns, a sophomore, who replaces the injured Mike Garbinski.

The same backfield that started the Syracuse game is slated to get the call from Coach Bob Higgins tomorrow. Two seniors, tailback Chuck Peters and quarterback
