

Hurst '43 Killed In Millerstown Crash

2-Day Registration Begins Today In Recreation Hall

Hoffman Urges Students To Get Transcripts Early

With the two-day second semester registration starting in Recreation Hall today at 10 a.m. and ending tomorrow at 5 p.m., William S. Hoffman, College registrar, urged students to procure their transcripts early in order to avoid a last minute rush.

The grade sheets must be presented to the scheduling officers and students must receive their approved signed schedule before they will be allowed to register, Hoffman warned.

After Wednesday noon, late registrants may apply at the registrar's office in Old Main. They will be fined $5. Students may register prior to their scheduled order, but persons enrolling later than the alphabetical order will be levied $1.

Matriculation cards must be presented at the time of registration, and duplicates can be purchased during registration hours. New students are required to present official credentials from the registrar or College examiner with a vaccination certificate.

Coincident with registration, Ray V. Watkins, College scheduling officer, revealed that practically all 4 o'clock classes will be eliminated in order to encourage extracurricular activities during the late afternoon.

The registration order:

A-Bor	Tomorrow	1-5 p.m.
Bos-Co	Today	10-12 a.m.
Cr-E	Tomorrow	8-12 a.m.
F-G	Today	1-5 p.m.

James To Deliver Budget Tonight

(See Editorial, Page Two)

The probable fate of the College's request for a $5,619,545.49 appropriation from the state will be known when Gov. Arthur H. James makes public his 1941-42 biennial budget at 9:30 tonight.

At that time the Governor will deliver a 15-minute broadcast address before a combined session of the Senate and the House.

It is generally believed that James will not recommend the full increase of approximately $1,194,000 which the College has asked over the 1939-40 appropriation. There is a slight probability that the Governor may ask the Legislature for additional funds to maintain and equip the buildings erected on the campus by the GSA.

In his opening address to the Legislature of January 7 James said that the total budget will be "virtually identical" to the 1939-40 sum of approximately $538,000,000. However, he implied that it might rise above this figure recently when he said that he was considering an "over-all figure" of $600,000,000.

Reelected President

J. Franklin Shields, above, was reelected president of the Board of Trustees at the regular mid-winter meeting of the board in Harrisburg on January 25.

Pershing Rifles To Choose Queen

Another queen will be added to Penn State's royal family of beauties in the near future, when the Pershing Rifle Society will select a queen to reign for a year over the military and social functions of 2700 ROTC men.

Following the custom of many other national Pershing Rifle companies, the coed who is elected will play an important part in parades, outfitted in a specially designed military costume.

In addition to an honorary ROTC commission that will be presented to the out-going queen on graduating, she will receive an inscribed gold plaque and a personal pin.

Any sorority, women's group, or individual suggestions for this honor should be submitted before Wednesday, February 12 at Student Union or to one of the following members of the election committee: Capt. A. G. Nonemaker, First Lieut. Edward B. Krainik, and Second Lieut. H. Michael Wolfe.

Injured Skier Recovering From Fractured Thigh

Kurt Goldmann '42, a member of the ski team, was reported resting comfortably yesterday at the Centre County Hospital, after suffering a painful fracture to his left thigh on the ski trail last Thursday afternoon.

The first aid crew from the Boalsburg Fire Company rushed Goldman to the College Infirmary and then to Bellefonte after a speedy rescue from the top of the trail.

It has not been ascertained whether Goldmann sustained several fractured ribs, besides the injury to his thigh. He will be confined to the hospital from 8 to 12 weeks.

Trustees Create Research Unit, Hotel Curriculum

An institute devoted to research in the fields of food, clothing and shelter and a curriculum in hotel administration were established by the Board of Trustees at its mid-winter meeting on January 25 and will swing into operation with the beginning of the second semester Wednesday.

The institute, to be known as the Ellen H. Richards Institute, will consolidate a number of projects now carried on by the departments of chemistry and home economics and in the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, professor of textile chemistry, will head the institute. She has resigned as director of home economics research to assume the new position.

The curriculum in hotel administration will be administered by the department of home economics.

The trustees also renamed two campus buildings. The new Liberal Arts Building will be called the Sparks Building and the Carnegie Library will be known as Carnegie Hall.

A proposal by an AA College Cabinet to add $2,000 to the fund created by the class of 1939 for the erection of the "mountain lodge" and a proposal to spend $1,000 for an electric scoreboard and timer for Rec Hall were approved.

Leaves of absence for two faculty men to fill special assignments in the U. S. Office of Education at Washington, D. C. were granted. The men are F. Theodore Struck, head of the department of industrial education, and Palmer C. Weaver, assistant director of Summer Sessions. Both leaves extend until July 1.

Charles F. Zinn was appointed professor of vocational teacher training during Dr. Struck's absence.

Other leaves were approved as follows:

U. S. An 'Indian Giver' On GSA Projects Here

Special to the Collegian

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2 — Instead of paying 45 per cent of the costs of the General State Authority buildings on the Penn State campus, the federal government through PWA actually paid less than 15 per cent, David H. Diehl, GSA director, has reported.

Diehl released these figures on the Penn State project to date:

Total cost of contracts controlled by PWA, $4,825,035.76; equipment purchased independent of PWA control, $594,396.97.

The grant received from the federal government was supposed to take care of 45 per cent of these costs with the state paying the other 55 per cent. Actually the federal government has paid only $812,237.29, Diehl said, or 14.98 per cent of the cost of the Penn State project.

Clearfield Teacher Driver In Tragedy

As they returned from their mid-semester holiday, a sophomore dairy manufacturing student, George E. Hurst, Jr., was killed and Miss Nancy L. Spahr, a sophomore pre-medical student, severely cut at 8:30 p.m. yesterday when a car in which they were traveling crashed into the rear of a truck two miles south of Millerstown.

The accident occurred when the truck slowed down to allow a car ahead of it to make a right hand turn. The car in which the two students were traveling, a 1938 Ford coupe, came over a slight hill and crashed into the rear of the truck.

The driver of the car in which the students were traveling was a Clearfield Senior High School teacher, Charles A. Vogelsong, Jr. He sustained lacerations of the face and head, broken teeth, and a possible fracture of the nose.

All three of the occupants of the car were residents of Mechanicsburg. They were returning to State College and Clearfield over U. S. 22.

Hurst died on the way to Black's Hospital in Lewistown. His body has been taken to the David Myers Funeral Home, Newport.

Miss Spahr received deep lacerations of the forehead, the right and left leg, and right knee. She and Vogelsong were treated by Dr. W. H. Gilmetz, Millerstown. From his office, the two were taken back to Mechanicsburg by Miss Spahr's father, Dr. Richard R. Spahr, who came there for them.

Hurst was a member of the Dairy Science Club and a pledge at Alpha Zeta fraternity. He would have been initiated this month. His draft number was low and he probably would have been called to duty by summer.

Artists' Course Sells Last Seats

Final ticket sale for the remaining three Artists' Course performances begins this morning at 8 a. m. at the AA windows and will continue throughout the week.

Admissions to single shows will be made available on Thursday if any series tickets remain from the 150 seats put on sale this morning.

Series tickets are priced at $3.90 for those previously selling at $5.50 and $3.40 for those originally set at $4.50. On Thursday single tickets for individual performances will command $2.25 for the Jascha Heifetz and Cleveland Orchestra presentations. The Anna Kaskas admission charge will be $1.25.

Jascha Heifetz will appear in the next Course number on Tuesday evening, February 11.

Campus Owls Signed February 21 For Collegian Washington Ball

The Campus Owls have been signed for Collegian's Washington Birthday Ball to be held in Rec Hall Friday, February 21, as a climax to the second semester subscription campaign.

Second semester subscribers only will be admitted to the dance on their subscription tickets and an eight-cent tax. All others will be charged 75 cents a couple admission including tax. Yearly subscribers received free admission to the October dance.

Semester prices are $1.50 delivered on campus or in town and $1.75 by mail. Solicitation will be carried on at registration today and tomorrow, at Student Union and at the Daily Collegian office, 313 Old Main.

The dance will highlight a busy weekend during which members of the Pennsylvania Student Government Association will be holding their convention on campus. Arrangements have already been made for the delegates to attend. Dress is informal and the dancing hours 9 to 12.

JIMMY McADAM
Leader, Campus Owls

Phi Sigma Delta Obtains Theta Nu Epsilon House

Phi Sigma Delta fraternity purchased the Theta Nu Epsilon house on January 25, Robert G. Robinson '41, president of the former fraternity has announced.

The change from the present location on Allen street to Thompson street will be made sometime in March, Robinson added.

Alpha Phi Delta fraternity is considering a change from its present location on West College avenue.

Draft Director Accepts Offer To Speak Here

The selective service director for Pennsylvania, Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, has accepted an invitation to address the second annual convention of the Pennsylvania Student Government Association here on Saturday, February 22.

Senator Frank W. Ruth has reported he will be unable to address the convention on absentee voting as invited.
