

Cagers Favored At Navy Today

With victory No. 6 as the goal, the machinelike Nittany cage outfit will attempt to scuffle an underdog Navy five at Annapolis at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Scotty Moffatt, senior forward, who missed the Syracuse game because of illness, accompanied the team when it left yesterday but will not start for the Lions. Instead Coach John Lawther will use the same starting five which played such a big part in downing the Orange, 44-25.

Against this team, Coach John Wilson will send a team which has a record of two wins and one loss for the season. At the forwards will be lanky John Ebnet and Bob Zoeller; at center will be six-foot, three-inch Chuck Smith; and Captain Norm Ackley and Roy Falconer will play the guards.

Seeks Melrose Win

Barney Ewell, crack Lion sprint star, who will toe the starting line with the fastest track men in the country at the Melrose meet at Madison Square Garden, New York City, February 1. Pitted against him in a featured 300-yard run and 60-yard dash will be Harold Davis, who defeated Ewell twice on the west coast last year.

Lion Puckmen Trounce Owls, 6-1

Special to The Collegian

JOHNSTOWN, Jan. 17—A Penn State ice hockey squad, relying mainly on speed, trounced a favored Temple Owl team by a 6-1 score at the Shaffer Ice Palace tonight. The two teams will duel again at 2 p.m. tomorrow afternoon on the Penn State tennis court ice.

Temple's one point, chalked up by Ferino, was scored early in the first period. From then on, throughout a rough game, the Owls were unable to stop the score-wild Nittanymen.

Johnson and Gates, assisted by Dufford, scored the first two points for the Lions to take the lead which was never relinquished.

Varsity Gymnasts Face Frosh Today

With Roman Pieo definitely confined to the sidelines with a wrist injury received in Wednesday's practice, the freshman gym team is given more than just a fighting chance to upset Coach Gene Wettstone's varsity acrobats when they clash in Rec Hall at 2:30 p. m. today. Finals in weightlifting competition will be held at the same time.

The genial Lion mentor was so puzzled by the equal ability of both squads, now that the versatile ace is out of the lineup, that on the eve of the meet he predicted a deadlock.

The varsity will be banking heavily on Lou Bordo, Sol Small, Ed Trybalo is the tumbling stand-out. Captain Stahl confines his activities to the rope.

A former P.I.A.A. tumbling champion, Harold Zimmerman, will lead the freshmen on the mats and parallel bar. He will get able assistance from Jim Bush and Syd Rudman on the bars, sidehorse, and rings, Ed Anderson on the mats, Jim Reifsnnyder on the rings, Charlie Lebow on the horizontal bar, and Fred Young on the ropes.

CINEMANIA

The comedy talent of Grant and Stewart need no recommendation, but Katharine Hepburn is a constant delight and treat for her fans in a comedy role made to order for her in "The Philadelphia Story." She is seen as a Philadelphia society girl who wants a perfect husband in a production which she once played for the stage. The picture opens at the Cathaum today and will continue through Tuesday. A complete program is scheduled for Saturday with showings at 12:30, 2:32, 4:24, 6:36, 8:38.

Cars Collide

Melville K. Green, 228 S. Atherton Street, and Claire B. Stern, 626 W. Beaver Avenue, escaped injury last night when their cars collided at the intersection of W. College Avenue and Burrows Street, it was reported by the police department. Damage to the automobiles was estimated at $75.

RIDES Wanted and Offered

New York City and return. L—noon, Jan. 23. C—Pete, 4374. Wilkes-Barre or vicinity. Sat. 25th, after 11:30. C—Freed, 4186.

Between The Lions

WITH DICK PETERS

Like two mice who will play while the cats are away, two minor sports take over the local scene today, while the major Lion teams who are seeing action will be afield. . . . Gene Wettstone's acrobatic gymnasts will battle among themselves for intersquad honors, while hockey stick will replace racquet, and puck will sub for tennis ball on the frozen surface of Penn State's tennis courts, where the Nittany Lions meet Temple's Owls in the second of a two-day series of hockey games.

Up north in Syracuse, Charlie Speidel's grappling squad will meet their first real test in Syracuse. . . . After the sophomore-studded Lion wrestlers get another victory experience under their skin, we believe they're in for a mighty successful season, though the row is long, tough one to hoe, with Lehigh, Navy, Princeton, Cornell, Michigan, and Army up ahead.

Down south in Annapolis, State's surprising cagers will try their tricks on the Navy, and should win tonight. . . . At the present blistering pace they are setting, the Lion bucketeers, are also headed for a terrific season. . . . Even with Scotty "Little Miss" Moffatt out of action last Wednesday, they turned in one of the flashiest, neatest games yet seen in Rec Hall.

And so the semester closes, but before scholastic wars are resumed one other major Nittany varsity aggregation will swing into action, Dr. Leo Fred Florian Houck, the sage of Rec Hall's boxers. . . . The good doctor will test his forces against the Western Maryland leather tossers a week from tonight in Rec Hall. . . . With a wealth of mit material on hand, the debut looks like an auspicious one from here.

Nittany Lion Boxing Team Still 'Unknown Quantity'

Still an unknown quantity, the Lion boxing team meets the Western Maryland boxers, another unknown, in Rec Hall at 8 p.m. Saturday in the opening meet of the season.

Mentored by a new coach, Western Maryland may present the Nittany mitmen with a new and unpleasant problem.

A tentative lineup was indicated by Coach Leo Houck but he insisted that changes would be inevitable before next Saturday.

The tentative lineup: 120-pound class, Vic Fiore; 127-pound, Bill Mazzocco; 135-pound, Captain Rec Stanko or Homer Hoffman; 145-pound, Stanko or Bill Richards; 155-pound, Bob Baird; 165-pound, Jim Lewis; 175-pound, Les Cohn; unlimited, Paul Scally.

Superior (Wis.) State Teachers College 1898 enrollment of 17 seniors was a 600 per cent increase over that of 1897.
